FIRST SLED, FIRST SNOW . . . 'You climb on and it goes, doesn't it? At least it tips, but too sharply. Maybe I'll try again after it snows some more.'

Breath Of Winter Felt Across State

Wintry weather moved into Nebraska Wednesday with sleet, light snow, strong winds and cold temperatures.

Up to two inches of snow fell south of Chadron along U.S. 385 in northwestern Nebraska. Between one-and-a-half and two inches was reported on the ground west of Valentine.

Elsewhere the snow was in lesser amounts, some of it only flurries, and melting soon after falling.

By late Wednesday afternoon, the State Road Department reported ice on U.S. 20 west of Kilgore and on Highway 12 between Niobrara and Crofton in northern Nebraska.

In Lincoln the light snow, which began falling just before noon, measured only .2 of an inch, amounting to .02 of an inch of moisture, the National Weather Service disclosed.

Winds of up to 60 miles an hour were reported Wednesday morning in the Hastings area and gusts up to 57 miles per hour were recorded at Alliance and Kearney.

Temperatures dropped into the 20s Wednesday in the state and rose generally only into the 30s during the day.

Somewhat warmer temperatures were expected for the state Thursday with highs in the upper 30s to low 40s in the east and low to mid 40s in the west. Fair skies were due in the west and partly sunny in the east.

Increasing cloudiness and warmer weather with highs mostly in the 40s was the outlook Friday for the state.

A gradual warming trend with no precipitation expected was forecast for Nebraska for Saturday through Monday. Highs of 40 to 45 were forecast for Saturday, warming to 50 to 55 by Monday.

Arafat Offers 'Olive Branch'

U.S., Jews Urged To Forget Israel

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Guerrilla leader Yasir Arafat carried his cause to the United Nations on Wednesday, offering the world a choice of continued violence or peace based on the creation of a Palestinian state on Israeli-occupied land.

In an unprecedented appearance before the General Assembly, the head of the Palestine Liberation Organization urged Americans and Jews everywhere to turn their backs on Israel.

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin said in Jerusalem that Arafat based his speech on principles that threaten Israel's existence but that the Israeli government must not abandon the search for peace.

Arafat said the United Nations, swelled by the addition in recent years of newly independent Third World countries, "more clearly reflects the will of the international community" than it did when Israel was created in Palestine.

Zionist ideology and Israeli leadership, he told the heavily guarded assembly, offer only "perpetual bloodshed, endless war and continuous servitude."

Shaking his finger as he ended his speech, Arafat said:

"I have come bearing an olive branch and a freedom fighter's gun. Do not let the olive branch fall from my hand."

A holster and what appeared to be the butt of a pistol protruded from Arafat's right hip pocket when he clasped his hands over his head before and after he spoke.

One of his bodyguards told a newsman it was a gun and said: "It's not only real, it's loaded."

Israel's U.N. ambassador, Yosef Tekoah, rebutted Arafat's 1¾-hour address in an afternoon speech to the 138-nation assembly. Tekoah called the PLO "murderers who have come to the General Assembly certain that it would do their bidding" and said:

"Israel will not permit the establishment of PLO authority in any part of Palestine. The PLO will not be forced on the Palestinian Arabs."

Israel's seats were empty during Arafat's speech, given in Arabic and interrupted seven times by applause. China, Cuba and the Arab delegations boycotted Tekoah's reply.

In Lebanon, men, women and children in Palestinian refugee camps huddled around wireless sets tuned to the Kuwait radio broadcast of the Arafat speech.

After the speech, many embraced, performed Palestinian and Arab dances and in many camps fired tracer bullets from submachine guns into the air.

Shortly afterward, guerrillas fired rockets into two Israeli towns near the Lebanon border, and a Palestinian communique said the attacks caused "heavy human and material losses." The only effects reported by the Israeli military command were two houses hit and a woman injured at Qiryat Shmonah, a Galilee town a mile from the frontier where Arab terrorists killed 18 Israelis last April.

The Israeli command said Wednesday's rockets came from Lebanon, but the Arab communique said the raids were carried out by "our internal forces" — a phrase the Palestinians use for underground units they claim to have inside Israel.

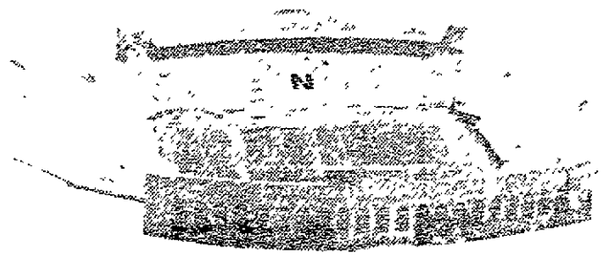

Arafat arrived at the United Nations by helicopter under unprecedented security precautions and spoke after an overnight flight from Algeria.

More than 200 demonstrators massed opposite the U.N. complex, which was sealed off from the public by police lines.

They chanted, "Murderers! Murderers!" and waved Israeli flags and placards with inscriptions such as "U.N.-Haven for Child Murderers."

A pro-Palestinian group was also demonstrating in New York City, but the two groups were separated.

NU-Oklahoma Clash Sends Price Of Tickets Sky-High

$15

$10

$7.25

By LIANE GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

Going. Going. Gone, to the gentleman in the Big Red hat clenching a fistful of dollars.

Ask University of Nebraska Ticket Manager James Pittenger how much NU-Oklahoma football tickets are selling for and he'll tell you "$7.25, same as any other game."

Sorry, folks, he doesn't happen to have any extras.

'Regular' Rate $10

For a "regular" game, several students noted, the going "scalper's" rate is $10 for a seat that costs a student $17.50 for the entire season.

Needless to say, though, not many Nebraskans consider the OU-NU tilt a "regular" game. The latest Associated Press poll has Nebraska No. 6 and Oklahoma No. 1.

Since even before the season opened, UNL students who peddle their tickets to earn a little money on the sly have been looking forward to Nov. 23. For many of these hair-snatchers, revenue from the OU game will finance their Thanksgiving vacations and probably the turkeys, too.

A week and a half before the big game, note cards, scraps of paper, even a message written on toilet tissue were tacked to bulletin boards in the Nebraska Union and student residence halls on campus.

"Need 2 tickets (male, female) for Okla. game. Over $10 forget it. Phone (such and such). Ask for Terry," one sign said.

No Sellers So Far

According to Terry, the sign, which had been up for about four days, hadn't attracted any sellers. Small wonder.

Mike and Pat, who advertise two tickets for Kansas State and Oklahoma, are asking $40 apiece for Oklahoma tickets alone.

Whoever answered the phone said they've had several calls, but no takers.

"We'll hold out until a couple days before the game," the female voice said. "If we don't get any takers before then, we'll probably come down a little.

"I think people will pay it, though. It's amazing."

She said her husband has heard of tickets going for as much as $50 each on campus.

Another party with two tickets on the auction block said she was planning to ask $25 apiece, but so far no one had called to inquire.

"I've heard you can get at least $50 for 'em," she said. "I think it's crazy myself, but if I can get $50, great!"

Those unfamiliar with the ages-old (since Nebraska's team became top-notch) practice of scalping tickets may think it disgusting and immoral, especially if they're on the losing end of the deal. But for poverty-stricken students, it's a way of life.

'Unwritten Rule'

There is kind of an "unwritten rule," however, that you can scalp anyone for as much as they'll pay, but please, please, don't scalp another poverty-stricken student.

One gal, who posted a sign offering a "female student ticket" for "$20, no less" may be shocked to see obscenities scribbled on her sign. Apparently someone didn't take too kindly to her unyielding attitude.

Doug, who's looking for five tickets altogether, said the best offer he's had so far is $30 apiece. At that rate, an afternoon at Memorial Stadium could run a healthy 150 bucks.

At the very most, Doug said, he's willing to pay $20 or $25.

One Lincoln man who's trying to buy tickets through a Journal-Star want ad, said he had a "package" offer: $140 for two tickets to Kansas State and two tickets to Oklahoma.

He said he's still thinking it over.

In UNL residence halls, the word is that Oklahoma tickets are worth at least $25 apiece.

150 Or More

A male student manning the Abel Hall switchboard said he doesn't doubt tickets will be going for $50 and more.

"Heck, just before the Oklahoma State game a man came up to me and asked if I'd sell my ticket," he related. "When I told him I'd already sold it, he pulled out a roll of bills and said, 'Here, will this influence ya?'

"There was probably $50 there. If they'll pay that to see Oklahoma State, I'm sure they'll pay it to see Oklahoma."

At Harper Hall a student assistant said one guy has a sign posted asking $140 for his ticket, but most are selling for $25 to $30.

"Most of the kids are going to the game," he said. "Those that are selling have been selling all year. It's income for a lot of students."

Coal Miners Win Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Arnold Miller of the striking United Mine Workers announced Wednesday that the union had reached tentative agreement with coal operators on a "very good contract" which he said could end the nationwide coal strike by Nov. 25.

Emerging from a day-long bargaining session, Miller said he thought he would have no trouble selling the proposed agreement to the 120,000 rank-and-file union members, who must vote their approval before the mines can be reopened.

"The benefit package will allow us to go back and eradicate some of the gross inequities that have existed for years," Miller told newsmen.

The contract, if approved, would provide wage increases of 9 per cent the first year and 3 per cent in each of the next two years.

The miners would also receive, for the first time, cost-of-living increases pegged to increases in the government's consumer price index.

The coal industry's chief negotiator, Guy Farmer, called the union negotiators "very hard bargainers — and I think they've bargained themselves a very fine contract."

The union said it won a large package of benefits, including five days' sick pay, a near doubling of industry contributions to the miners' pension fund, cost-of-living increases and its first sickness and accident protection plan.

The new contract would guarantee individual miners the right to leave an unsafe work area, provide for four company-paid safety inspections a year as well as safety training and would guarantee access to mines by union safety officials.

The union said the wage package and cost-of-living increase, based on current inflation rates, would raise the daily pay rates of a miner now earning $50 a day to $65.66 per day at the end of the proposed three-year contract.

Warner Won't Fight Marvel To Head Committee

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

A Lancaster County state senator considered a candidate for chairman of the 1975 Legislature's Appropriations Committee Wednesday ruled himself out if the present chairman wants the post again.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly said in an interview, "If Sen. Richard Marvel (the present chairman) wants to go back to the Appropriations Committee, I would not be interested (in the chairmanship)."

If Marvel does not want the post, Warner said, "I might or I might not seek the chairman's post. I don't know. I haven't made any decision."

Marvel Plans To Fight

So far, Marvel has indicated he will fight to retain control of the powerful committee. The unsuccessful Republican candidate for governor, Marvel is facing a challenge from Terry Carpenter, the apparent winner in a close legislative race in Scottsbluff.

Warner also ruled out the chairmanship of the Education Committee under any circumstances: he has held the post for the past four years. During that time, Warner sponsored the $155 million state aid to schools law which was enacted by the Legislature, but repealed by the voters on election day.

"I will not chair the Education Committee," he said. "This is as long as I intended to serve. I helped get a (state aid) bill passed. It wasn't perfect, but there is no perfect bill.

'Still Interested'

"I'm still very interested in the issue (of increasing state support for public education). Now it is time for those who say they have a better way to have an opportunity. I'm not going to put in a major state aid bill."

Warner said he has heard Sens. James Dickinson, a conservative from Millard, and Steve Fowler, a Lincoln liberal, mentioned as possible contenders for the Education Committee chairmanship.

Regarding his own future committee assignments, Warner said he is interested in other chairmanships but no one in particular at this time.

"I haven't sent out any letters seeking support," he said.

Vote Idea 'Ridiculous'

As for talk that rural senators may try to put Lincoln and Omaha's city sales taxes up to a vote of the people, Warner called it "ridiculous" and said he knows of no senator proposing it.

An Associated Press story quoted an anonymous senator as saying rural senators might try such a tactic to retaliate for Lincoln and Omaha's major role in repealing the state aid law.

"It's ridiculous to talk in terms of revenge," Warner said. He noted that he originally voted against allowing Lincoln and Omaha to levy a one-cent sales tax. But he said as a practical matter, it could not be repealed.

Warner said he thought whoever made the prediction did it with ulterior motives.

Warner called the widespread speculation about committee chairmanships for the 1975 Legislature "a healthy thing."

More 'Interested'

"More senators are interested in more positions than has been true in some time," he said. "It should settle down in 2-3 weeks. Right now a lot of senators are just exploring, including myself.

"I can remember when we had to hunt for senators to serve as committee chairmen."

Warner attributed the rebirth of interest in leadership positions in the Legislature to "some uneasiness" about the past leadership and to "a mood for some changes."

He said there is general concern among legislators about following the Legislature's rules which in the past were circumvented whenever convenient.

There are those who would like to see a daily agenda for legislative business and stronger committees to prevent the Legislature as a whole from pulling bills from committee which the committee has killed.

Ford Reprimands Brown For Anti-Jewish Remarks

Washington (UPI) — President Ford reprimanded Gen. George S. Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Wednesday for remarks he made recently in refering to Jewish influence in the United States.

Answering questions after a speech at Duke University Law School forum in Durham, N.C., Oct. 10, Brown said Jews "own, you know, the banks in this country, the newspapers." Brown also asserted that "Jewish influence in this country . . . is so strong, you wouldn't believe, now."

White House press secretary Ron Nessen told reporters, "The President considers Gen. Brown's remarks ill-advised and poorly handled. He feels very strongly."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., asked a congressional investigation of the incident, which he described as "a matter of utmost gravity," and Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., a senior member of the House Armed Services Committee, called on Brown to repudiate his remarks.

But a Pentagon spokesman said Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger "continues to have confidence" in Brown. Schlesinger was born a Jew and later converted to Lutheranism.

And Brown himself regards the remarks as "unfortunate and regretable," Pentagon spokesman William Beecher told reporters. He said "to the best of our knowledge," Brown's remarks "did not express his opinions."

In a statement issued at the Pentagon later Wednesday, Brown called his remarks "unfounded . . . unfortunate, and ill considered — and certainly do not represent my convictions."

Socialist Thunders Against Oligarchies

©The New York Times

Argos, Greece — "Greece is not a poor country," thundered Andreas Papandreou, wagging his finger in the bright fall sunshine. "But the people are poor because the foreign and local oligarchies have taken advantages of them."

The crowd gathered in the market place of this farming town 75 miles southwest of Athens cheered loudly. When the speech was over, an elderly orange grower said: "The things Andreas is announcing, we've been dreaming about. We want a change. We're farmers, and we don't have enough money to buy a pair of shoes."

Greece's first parliamentary elections in more than 10 years are to take place Sunday, and analysts now give Papandreou a fighting chance to finish second, behind Premier Constantine Caramanlis. If he succeeds, the results could have important implications for this country and the entire Western alliance.

As the founder of the Pan-Hellenic Socialist Movement, Papandreou, 55, is making the first major attempt to espouse socialism in Greek history.

Moreover, Papandreou, who has taught at several leading American universities, is a vigorous critic of the United States and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. With him as the leading opposition figure, Caramanlis would find it much more difficult to return Greek troops to NATO, or to preserve American military bases on Greek soil.

In 1967, when he was running for parliament, Papandreou led a series of street demonstrations that helped provoke a military coup only weeks before the election date. Now he says that he has learned from his mistakes and will not give the armed forces an excuse to intervene again.

In his speech Tuesday, for instance, he promised an array of social programs ranging from free medical care to bigger pensions. He vowed to "socialize" the export-import sector to keep down prices, and said he would organize new cooperatives to market farm products.

When he gets excited, he charges that his opponents "have set a trap" to restore the monarchy, that they are working in the "background" to partition Cyprus and that the Pentagon and the Central Intelligence Agency rule Greece.

Greeks To Vote On Monarchy

Athens (AP) — A plebescite to determine the fate of the Greek monarchy will be held Dec. 8, Premier Constantine Caramanlis announced Wednesday night. In a campaign speech broadcast over nationwide radio and television, Caramanlis said he was announcing the date to silence his critics.

3 Doctors Named To Examine Nixon

Washington (UPI) — U.S District Judge John J. Sirica Wednesday named three physicians to examine Richard M. Nixon and report by Nov. 29 on whether he is physically able to testify at the Watergate cover-up trial.

Sirica said the doctors, whom he described as "three of the outstanding men in the country," had been ordered to conduct whatever examinations are necessary including Nixon's medical records and a physical examination of Nixon himself.

Chairman of the panel is Dr. Charles Anthony Hufnagle, a cardiovascular surgeon who is chief of surgery at Georgetown University Hospital in Washington. Others are Dr. Richard Starr Ross, a cardiologist and director of the adult cardiac clinic at Johns Hopkins University Hospital in Baltimore, Md., and Dr. John Spittell Jr., a cardiologist and internist at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

At the same time, Nixon's lawyers submitted an affidavit to the court reporting on Nixon's current physical condition.

They said his doctors report Nixon "has been having labile hypertension" and that he has been advised to restrict his activities.

"These episodes respond to restricted rest," Nixon attorney Herbert J. Miller, Jr., reported to Sirica.

In Long Beach, Calif., Nixon's personal physician said he would "welcome" an examination of Nixon by a team of doctors appointed by Sirica.

Dr. John Lungren said the former president was continuing to show sharp rises in blood pressure under minor stress, although he was continuing his steady recovery.

Outlook Said Grim

Los Angeles (AP) — Kurt Hagrup, president of Scandinavian Airlines System, Inc. (SAS) says the outlook for international airlines is grim.

Makarios Says He'll Go Back As President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Archbishop Makarios said Wednesday he will return to Cyprus to resume his role as president in the next few weeks.

He told reporters following a 45-minute meeting with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger that "it is my intention" to return to Cyprus "in the next few weeks."

Makarios was forced into exile last summer by a coup led by Greek army officers. He has been kept from the island in the wake of the Turkish invasion of Cyprus.

When asked what role he would play in Cyprus, the archbishop answered "I will go back as president."

West Bank Shows Support Of Arafat

Nablus, Israeli-Occupied Jordan — The shopkeepers of this occupied Arab town staged a general strike and hundreds of students demonstrated in the main square Wednesday morning in a defiant display of support for Yasir Arafat and the Palestinian Liberation Organization.

Club-wielding Israeli police and paratroopers charged the jeering, whistling crowds of schoolchildren and scattered them into narrow side streets. No serious injuries were reported.

By midday most of the shops and businesses that had remained shuttered to mark Arafat's appearance before the U.N. General Assembly had reopened after a stern warning from the Israeli military governor of the town.

Amnesty Decreed For 100 In Jordan

Beirut — King Hussein of Jordan decreed an amnesty Wednesday for approximately 100 political prisoners, most of whom are Palestinian guerrillas, in an apparent gesture of support for Yasir Arafat. Radio Amman said the release would begin Thursday.

Grain-Aid Sources Not Yet Determined

©The New York Times

Rome — Most of the world's major grain producers and principal importing countries told the chief of the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization Wednesday that they could not yet determine where enough grain might be found to avert famine in the five most seriously threatened countries.

But Canadian Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan said that at least one million tons of the 7 to 11 million tons needed could be supplied by his country if financing were available.

The group agreed to meet again here with A. H. Boerma, director-general of the FAO, Nov. 29, about two weeks after the close of the World Food Conference.

Boerma received the word from the major grain-producers at a luncheon he had called to hear their response to his request to try to identify possible sources of grain for food aid. The Soviet Union, both a major producer and frequently a heavy importer, was represented at an earlier meeting last week but absent Wednesday.

Argentina, Canada, China, India, Japan and the United States were represented as well as delegates from the International Wheat Council, the World Bank and the United Nations world food program.

Several countries, including the U.S., were said to have questioned the accuracy and the basis of the FAO's 7 to 11 million-ton estimate of the food needs of the five most seriously threatened countries — Bangladesh, India, Pakistan, Sri Lanka and Tanzania. The FAO has also estimated an additional need of about a million tons for 15 to 20 other countries.

Rocky Hotly Disagrees Book Like 'Dirty Tricks'

Washington (UPI) — Nelson A. Rockefeller told senators Wednesday he had to admit in humiliation and embarrassment that he erred in denying he had a hand in the publication of a book critical of a political opponent.

But, pounding the table, he heatedly disputed a senator's suggestion that his part in the publication of the book about Arthur J. Goldberg, his 1970 New York gubernatorial opponent, was comparable to the "dirty tricks of the Nixon era."

At reopened and nationally televised Senate Rules Committee hearings into his nomination to become vice president, Rockefeller defended the $2.5 million in gifts and loans he had given political associates during 15 years as New York governor.

Apples And Generosity

He said his multimillion-dollar generosity was "the most natural thing in the world" and compared it to someone sharing "a basketful of apples" with his hungry friends who had no apples.

But under pressure of questions, Rockefeller promised he would make no big cash gifts to federal employes — except in "humanitarian" areas such as medical emergencies — if he is confirmed.

Nonetheless, he said there was nothing wrong with the practices, he didn't want to give up the generous habits of a lifetime and a man has a right to do anything he wants with his money after he pays his taxes.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., compared Rockefeller's role in backing the book on Goldberg to the Watergate scandals. He said Rockefeller's "dirty tricks" and his "cover-up" were "at least reminiscent of the things we've gone through in the last two years."

Rocky Objects

"Mr. Chairman — I have to bitterly object to that," broke in Rockefeller to Committee Chairman Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev.

But Rockefeller acknowledged that he had sent the book's backers to his brother, Laurance, who then put up $60,000 to have it published by a corporation set up only for that purpose.

When word of this came out, Rockefeller issued a statement denying any culpability. He withdrew that denial at Wednesday's hearing, saying it had been based on wrong recollections.

"I have done a great injustice to my brother who I love very deeply," he said. "I'm embarrassed by it and I'm humiliated as to what I said about my brother."

Chairmen Unconvinced

Cannon told Rockefeller he was still unconvinced.

"However the cosmetics are applied here — and they have been artfully — the blemish still shows," Cannon said.

But Byrd said he would vote "with some reservations" to confirm Rockefeller and he predicted "as of now" that the nominee would be confirmed. Cannon reserved judgment.

Congressional leaders have promised to try to complete action on the nomination before this Congress expires at the end of the year. The televised hearings will resume Thursday on CBS-TV with Rockefeller again on the stand.

Rockefeller said he was not seeking to buy anybody's loyalty with the gifts and forgiven loans he passed out to associates over the years.

He denied there was any link between his gift of $625,000 to Dr. William Ronan and his appointment of Ronan to the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey.

He said Ronan "was the only one who had the guts, the balls, you'll pardon the word" to fight for transportation policies that help the mass public. The remark brought a roar of laughter.

"You've been very colorful," replied Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J.

"I apologize for my language, Mr. Chairman," said Rockefeller.

Report Disputed

During the hearing Rockefeller also:

—Disputed a report by the Internal Revenue Service and Congress' Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation which estimated his net worth at about $71 million — some $9 million more than Rockefeller's estimate. He said the IRS overvalued his real estate in Latin America, his art collection and his likely income from trusts established by his father.

—Disclosed he had spent $15.5 million of his own and his family money in running for the governorship and in three times seeking the Republican presidential nomination.

—Revealed he had given $1 million to other Republicans over the years — including gifts to seven senators and 10 House members who will vote on his nomination.

Rockefeller conceded his wealth raised legitimate questions whether it is "too dangerous to have a person of great personal wealth in the line of succession to the power of the presidency."

But he said he was not "the kind of man" who would use his wealth improperly.

Winter Brings On Demolition Derby

Light snow in Muskegon, Mich., formed an icy trap for unwary drivers Wednesday. At least 15 cars were involved in this pileup near an overpass, snarling traffic. Several drivers were slightly injured. In Iowa, Richard Clarence Tiggeman, 18, of Klemme, was killed when he lost control of his car which collided with a truck on snow-slickened U.S. 18 east of Sanborn. The snowstorm left three inches of snow in a band from Des Moines to Davenport. Waterloo and Sioux City had more than one inch.

LaRue Links Mitchell To Secret Payments

©The New York Times

Washington — The jury at the Watergate cover-up trial heard lengthy, detailed and often reluctant testimony Wednesday linking former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell with the secret payments of thousands of dollars to the original seven Watergate break-in defendants.

Those payments, according to earlier testimony at the trial, were designed to keep the seven men from telling the truth about Watergate.

The testimony about Mitchell came from Fred C. LaRue, a former White House and Nixon re-election campaign official who is waiting to be sentenced for his own admitted role in the Watergate cover-up.

LaRue described himself in his first few moments on the stand as a "close friend" of Mitchell, and gave his testimony with obvious discomfort.

He hesitated on many questions. He replied that he did not "recall" on other questions. And at one point — when he was being pressed by the prosecution for perhaps the most damaging part of his testimony — he initially testified in such a way that Judge John J. Sirica allowed the prosecution to cross-examine him, in effect turning him into a hostile witness.

LaRue, also gave testimony that, if believed by the jury, seriously damaged a second defendant, Robert C. Mardian, a former assistant attorney general. Much of his testimony about Mardian appeared to be new.

LaRue implicated two other defendants as well, but to a much lesser degree — H. R. Haldeman, the former White House chief of staff, and Kenneth Wells Parkinson, a lawyer for the Nixon re-election committee.

LaRue implicated two other defendants as well, but to a much lesser degree — H. R. Haldeman, the former White House chief of staff, and Kenneth Wells Parkinson, a lawyer for the Nixon re-election committee.

Ford Reprimands Brown For Anti-Jewish Remarks

Washington (UPI) — President Ford reprimanded Gen. George S. Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Wednesday for remarks he made recently in refering to Jewish influence in the United States.

Answering questions after a speech at Duke University Law School forum in Durham, N.C., Oct. 10, Brown said Jews "own, you know, the banks in this country, the newspapers." Brown also asserted that "Jewish influence in this country . . . is so strong, you wouldn't believe, now."

White House press secretary Ron Nessen told reporters, "The President considers Gen. Brown's remarks ill-advised and poorly handled. He feels very strongly."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., asked a congressional investigation of the incident, which he described as "a matter of utmost gravity," and Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., a senior member of the House Armed Services Committee, called on Brown to repudiate his remarks.

But a Pentagon spokesman said Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger "continues to have confidence" in Brown. Schlesinger was born a Jew and later converted to Lutheranism.

And Brown himself regards the remarks as "unfortunate and regretable," Pentagon spokesman William Beecher told reporters. He said "to the best of our knowledge," Brown's remarks "did not express his opinions."

In a statement issued at the Pentagon later Wednesday, Brown called his remarks "unfounded . . . unfortunate, and ill considered — and certainly do not represent my convictions."

West Bank Shows Support Of Arafat

©The New York Times

Nablus, Israeli-Occupied Jordan — The shopkeepers of this occupied Arab town staged a general strike and hundreds of students demonstrated in the main square Wednesday morning in a defiant display of support for Yasir Arafat and the Palestinian Liberation Organization.

Club-wielding Israeli police and paratroopers charged the jeering, whistling crowds of schoolchildren and scattered them into narrow side streets. No serious injuries were reported.

By midday most of the shops and businesses that had remained shuttered to mark Arafat's appearance before the U.N. General Assembly had reopened after a stern warning from the Israeli military governor of the town.

Amnesty Decreed For 100 In Jordan

Beirut — King Hussein of Jordan decreed an amnesty Wednesday for approximately 100 political prisoners, most of whom are Palestinian guerrillas, in an apparent gesture of support for Yasir Arafat. Radio Amman said the release would begin Thursday.

Grain-Aid Sources Not Yet Determined

©The New York Times

Rome — Most of the world's major grain producers and principal importing countries told the chief of the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization Wednesday that they could not yet determine where enough grain might be found to avert famine in the five most seriously threatened countries.

But Canadian Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan said that at least one million tons of the 7 to 11 million tons needed could be supplied by his country if financing were available.

The group agreed to meet again here with A. H. Boerma, director-general of the FAO, Nov. 29, about two weeks after the close of the World Food Conference.

Boerma received the word from the major grain producers at a luncheon he had called to hear their response to his request to try to identify possible sources of grain for food aid. The Soviet Union, both a major producer and frequently a heavy importer, was represented at an earlier meeting last week but absent Wednesday.

Argentina, Canada, China, India, Japan and the United States were represented as well as delegates from the International Wheat Council, the World Bank and the United Nations world food program.

Several countries, including the U.S., were said to have questioned the accuracy and the basis of the FAO's 7 to 11 million-ton estimate of the food needs of the five most seriously threatened countries — Bangladesh, India, Pakistan, Sri Lanka and Tanzania. The FAO has also estimated an additional need of about a million tons for 15 to 20 other countries.

Socialist Thunders Against Oligarchies

©The New York Times

Argos, Greece — "Greece is not a poor country," thundered Andreas Papandreou, wagging his finger in the bright fall sunshine. "But the people are poor because the foreign and local oligarchies have taken advantages of them."

The crowd gathered in the market place of this farming town 75 miles southwest of Athens cheered loudly. When the speech was over, an elderly orange grower said: "The things Andreas is announcing, we've been dreaming about. We want a change. We're farmers, and we don't have enough money to buy a pair of shoes."

Greece's first parliamentary elections in more than 10 years are to take place Sunday, and analysts now give Papandreou a fighting chance to finish second, behind Premier Constantine Caramanlis. If he succeeds, the results could have important implications for this country and the entire Western alliance.

As the founder of the Pan-Hellenic Socialist Movement, Papandreou, 55, is making the first major attempt to espouse socialism in Greek history.

Moreover, Papandreou, who has taught at several leading American universities, is a vigorous critic of the United States and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. With him as the leading opposition figure, Caramanlis would find it much more difficult to return Greek troops to NATO, or to preserve American military bases on Greek soil.

In 1967, when he was running for parliament, Papandreou led a series of street demonstrations that helped provoke a military coup only weeks before the election date. Now he says that he has learned from his mistakes and will not give the armed forces an excuse to intervene again.

In his speech Tuesday, for instance, he promised an array of social programs ranging from free medical care to bigger pensions. He vowed to "socialize" the export-import sector to keep down prices, and said he would organize new cooperatives to market farm products.

When he gets excited, he charges that his opponents "have set a trap" to restore the monarchy, that they are working in the "background" to partition Cyprus and that the Pentagon and the Central Intelligence Agency rule Greece.

Greeks To Vote On Monarchy

Athens (AP) — A plebescite to determine the fate of the Greek monarchy will be held Dec. 8, Premier Constantine Caramanlis announced Wednesday night. In a campaign speech broadcast over nationwide radio and television, Caramanlis said he was announcing the date to silence his critics.

Makarios Says He'll Go Back As President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Archbishop Makarios said Wednesday he will return to Cyprus to resume his role as president in the next few weeks.

He told reporters following a 45-minute meeting with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger that "it is my intention" to return to Cyprus "in the next few weeks."

Makarios was forced into exile last summer by a coup led by Greek army officers. He has been kept from the island in the wake of the Turkish invasion of Cyprus.

When asked what role he would play in Cyprus, the archbishop answered "I will go back as president."

Tokyo (AP) — Japan and China have signed a mutual shipping treaty.

3 Doctors Named To Examine Nixon

Washington (UPI) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica Wednesday named three physicians to examine Richard M. Nixon and report by Nov. 29 on whether he is physically able to testify at the Watergate cover-up trial.

Sirica said the doctors, whom he described as "three of the outstanding men in the country," had been ordered to conduct whatever examinations are necessary including Nixon's medical records and a physical examination of Nixon himself.

Chairman of the panel is Dr. Charles Anthony Hufnagle, a cardiovascular surgeon who is chief of surgery at Georgetown University Hospital in Washington. Others are Dr. Richard Starr Ross, a cardiologist and director of the adult cardiac clinic at Johns Hopkins University Hospital in Baltimore, Md., and Dr. John Spittell Jr., a cardiologist and internist at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

At the same time, Nixon's lawyers submitted an affidavit to the court reporting on Nixon's current physical condition.

They said his doctors report Nixon "has been having labile hypertension" and that he has been advised to restrict his activities.

"These episodes respond to restricted rest," Nixon attorney Herbert J. Miller, Jr., reported to Sirica.

In Long Beach, Calif., Nixon's personal physician said he would "welcome" an examination of Nixon by a team of doctors appointed by Sirica.

Dr. John Lungren said the former president was continuing to show sharp rises in blood pressure under minor stress, although he was continuing his steady recovery.

28 Officers In On My Lai Cover-up

. . . Part Of Report Released

Washington (UPI) — Army Secretary Howard H. Callaway Wednesday released part of the long-secret Peers Report which concluded that at least 28 officers — two of them chaplains — contributed to the cover-up of the My Lai massacre.

The report, prepared by now-retired Army Lt. Gen. William R. Peers, said the officers by either commission or omission helped cover up the slaughter of Vietnamese civilians in March 1968.

Peers investigated the cover-up after published reports brought the massacre to light, and announced on completion of his report in March 1970 that he had found "serious deficiencies in the actions" of 14 officers from captain on up.

Callaway, at a news conference, released two of the four volumes prepared by Peers — one of which set the number of officers involved at 28, including Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, commander of the Americal Division whose units were involved in the air and ground sweep through My Lai.

Also named were Lt. Col. Francis R. Lewis and Capt. Carl E. Creswell, chaplains who served in the division.

Callaway, asked by reporters if he thought an incident such as My Lai might recur, said after a moment's thought: "I don't guess anything is going to prevent it. I do feel though that it isn't going to happen again."

He said the training of today's GIs takes My Lai into account and the men are more carefully schooled in their responsibility toward civilians.

Callaway said the Peers text had been withheld thus far to protect the rights of the accused. Army sources, however, said former President Richard M. Nixon's administration had insisted on suppressing the report and that after President Ford took office the wheels immediately began turning to make the report public.

It had been reported that the Peers material had been withheld for fear it might prejudice the case of former Lt. William L. Calley Jr., released Saturday after serving three years and four months on conviction of killing at least 22 civilians at Vietnam.

All 14 officers originally named by Peers were charged with crimes in connection with the massacre. Only Col. Oran K. Henderson, commander of the unit that made the My Lai sweep, was tried on cover-up charges and he was acquitted in December 1971 after a four-month court-martial.

Callaway released Volume 1, the conclusions and recommendations, and Volume 3, the documentary evidence amassed by the inquiry — but withheld Volumes 2 and 4, the voluminous text of the testimony and investigative reports.

He said the two sections were being withheld because they contained raw comments.

The inch-thick Volume 1 said that Koster — later demoted to one-star general through administrative action — had information from three different sources that civilians had been killed but failed to report this to higher authorities.

The Peers report said Lt. Col. Frank A. Barker, field commander of the My Lai operation who was killed in combat some days later, "planned, ordered and actively directed the execution of an unlawful operation." It charged Maj Charles C. Calhoun, Capt. Eugene M. Kotouc and Capt. Ernest L. Medina with joining in the planning.

Report's Release Angers Kotouc

Ft. Riley, Kan. (AP) — At first Staff Sgt. Eugene Kotouc said he was outraged but later, when he had learned more about it, he was still concerned Wednesday at the public release of the Peers Commission report on the My Lai massacre and its coverup.

"Why in the hell don't they leave it dead now," was the first reaction of the 40-year-old sergeant from Humboldt, Neb., who once was a major and was acquitted when he himself was tried by a military court on charges of maiming and assault at My Lai.

Tuition Controversy Resolved

The record supports the Lincoln Board of Education's claim that it has been consistent, overall, in judging applications for waiver of non-resident tuition.

The board's problem was that it was inconsistent in two recent celebrated cases. It had denied Patrick Cooke, of New York City, free school privileges, but subsequently the board waived the nonresident tuition requirement for Susanne Rosemann, of Cologne, West Germany, who had arranged to live with a Lincoln family while attending classes second semester at Southeast High School.

Neither the Lincoln media nor the public drew the initial comparison between the Cooke and Rosemann decisions; a member of the board of education took care of that, so the board really can't complain about being picked on. But the inconsistent decisions in the two tuition cases did cry out for explanation.

This week the Lincoln Board of Education did what it should have done in the first place. It maintained consistency with the Cooke case by rescinding its October decision to waive the tuition requirement for Miss Rosemann.

This reversal will not do much either for Cooke, who has since gone back to the Bronx, or for Miss Rosemann, whose education will have to be paid for if she comes to Lincoln, but it does square the board with the tuition statutes and the requirements of fairness.

A larger problem now exists however. It seems that granting tuition waivers for American Field Service (AFS) foreign exchange students (Miss Rosemann was not in this category, but was likened to it) is technically in violation of existing law. The board may want to use its influence to press for changes in the law which would be in keeping with the exchange student concept.

And as for any adverse publicity the board may have received over the Cooke-Rosemann controversy, members shouldn't be thin-skinned about it. The Lincoln Board of Education takes its work seriously and usually makes the right decisions. But it can't expect the public or the press to stand silent when a serious mistake is made.

The Council's Indecision

The capacity of the Lincoln City Council to make a decision has come under questioning by Councilman John Robinson, who laments the weeks it took the council to pass new animal control legislation.

"I'm embarassed to tell people about the time we spent on dogs and cats," Robinson said the other day, and he indicated he feels the same way about the council's continued deliberation and inaction on the question of hiring an administrative assistant, such as Omaha's council has, or whether outside professional services should be contracted for.

For almost a year now the council has discussed the hiring of an administrative assistant. It has received a $10,000 grant to hire an assistant and has budgeted an additional $6,000 for salary. Several tentative decisions have been made in the last few months to beef up the council staff with an assistant.

The idea that legislative bodies should be informed and organized, as well as the executive branch, is a good one. The Star has long taken the position that the Nebraska Legislature and the Lincoln Council could both benefit from strong supporting staffs and that it would be a benefit to the taxpayer, too. The Legislature has taken decisive action in that direction in recent years.

But the Lincoln council Tuesday couldn't take action one way or the other on the administrative assistant issue. A 3-3 vote was produced on a motion to abandon the idea and apparently, absent Councilman Dick Baker now holds the key to deciding the issue.

In dragging out the deliberations and arguing about how much to pay, the desired qualifications, what the assistant would do and whether or not it would be better to contract for outside help, the council apparently is trying to put up a convincing argument that it doesn't need any help or better information in arriving at its decisions. But it is creating just the opposite impression.

KEVIN P. PHILLIPS

The Chips Are On The Line

STRAUSS

MONDALE

HUMPHREY

WASHINGTON — Hubert Humphrey, Robert Strauss and Walter Mondale are only being realistic in admitting that people now look to Congress for economic action, and that the Democrats will be in hot water if they fail to meet 1975-76 challenges and expectations.

Admittedly, others argue that Congress will be no more to blame in 1976 than it was in 1932 when voters clobbered Republican Herbert Hoover, absolving the Democrats who narrowly controlled the House of Representatives through 1931-32.

But that analogy doesn't hold up, for reasons that ought to suggest why Congress is genuinely culpable. First of all, whereas the Democratic House taking office midway through Hoover's term ended 12 years of GOP control, the circa 1974 Democrats have been running Capitol Hill since Milton Berle was a fresh face and the Dodgers were still in Brooklyn. Most of the time, they have had whopping majorities, and now that edge is two-to-one. If the United States is in an economic pickle, the Democratic Congress has long been co-tender of the brine vat.

Let's be frank: Another essential factor in the 1975-76 equation is the weakness of the presidency and the renascent power of the Congress — a shift clear enough to anyone who watched the impeachment hearings and other events of the last year. Unlike Hoover, Nixon and others, Gerald Ford is not a chief executive elected by a popular landslide. On the contrary, he is the crippled appointee of the first president to resign — and he himself is the first president to take office via 25th Amendment approval by Congress.

So Capitol Hill arguments that only the executive branch, not Congress, has the responsibility for the economy are quite unfair. At best, the two branches will share the blame or credit. At worst, Congress should take most of the heat.

Nor will this be unjust. When the Democrats came to power in the Nineteen-Thirties, they were uncertain of their doctrine — and therefore flexible — because they had been out of power for so long. They were not part of the economics that failed in 1929. But the reason for their current indecision is very different: It is not the confusion of untried novices but of tired failures. After all, especially over the last decade, Congress's spending and borrowing policies have done a lot to get us into our present economic fix.

Last, the new Congress is in good measure a labor Congress, with many of its Democrats owing a substantial election debt to the AFL-CIO. Here is another link to current economic woe — the extent to which federal law has allowed labor to win post-1966 wage increases that have greatly outrun productivity, thereby providing high-octane fuel for the burning fires of inflation.

In a shortly to be published book entitled "How to Save Free Enterprise," Dr. Arthur Dahlberg, director of Columbia University's Visual Economics Laboratory, makes some pivotal comparisons between wage-productivity relationships in the 1920's and over the last decade. From 1920 to 1929, output per man-hour increased almost 50% while wages plus fringe benefits (in manufacturing industries) went up a mere 6%. Workers were grossly shortchanged, and lacked the purchasing power to support the boom.

But this situation changed in the next three decades as Congress voted vast powers, privileges and immunities to the unions. And when the Vietnam war created a tight labor market in 1965, labor began using its new legal muscle to secure massive wage and fringe-benefit increases. According to Dr. Dahlberg's data, output per man-hour in manufacturing rose only 20% between 1965 and 1974 while wages and fringe benefits increased nearly 75%. Business, in turn, was obliged to raise prices to cover the greater cost of goods sold.

Over the last decade, organized labor and the Democratic Congress have worked in close harness. And in January, 1974, AFL-CIO chief George Meany will be within a few votes of the "veto-proof" Democratic Congress he blueprinted last spring. Thus, if the American economy is in sad shape in 1976, and the people turn on Congress, they may finally be getting down to brass tacks.

Ford's Pork-Barrel Problems

WASHINGTON — President Ford's candor as he wades into the incredibly difficult task of cutting government spending is admirable.

Whacking at the public works pork barrel, the President is discovering just how hard it is to squeeze even modest savings out of the complex of congressional log-rolling that promises navigation for Goose Creek in Oklahoma in return for a waterway opening Grand Rapids to the world's commerce. He called for a one-year deferral of public works projects saving $82 million in the current fiscal year.

This was before the election and the screams of pain and rage that went up could be heard from shining sea to shining sea. Mind you, these are deferrals and they can be revoked by action by either house of Congress.

But it is a serious challenge to those whom the President denounced in the campaign as the big spenders. If they will not stand still for this modest cheese-paring, the hope for any agreement between the new top-heavy Democratic Congress and the Republican President is slight. In his claim to bite the bullet, Ford might better have canceled outright 20 boondoggles approved by Congress.

The cost in the current fiscal year is $166 million. But as Elvis J. Stahr, president of the National Audubon Society, a leader in conservation, pointed out, this is only a down-payment. The estimated cost of completing these projects is more than $4.9 billion and, if inflation continues at a rate of 10%, it may in five years be $7 billion.

Several of the Ford deferrals are on the list of 20 submitted to the President by the Audubon Society as candidates for economy, among them the Central Arizona project estimated to cost more than $1 billion to complete. The Army Corps of Engineers, those indefatigable diggers that no president has been able to checkmate, and Interior's Bureau of Reclamation account for most of the big spending.

As Stahr pointed out in a letter to the President, too many irrigation projects destroy arable land, waste water and, like too many flood-control projects, artificially stimulate development in the wrong places bringing new pressure for more spending for more flood control.

He cited examples of spending that is not only a waste of money but is demonstrably harmful both ecologically and to farming interests.

Calling for sacrifice and economy, as he did in his Kansas City speech, the President is beginning to get the brickbats from industries hurting in the recession.

Lynn A. Townsend, chairman of the Chrysler Corporation, said at a press conference that since the President called for saving and belt-tightening, the sales of autos, the principal item in most household budgets, had dropped sharply. Chrysler lost $8 million in the third quarter.

This conveniently ignores the fact that the motor manufacturers raised car prices from 12 to 18% with carrying charges proportionately increased. In the face of the swift upward rise in the price of food, clothing, all the basic items in a family budget, that increase was certainly a brake on potential car-buyers.

Part of the initiation of a President newly in office is to learn that he must accept the blame for everything, including the weather. This is particularly rough for Ford, since a thousand and one troubles in a time of perennial crisis end up in the oval office.

If it is a test for the President, it is also a test for the Congress. And that first small step, halting the flow of federal spending to certain of the Goose Creeks of America, should be a signal for cooperation.

Securing Rate Increases

Neligh, Neb.

With reference to a recent news item on telephone economics by Roger Lewis, pertaining to an application presented to the Public Service Commission by Northwestern Bell requesting they consider and grant their request for an intra-state rate increase — no sweat for the telephone company which has a virtual monopoly, and I suspect the rate increase will be granted with as much ease as it was to present the application, due mainly to the fact that the commission is and remains more responsive to big business than it is to the public it is elected to protect and serve.

In this respect, not much is known by the general public about this very important subdivision of our government, and I doubt that one person in 15 knows the name of the commission member elected to serve his district. This is one of the reasons why a constitutional change is in order to make members of the commission appointive instead of elective.

There is virtually no competition in the telephone business, and the fact that commission-granted rate increases are easily attained is circumspect while at the same time, rail companies who are faced with fierce competition encounter months and years of delay to obtain the same results, in the meantime contributing to loss of branch lines and curtailment of services.

With its ears attuned to the truck lobby, does the commission consider rail losses caused by outside sources such as train-auto wrecks, train-truck collissions running into losses by the millions as a factor in granting rate increases to the rails who for years have sustained these losses without recourse?

I have not had a negotiated increase in my wages since December, 1970, and this bespeaks of many other people, as well. So let the commission take this fact into consideration before granting a rate increase. Meanwhile, all of us should deluge the commission with letters of protest, being sure to send a copy to our legislators.

In an era filled with anti-social beliefs, we are deprived both psychologically and physiologically of a normal relationship with our compatriots in society. Simple subject matters are compiling to form complex theories. Scientific facts are erasing religions and librarians are laboriously stocking textbooks in the archives of mythology. Truths are being discovered faster than the human mind can accept them.

Thus, we have half of the people living in religious fantasies and the other half contemplating their ape-like ancestors, determining the curvatures of space or exploring the cultural realities in our society. In order to advance our social continuum, the population as a unit will be required to step out of their medieval concepts of life and accept the validities of science or we will all be drawn into the hands of imbecility.

Favors Mercy Killing

Lincoln, Neb.

Dogs, cats and dumb animals in general are put to sleep — a type of mercy killing — in suffering from a terminal disease or injury. Why must a human being be made to suffer if afflicted with a terminal injury or disease?

There are many sick people in hospitals now, young and old, who are going to die and do not want to have their lives prolonged for maybe a few days, a week or even a month. These people do not want to burden their relatives with big medical bills. After all, the families have enough problems, emotionally, without having to listen to a doctor tell them their son, daughter, etc. is nearing death every day. The only thing a family gets out of this are big bills.

Mercy killing is not a bad thing, at all. The men and women in jail on mercy-killing charges should be released. People should not hate these do-gooders because the people who put terminal patients out of their misery are performing an act of mercy.

Since animals in general are put out of their misery, mercifully, why must a human being suffer?

Competition In Bidding

Lincoln, Neb.

I want to commend The Star and its reporters for daring to look into and print an article that could bring down the wrath and vindictiveness of the power structure. For the 22 years I have been in Lincoln, I have heard these same allegations that they have investigated. One time a contractor told me that a legal steal was to require the type of gravel that only the local power structure had control of.

I wonder who makes the Lancaster County rules and regulations that all gravel had to be unloaded from railroad cars within the county? Who makes the rules that labor and trucks used in unloading gravel be from Lancaster County? Who has the job of overseeing this and being accountable for it? As a citizen, it is my duty to be suspicious and try to ward off any possibility of collusion or fraud in dealing with my tax dollar.

I know that some businesses get together and divide up the bids; make phony bids contrary to the spirit of competitive bidding. When just two operators are bidding so closely, it is very suspicious. When costs are higher here under such an advantage than elsewhere, it is very suspicious. Who is responsible for the employes who unduly harass interloping contractors? Is there a law against getting together and violating the spirit of competitive bidding? Has it ever been enforced? What responsibility does the county attorney's office have to oversee this?

Mr. Curtis, senator, was speaking in his usual slick way. He said the Republican candidates won because they dealt with the issues forthrightly. Presumably, he means anti-union, anti-consumer, anti-inflation and anti-big-business expressions.

Somehow he made it bad for Democrats to receive money from laboring men and good for Republicans to receive it from businessmen. There was a double standard where Paul Douglas had only to provide good government for the money he received and the Democrats had only to provide bad government for the money they received. The most obvious and disgusting political favor I ever saw given to a union was when Richard Nixon freed Jimmy Hoffa in exchange for the support of the mighty Teamsters Union. This is in contrast to the Democrats who put Mr. Hoffa in jail in the first place.

Gore Vidal wrote a book in which he used the near names of his least favorite Supreme Court Justices in lieu of obscene and intimate parts. Its effect can cause you to blush when such honorable men are presented in that context and seems just as dirty as if he had used the cruder setting.

This is the method of Mr. Curtis. It is an artistry based on Hitler's axiom that if you tell people a big enough lie, they will believe it.

Tuition Controversy Resolved

The record supports the Lincoln Board of Education's claim that it has been consistent, overall, in judging applications for waiver of non-resident tuition.

The board's problem was that it was inconsistent in two recent celebrated cases. It had denied Patrick Cooke, of New York City, free school privileges, but subsequently the board waived the nonresident tuition requirement for Susanne Rosemann, of Cologne, West Germany, who had arranged to live with a Lincoln family while attending classes second semester at Southeast High School.

Neither the Lincoln media nor the public drew the initial comparison between the Cooke and Rosemann decisions; a member of the board of education took care of that, so the board really can't complain about being picked on. But the inconsistent decisions in the two tuition cases did cry out for explanation.

This week the Lincoln Board of Education did what it should have done in the first place. It maintained consistency with the Cooke case by rescinding its October decision to waive the tuition requirement for Miss Rosemann.

This reversal will not do much either for Cooke, who has since gone back to the Bronx, or for Miss Rosemann, whose education will have to be paid for if she comes to Lincoln, but it does square the board with the tuition statutes and the requirements of fairness.

A larger problem now exists however. It seems that granting tuition waivers for American Field Service (AFS) foreign exchange students (Miss Rosemann was not in this category, but was likened to it) is technically in violation of existing law. The board may want to use its influence to press for changes in the law which would be in keeping with the exchange student concept.

And as for any adverse publicity the board may have received over the Cooke-Rosemann controversy, members shouldn't be thin-skinned about it. The Lincoln Board of Education takes its work seriously and usually makes the right decisions. But it can't expect the public or the press to stand silent when a serious mistake is made.

The Council's Indecision

The capacity of the Lincoln City Council to make a decision has come under questioning by Councilman John Robinson, who laments the weeks it took the council to pass new animal control legislation.

"I'm embarassed to tell people about the time we spent on dogs and cats," Robinson said the other day, and he indicated he feels the same way about the council's continued deliberation and inaction on the question of hiring an administrative assistant, such as Omaha's council has, or whether outside professional services should be contracted for.

For almost a year now the council has discussed the hiring of an administrative assistant. It has received a $10,000 grant to hire an assistant and has budgeted an additional $6,000 for salary. Several tentative decisions have been made in the last few months to beef up the council staff with an assistant.

The idea that legislative bodies should be informed and organized, as well as the executive branch, is a good one. The Star has long taken the position that the Nebraska Legislature and the Lincoln Council could both benefit from strong supporting staffs and that it would be a benefit to the taxpayer, too. The Legislature has taken decisive action in that direction in recent years.

But the Lincoln council Tuesday couldn't take action one way or the other on the administrative assistant issue. A 3-3 vote was produced on a motion to abandon the idea and apparently, absent Councilman Dick Baker now holds the key to deciding the issue.

In dragging out the deliberations and arguing about how much to pay, the desired qualifications, what the assistant would do and whether or not it would be better to contract for outside help, the council apparently is trying to put up a convincing argument that it doesn't need any help or better information in arriving at its decisions. But it is creating just the opposite impression.

The Chips Are On The Line

STRAUSS

MONDALE

HUMPHREY

WASHINGTON — Hubert Humphrey, Robert Strauss and Walter Mondale are only being realistic in admitting that people now look to Congress for economic action, and that the Democrats will be in hot water if they fail to meet 1975-76 challenges and expectations.

Admittedly, others argue that Congress will be no more to blame in 1976 than it was in 1932 when voters clobbered Republican Herbert Hoover, absolving the Democrats who narrowly controlled the House of Representatives through 1931-32.

But that analogy doesn't hold up, for reasons that ought to suggest why Congress is genuinely culpable. First of all, whereas the Democratic House taking office midway through Hoover's term ended 12 years of GOP control, the circa 1974 Democrats have been running Capitol Hill since Milton Berle was a fresh face and the Dodgers were still in Brooklyn. Most of the time, they have had whopping majorities, and now that edge is two-to-one. If the United States is in an economic pickle, the Democratic Congress has long been co-tender of the brine vat.

Let's be frank: Another essential factor in the 1975-76 equation is the weakness of the presidency and the renascent power of the Congress — a shift clear enough to anyone who watched the impeachment hearings and other events of the last year. Unlike Hoover, Nixon and others, Gerald Ford is not a chief executive elected by a popular landslide. On the contrary, he is the crippled appointee of the first president to resign — and he himself is the first president to take office via 25th Amendment approval by Congress.

So Capitol Hill arguments that only the executive branch, not Congress, has the responsibility for the economy are quite unfair. At best, the two branches will share the blame or credit. At worst, Congress should take most of the heat.

Nor will this be unjust. When the Democrats came to power in the Nineteen-Thirties, they were uncertain of their doctrine — and therefore flexible — because they had been out of power for so long. They were not part of the economics that failed in 1929. But the reason for their current indecision is very different: It is not the confusion of untried novices but of tired failures. After all, especially over the last decade, Congress's spending and borrowing policies have done a lot to get us into our present economic fix.

Last, the new Congress is in good measure a labor Congress, with many of its Democrats owing a substantial election debt to the AFL-CIO. Here is another link to current economic woe — the extent to which federal law has allowed labor to win post-1966 wage increases that have greatly outrun productivity, thereby providing high-octane fuel for the burning fires of inflation.

In a shortly to be published book entitled "How to Save Free Enterprise," Dr. Arthur Dahlberg, director of Columbia University's Visual Economics Laboratory, makes some pivotal comparisons between wage-productivity relationships in the 1920's and over the last decade. From 1920 to 1929, output per man-hour increased almost 50% while wages plus fringe benefits (in manufacturing industries) went up a mere 6%. Workers were grossly shortchanged, and lacked the purchasing power to support the boom.

But this situation changed in the next three decades as Congress voted vast powers, privileges and immunities to the unions. And when the Vietnam war created a tight labor market in 1965, labor began using its new legal muscle to secure massive wage and fringe-benefit increases. According to Dr. Dahlberg's data, output per man-hour in manufacturing rose only 20% between 1965 and 1974 while wages and fringe benefits increased nearly 75%. Business, in turn, was obliged to raise prices to cover the greater cost of goods sold.

Over the last decade, organized labor and the Democratic Congress have worked in close harness. And in January, 1974, AFL-CIO chief George Meany will be within a few votes of the "veto-proof" Democratic Congress he blueprinted last spring. Thus, if the American economy is in sad shape in 1976, and the people turn on Congress, they may finally be getting down to brass tacks.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Ford's Pork-Barrel Problems

WASHINGTON — President Ford's candor as he wades into the incredibly difficult task of cutting government spending is admirable.

Whacking at the public works pork barrel, the President is discovering just how hard it is to squeeze even modest savings out of the complex of congressional log-rolling that promises navigation for Goose Creek in Oklahoma in return for a waterway opening Grand Rapids to the world's commerce. He called for a one-year deferral of public works projects saving $82 million in the current fiscal year.

This was before the election and the screams of pain and rage that went up could be heard from shining sea to shining sea. Mind you, these are deferrals and they can be revoked by action by either house of Congress.

But it is a serious challenge to those whom the President denounced in the campaign as the big spenders. If they will not stand still for this modest cheese-paring. the hope for any agreement between the new top-heavy Democratic Congress and the Republican President is slight. In his claim to bite the bullet, Ford might better have canceled outright 20 boondoggles approved by Congress.

The cost in the current fiscal year is $166 million. But as Elvis J. Stahr, president of the National Audubon Society, a leader in conservation, pointed out, this is only a down-payment. The estimated cost of completing these projects is more than $4.9 billion and, if inflation continues at a rate of 10%, it may in five years be $7 billion.

Several of the Ford deferrals are on the list of 20 submitted to the President by the Audubon Society as candidates for economy, among them the Central Arizona project estimated to cost more than $1 billion to complete. The Army Corps of Engineers, those indefatigable diggers that no president has been able to checkmate, and Interior's Bureau of Reclamation account for most of the big spending.

As Stahr pointed out in a letter to the President, too many irrigation projects destroy arable land, waste water and, like too many flood-control projects, artificially stimulate development in the wrong places bringing new pressure for more spending for more flood control.

He cited examples of spending that is not only a waste of money but is demonstrably harmful both ecologically and to farming interests.

Calling for sacrifice and economy, as he did in his Kansas City speech, the President is beginning to get the brickbats from industries hurting in the recession.

Lynn A. Townsend, chairman of the Chrysler Corporation, said at a press conference that since the President called for saving and belt-tightening, the sales of autos, the principal item in most household budgets, had dropped sharply. Chrysler lost $8 million in the third quarter.

This conveniently ignores the fact that the motor manufacturers raised car prices from 12 to 18% with carrying charges proportionately increased. In the face of the swift upward rise in the price of food, clothing, all the basic items in a family budget, that increase was certainly a brake on potential car-buyers.

Part of the initiation of a President newly in office is to learn that he must accept the blame for everything, including the weather. This is particularly rough for Ford, since a thousand and one troubles in a time of perennial crisis end up in the oval office.

If it is a test for the President, it is also a test for the Congress. And that first small step, halting the flow of federal spending to certain of the Goose Creeks of America, should be a signal for cooperation.

Securing Rate Increases

Neligh, Neb.

With reference to a recent news item on telephone economics by Roger Lewis, pertaining to an application presented to the Public Service Commission by Northwestern Bell requesting they consider and grant their request for an intra-state rate increase — no sweat for the telephone company which has a virtual monopoly, and I suspect the rate increase will be granted with as much ease as it was to present the application. due mainly to the fact that the commission is and remains more responsive to big business than it is to the public it is elected to protect and serve.

In this respect, not much is known by the general public about this very important subdivision of our government, and I doubt that one person in 15 knows the name of the commission member elected to serve his district. This is one of the reasons why a constitutional change is in order to make members of the commission appointive instead of elective.

There is virtually no competition in the telephone business, and the fact that commission-granted rate increases are easily attained is circumspect while at the same time, rail companies who are faced with fierce competition encounter months and years of delay to obtain the same results, in the meantime contributing to loss of branch lines and curtailment of services.

With its ears attuned to the truck lobby, does the commission consider rail losses caused by outside sources such as train-auto wrecks, train-truck collissions running into losses by the millions as a factor in granting rate increases to the rails who for years have sustained these losses without recourse?

28 Officers In On My Lai Cover-up

. . . Part Of Report Released

Washington (UPI) — Army Secretary Howard H. Callaway Wednesday released part of the long-secret Peers Report which concluded that at least 28 officers — two of them chaplains — contributed to the cover-up of the My Lai massacre.

The report, prepared by now-retired Army Lt. Gen. William R. Peers, said the officers by either commission or omission helped cover up the slaughter of Vietnamese civilians in March 1968.

Peers investigated the cover-up after published reports brought the massacre to light, and announced on completion of his report in March 1970 that he had found "serious deficiencies in the actions" of 14 officers from captain on up.

Callaway, at a news conference, released two of the four volumes prepared by Peers — one of which set the number of officers involved at 28, including Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, commander of the Americal Division whose units were involved in the air and ground sweep through My Lai.

Also named were Lt. Col. Francis R. Lewis and Capt. Carl E. Creswell, chaplains who served in the division.

Callaway, asked by reporters if he thought an incident such as My Lai might recur, said after a moment's thought: "I don't guess anything is going to prevent it. I do feel though that it isn't going to happen again."

He said the training of today's GIs takes My Lai into account and the men are more carefully schooled in their responsibility toward civilians.

Callaway said the Peers text had been withheld thus far to protect the rights of the accused. Army sources, however, said former President Richard M. Nixon's administration had insisted on suppressing the report and that after President Ford took office the wheels immediately began turning to make the report public.

It had been reported that the Peers material had been withheld for fear it might prejudice the case of former Lt. William L. Calley Jr., released Saturday after serving three years and four months on conviction of killing at least 22 civilians at Vietnam.

All 14 officers originally named by Peers were charged with crimes in connection with the massacre. Only Col. Oran K. Henderson, commander of the unit that made the My Lai sweep, was tried on cover-up charges and he was acquitted in December 1971 after a four-month court-martial.

Callaway released Volume 1, the conclusions and recommendations, and Volume 3, the documentary evidence amassed by the inquiry — but withheld Volumes 2 and 4, the voluminous text of the testimony and investigative reports.

He said the two sections were being withheld because they contained raw comments.

The inch-thick Volume 1 said that Koster — later demoted to one-star general through administrative action — had information from three different sources that civilians had been killed but failed to report this to higher authorities.

The Peers report said Lt. Col. Frank A. Barker, field commander of the My Lai operation who was killed in combat some days later, "planned, ordered and actively directed the execution of an unlawful operation." It charged Maj Charles C. Calhoun, Capt. Eugene M. Kotouc and Capt. Ernest L. Medina with joining in the planning.

Report's Release Angers Kotouc

Ft. Riley, Kan. (AP) — At first Staff Sgt. Eugene Kotouc said he was outraged but later, when he had learned more about it, he was still concerned Wednesday at the public release of the Peers Commission report on the My Lai massacre and its coverup.

"Why in the hell don't they leave it dead now," was the first reaction of the 40-year-old sergeant from Humboldt, Neb., who once was a major and was acquitted when he himself was tried by a military court on charges of maiming and assault at My Lai.

Official Warns Of New, Accurate Russian Missiles

Shreveport, La. (AP) — The Pentagon's research chief said Wednesday night that Russia may have achieved good enough missile accuracy to threaten destruction of U.S. land-based missiles in a surprise attack.

Dr. Malcolm C. Currie, director of defense research and engineering, made public important details of new Soviet missile developments as he forecast "the coming year will probably see the start of the most massive deployment of new strategic nuclear weapons in history" by Russia.

"If we are to keep the risk of nuclear war at its present near-zero level, then we must move as necessary to counter these disturbing Soviet trends," Currie said in a speech prepared for a banquet in connection with the Strategic Air Command's annual bombing competition.

Referring to a range of U.S. nuclear weapons initiatives which have drawn criticism in Congress, Currie said that "if we want the insurance policy of deterrence rather than the grievous losses of war, then we must be ready to pay the premiums."

Currie stressed, at the same time, that "we do urgently seek the reduction of nuclear arms" on both sides at the SALT talks. "The future cost of nuclear war insurance could be high indeed if negotiations fail," he said.

U.S. officials long have been concerned that the Russians, whose missiles have lagged behind the United States in accuracy, would achieve an ability to knock out American missiles in their underground launch silos.

Now, Currie said, "we have information suggesting the possibility" that Russian missiles, with their huge warheads, may be able to strike within one-quarter of a mile of their targets.

Currie said the Russians are ready to deploy four new kinds of intercontinental ballistic missiles with warheads ranging up to the explosive power of 25 million tons of TNT, an improved missile-firing submarine with a 4,900-mile range, and a bomber with intercontinental strike reach.

Penalty Rate To Rise To 9%

Land developers and property owners who are behind in their special assessment payments to the city will be charged a higher penalty rate beginning Monday.

Beginning Monday, a 9% interest rate will be charged, instead of the present 7% rate, City Treasurer Gerald Speedlin said Wednesday.

The increase in the interest rate was approved by Lincoln voters in the Nov. 5 general election when they approved a change in the charter. The charter amendment removes the 7% interest ceiling on delinquent, unpaid special assessments

The delinquent interest rate now will be tied to the interest rate levied against delinquent state property taxes. That rate is 9%.

Speedlin urged those who are behind on their payments to get the bills paid this week and take advantage of the 7% rate.

The 9% rate, which is charged as a penalty for nonpayment, will be retroactive to the date of delinquency, he said.

4 People Abducted; KU Student Is Killed

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—An early morning bull session at a private club here was interrupted by a holdup man who shot and killed a University of Kansas student and abducted four people Wednesday, police said.

Two young women employed at the Sanctuary Club and two young men in a nearby parking lot were taken hostage by the gunman, who left them about six hours later in an old, abandoned house on the east edge of Topeka.

Police said there were rapes involved in the abduction, but offered no details. The women remained in the rape section of Stormont-Vail Hospital late Wednesday. The two men were interrogated by police

Authorities said they were looking for an "identifiable suspect" who was believed to be in the white 1963 Plymouth taken from one of the two men abducted. Road blocks were set up in counties around Lawrence and Kansas Highway Patrol aircraft were used in the search.

The gunman was described as a big, muscular black man in his late 20s.

He was being sought in the death of Todd Storbeck, 21, of Winfield

Earlier Law Enforcement Transfer Urged

A proposal that law enforcement in rural Lancaster County be transfered contractually to the Lincoln Police Department prior to the passage of enabling legislation has come from the Citizen's Advisory Committee to the County-City Implementation Commission (CCIC).

The proposal differs from one by a CCIC Police Services Task Force, which recommended that enabling legislation for the contractual arrangement be passed before the transfer was attempted.

The proposal was based on legal opinions from the Lancaster County attorney's office, the city attorney's office and the Police Services Task Force attorney.

Advisory committee member Michael Steinman, however, said Wednesday that the committee felt the only legal question on a contractual arrangement now was whether the contract would be binding on Sherrif Merle Karnopp's successor or whether it would be void when Karnopp is replaced.

"Why wait five years for legislation? Why not try it now?" Steinman asked. Her said he could envision an election for sheriff in which candidates who take sides on the transfer, one promising to void the contract and one promising to abide by it.

This situation, Steinman said, would put the issue to the voters.

Karnopp said Wednesday that he is "absolutely opposed" to a contract transfer at this time and added that talk of the transfer has hurt morale in his department.

At one time, he said, a belief that transfer was imminent led some deputies to seek jobs in counties in Colorado

Director De Sica Dies; Winner Of 4 Oscars

ROME (AP) — Vittorio de Sica, the Italian director who chose street people to star in many of his films and whose stark portrayal of life won Oscars for "Bicycle Thief" and three other movie landmarks, died in his home in Paris on Wednesday. He was 72

The death was announced in Rome by producer Carlo Ponti. He said De Sica was in Paris to attend the premiere of their latest movie, "The Journey." Ponti said De Sica died just before dawn.

De Sica became seriously ill last year when a lung cyst was removed in Geneva. After that he directed "The Journey," starring Richard Burton and Sophia Loren, Ponti's wife.

Along with Roberto Rossellini and Luchino Visconti, De Sica led Italy's neorealistic wave ushering in a new era of movie making. He described the movement as "the poetry of real life."

He became the first Italian to receive an Academy Award in 1947 for "Shoeshine." "The Bicycle Thief" won him the second of four Oscars for best foreign films. His other Oscars were for "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" and "The Garden of the Finzi-Continis"

"Umberto D," De Sica's favorite among his movies, told of the debt-ridden existence of a pensioner who contemplates suicide

Republicans Billed $99 For Parking

Grand Island (AP) — Mrs. Haven Smith of Chappell, a Republican, may be the apparent winner in Nebraska's 3rd District congressional race, but the Republican National Committee is going to find its coffers $99 lighter.

The GOP National Committee has been billed $99 in overtime parking fines assessed against a rented car used by a campaign worker in Grand Island during late October and early November.

Hal Murray, a spokesman for Hertz Rent-A-Car here, said the car was leased to Pat O'Neil, and received at least 11 tickets for overtime parking violations.

Local Republican sources said Miss O'Neil was a campaign worker from Washington, D.C., and was brought in to help Mrs Smith's candidacy in the 3rd District congressional race.

Grand Island police said the violations were issued in the same general area between Oct. 23, and Nov. 11.

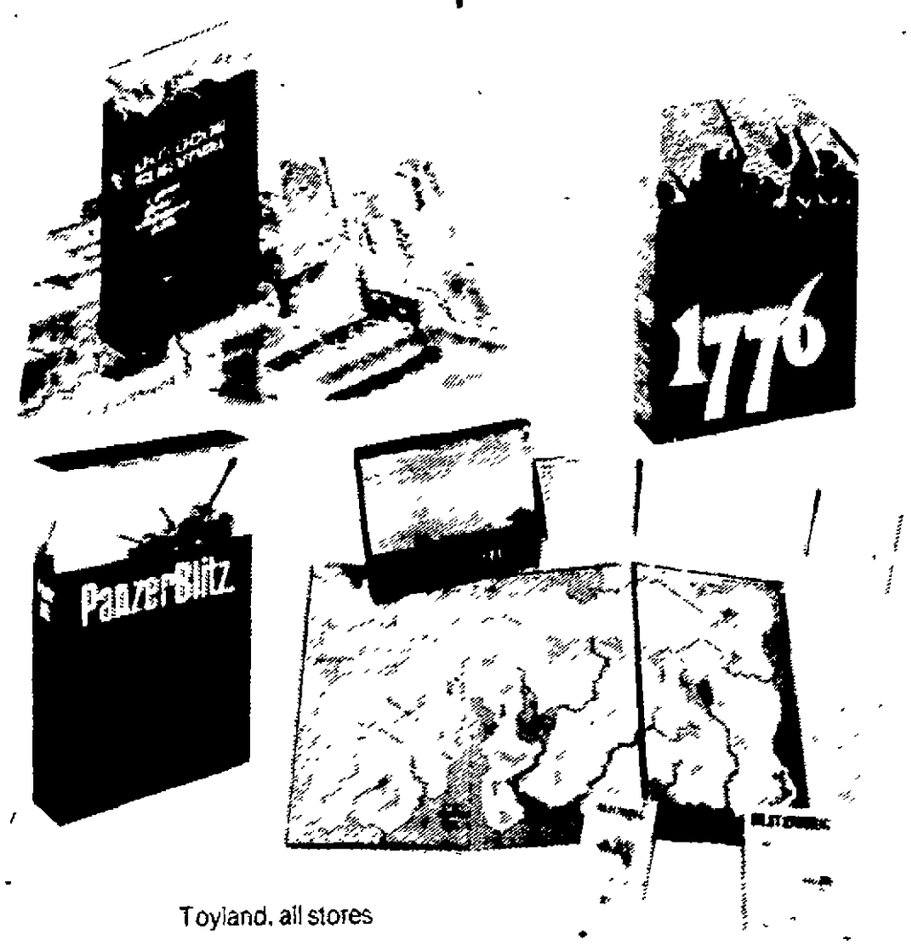

Miss O'Neil's expenses were paid by the National Republican Committee, and not by the local party, local GOP officials said.

Conservation Backed

Des Moines (UPI) — The board of directors of the Iowa Gasoline Dealers Association has voted unanimously to go on record supporting a state and national gasoline conservation program, it was reported.

Woman Files Complaint With HEW In Tuition Case

By DICK HOLMAN
Star Staff Writer

A Lincoln woman has filed a complaint with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, charging that the Lincoln Board of Education discriminated against Patrick Cooke, 16, of New York City.

Donna Polk said she mailed the complaint Tuesday to HEW's Office of Civil Rights in Kansas City because she thought Cooke "was treated rather unfairly."

The Lincoln Board of Education in August denied a request by Cooke's brother-in-law, A. Eugene Crump, 2715 Torchlight Lane, for free school privileges. But the board allowed Cooke, a black, to enroll at Lincoln High School and delay paying tuition, on the condition Crump would test the non-resident tuition law in court.

Free Privileges

Then in October, the board granted free school privileges to Susanne Rosemann, 16, of Cologne, West Germany, likening the case to free tuition granted American Field Service (AFS) foreign exchange students.

Miss Rosemann, a white, would not have been an AFS student; she had made arrangement to stay with family friends, University of Nebraska-Lincoln Prof. and Mrs. Raymond H. Haggh, 1725 S. 52nd, and to attend Lincoln Southeast during the second semester.

A controversy erupted over the board members' discussion that they had possibly been inconsistent in the two decisions. Former board attorney Willis Hecht had recommended denial of free tuition in both cases, conforming to law.

Ms. Polk said in an interview, "Many of us in the community were offended by the statement that tax-payers would benefit from the presence of this young woman (Miss Rosemann)" as the basis for waiving tuition.

Board member John Lux said on Oct. 23, when the Rosemann request was approved, that the "benefits outweigh the cost to the taxpayer." Annual non-resident high school tuition is $1,400.

To Be Billed

Meanwhile, Cooke last Friday withdrew from classes and returned to his home in the Bronx, but the tuition bill against Crump remains outstanding. Presumably, Crump will only be billed $350 for one quarter of classes.

Then on Tuesday, the board rescinded its action on Miss Rosemann, and she will be required to pay tuition, should she still choose to come to Lincoln. Board members let die on the table a motion by member Pearl Goldenstein to cancel Cooke's tuition bill and any further tuition charges if he returns to Lincoln.

Ms. Polk said she filed the complaint against the board "as a citizen and a taxpayer," and not in her official position of equal employment opportunity representative for the Nebraska Department of Labor.

She said she advised Crump she would file the charge, under Title IX amendments to the elementary-secondary education act, and Crump did not object.

The Title IX regulations stipulate that equal educational opportunity must be afforded all children who attend schools receiving federal funds. Lincoln does.

Star Story Enclosed

In her letter to HEW, Ms. Polk said she enclosed an article from The Star about the Cooke-Rosemann case "which is seemingly opposite of what is required under Title IX. I believe the article states the case explicitly and this letter also serves as a charge of discrimination on behalf of Patrick Cooke against the Lincoln Board of Education."

The federal guidelines apply to discrimination on the basis of sex, and because of the tie-in of Cooke's case with the Rosemann case, the charge should hold, she said.

Acknowledging that the board reversed its Rosemann decision, Ms. Polk said, "I'm sure HEW will only be too happy to settle this issue." She added, "Particularly since Supt. (John) Prasch wanted Crump to enter into litigation" to test the statutes.

HEW's Office of Civil Rights, responding to her charge, will conduct an informal investigation to determine the district's compliance with Title IX. If it's determined the district has violated the regulations, through a public hearing, HEW may terminate any federal funds the Lincoln schools receive and refuse to grant any more until the issue is resolved.

HEW may also refer the matter to the U.S. attorney general, if there has been sex discrimination, Ms. Polk said.

Ms. Polk, who earlier announced establishment of the Patrick Cooke Fund to defray Cooke's tuition costs, said the sponsoring National Black Feminists Organization, Lincoln chapter, is "still attempting to raise funds."

The fund at the First National Bank of Lincoln has "at least $100" in it, she said. "Tuition is at least due for the time Patrick was in school, so there is still an issue."

Sponsor: German Girl Unlikely To Come Now

University of Nebraska-Lincoln Prof. Raymond H. Haggh, who would have been Miss Rosemann's sponsor in Lincoln, said Wednesday if Susanne must pay tuition, "I don't believe she can come, at this point, any more."

He said he was "going to write the Rosemanns and tell them I do not believe it would be wise to send Susanne into a community where she was treated in this fashion."

"I don't agree at all with Mr. Hecht's appraisal of this case. I think it is incorrect," Haggh said. Former board attorney Willis Hecht recommended that both Miss Rosemann and Patrick Cooke pay the tuition.

"It is my feeling the decision was more to make the bureaucracy consistent, rather than to make an effective judgment," said Haggh, music professor and College of Arts and Sciences associate dean.

Haggh said in an interview that Hecht "claimed that Susanne's primary concern in coming here was to go to school." Haggh called that "a ridiculous statement."

Miss Rosemann's wanted to come to Lincoln "first of all to learn about life in the United States and to learn to speak the language more fluently," he said, and "secondly, to renew an old friendship."

"I also felt Patrick Cooke was being done an injustice," Haggh said. "My case happened to coincide with his and I feel somewhat of an injustice that I'm being made to appear to be a racist, which I certainly am not."

Haggh reiterated what he told board members in the appeal on the Rosemann decision, that while his family was in Germany, his two children were allowed to attend school tax-free, were charged no rental fee for use of school musical instruments and received a 50% discount on textbooks.

"I paid taxes in Lincoln at the same time, and relieved the Lincoln tax payer at the going price, $2,800 worth of education," he said.

Official Warns Of New, Accurate Russian Missiles

Shreveport, La. (AP) — The Pentagon's research chief said Wednesday night that Russia may have achieved good enough missile accuracy to threaten destruction of U.S. land-based missiles in a surprise attack.

Dr. Malcolm C. Currie, director of defense research and engineering, made public important details of new Soviet missile developments as he forecast "the coming year will probably see the start of the most massive deployment of new strategic nuclear weapons in history" by Russia.

"If we are to keep the risk of nuclear war at its present near-zero level, then we must move as necessary to counter these disturbing Soviet trends," Currie said in a speech prepared for a banquet in connection with the Strategic Air Command's annual bombing competition.

Referring to a range of U.S. nuclear weapons initiatives which have drawn criticism in Congress, Currie said that "if we want the insurance policy of deterrence rather than the grievous losses of war, then we must be ready to pay the premiums."

Currie stressed, at the same time, that "we do urgently seek the reduction of nuclear arms" on both sides at the SALT talks. "The future cost of nuclear war insurance could be high indeed if negotiations fail," he said.

U.S. officials long have been concerned that the Russians, whose missiles have lagged behind the United States in accuracy, would achieve an ability to knock out American missiles in their underground launch silos.

Now, Currie said, "we have information suggesting the possibility" that Russian missiles, with their huge warheads, may be able to strike within one-quarter of a mile of their targets.

Currie said the Russians are ready to deploy four new kinds of intercontinental ballistic missiles with warheads ranging up to the explosive power of 25 million tons of TNT, an improved missile-firing submarine with a 4,900-mile range, and a bomber with intercontinental strike reach.

Carradine Fined

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor David Carradine, star of the TV series "Kung Fu," entered a plea of no contest Wednesday in Municipal Court to misdemeanor charges of mischief and trespass.

He was fined $250 and placed on one year's probation by Judge Clarence A. Stromwall.

Penalty Rate To Rise To 9%

Land developers and property owners who are behind in their special assessment payments to the city will be charged a higher penalty rate beginning Monday.

Beginning Monday, a 9% interest rate will be charged, instead of the present 7% rate, City Treasurer Gerald Speedlin said Wednesday.

The increase in the interest rate was approved by Lincoln voters in the Nov. 5 general election when they approved a change in the charter. The charter amendment removes the 7% interest ceiling on delinquent, unpaid special assessments.

The delinquent interest rate now will be tied to the interest rate levied against delinquent state property taxes. That rate is 9%.

Speedlin urged those who are behind on their payments to get the bills paid this week and take advantage of the 7% rate.

The 9% rate, which is charged as a penalty for nonpayment, will be retroactive to the date of delinquency, he said.

4 People Abducted; KU Student Is Killed

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—An early morning bull session at a private club here was interrupted by a holdup man who shot and killed a University of Kansas student and abducted four people Wednesday, police said.

Two young women employed at the Sanctuary Club and two young men in a nearby parking lot were taken hostage by the gunman, who left them about six hours later in an old, abandoned house on the east edge of Topeka.

Police said there were rapes involved in the abduction, but offered no details. The women remained in the rape section of Stormont-Vail Hospital late Wednesday. The two men were interrogated by police.

Authorities said they were looking for an "identifiable suspect" who was believed to be in the white 1963 Plymouth taken from one of the two men abducted. Road blocks were set up in counties around Lawrence and Kansas Highway Patrol aircraft were used in the search.

The gunman was described as a big, muscular black man in his late 20s.

He was being sought in the death of Todd Storbeck, 21, of Winfield.

Earlier Law Enforcement Transfer Urged

A proposal that law enforcement in rural Lancaster County be transfered contractually to the Lincoln Police Department prior to the passage of enabling legislation has come from the Citizen's Advisory Committee to the County-City Implementation Commission (CCIC).

The proposal differs from one by a CCIC Police Services Task Force, which recommended that enabling legislation for the contractual arrangement be passed before the transfer was attempted.

The proposal was based on legal opinions from the Lancaster County attorney's office, the city attorney's office and the Police Services Task Force attorney.

Advisory committee member Michael Steinman, however, said Wednesday that the committee felt the only legal question on a contractual arrangement now was whether the contract would be binding on Sherrif Merle Karnopp's successor or whether it would be void when Karnopp is replaced.

"Why wait five years for legislation? Why not try it now?" Steinman asked. Her said he could envision an election for sheriff in which candidates who take sides on the transfer, one promising to void the contract and one promising to abide by it.

This situation, Steinman said, would put the issue to the voters.

Karnopp said Wednesday that he is "absolutely opposed" to a contract transfer at this time and added that talk of the transfer has hurt morale in his department.

At one time, he said, a belief that transfer was imminent led some deputies to seek jobs in counties in Colorado.

Director De Sica Dies; Winner Of 4 Oscars

ROME (AP) — Vittorio de Sica, the Italian director who chose street people to star in many of his films and whose stark portrayal of life won Oscars for "Bicycle Thief" and three other movie landmarks, died in his home in Paris on Wednesday. He was 72.

The death was announced in Rome by producer Carlo Ponti. He said De Sica was in Paris to attend the premiere of their latest movie, "The Journey." Ponti said De Sica died just before dawn.

De Sica became seriously ill last year when a lung cyst was removed in Geneva. After that he directed "The Journey," starring Richard Burton and Sophia Loren, Ponti's wife.

Along with Roberto Rossellini and Luchino Visconti, De Sica led Italy's neorealistic wave ushering in a new era of movie making. He described the movement as "the poetry of real life."

He became the first Italian to receive an Academy Award in 1947 for "Shoeshine." "The Bicycle Thief" won him the second of four Oscars for best foreign films. His other Oscars were for "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" and "The Garden of the Finzi-Continis."

"Umberto D," De Sica's favorite among his movies, told of the debt-ridden existence of a pensioner who contemplates suicide.

Republicans Billed $99 For Parking

Grand Island (AP) — Mrs. Haven Smith of Chappell, a Republican, may be the apparent winner in Nebraska's 3rd District congressional race, but the Republican National Committee is going to find its coffers $99 lighter.

The GOP National Committee has been billed $99 in overtime parking fines assessed against a rented car used by a campaign worker in Grand Island during late October and early November.

Hal Murray, a spokesman for Hertz Rent-A-Car here, said the car was leased to Pat O'Neil, and received at least 11 tickets for overtime parking violations.

Local Republican sources said Miss O'Neil was a campaign worker from Washington, D.C., and was brought in to help Mrs. Smith's candidacy in the 3rd District congressional race.

Grand Island police said the violations were issued in the same general area between Oct. 23, and Nov. 11.

Miss O'Neil's expenses were paid by the National Republican Committee, and not by the local party, local GOP officials said.

Conservation Backed

Des Moines (UPI) — The board of directors of the Iowa Gasoline Dealers Association has voted unanimously to go on record supporting a state and national gasoline conservation program, it was reported.

Golden Age Shop Profitable

By ROBERT PETERSON

A bright new idea for older people is the golden age shop. Shops offering the arts and handicrafts of folks past 60 spur elders to use their talents. they provide incentive for keeping aging fingers and minds active. And they may provide a small profit to the shop owners.

"We thought you'd like to hear about our little shop," writes a couple who operate a golden age shop on Highway 19, just outside Erie, Pa. "We ran a general store in this area for 42 years. Then we retired and took life easy. We owned the building, had some rentals and Social Security, and thought we didn't want to work anymore

"But after three years of leisure we got restless. One day on a trip through New Hampshire we saw a little roadside shop featuring things made by older people. We stopped and got acquainted with the owners, and felt this was a terrific idea. So we decided to open such a shop.

"We started with just four contributors of merchandise, and now have more than 200. We invite older people to send us good quality handicrafts. We place their things on display, at whatever prices they want to charge. Then we take a 20% commission when the item is sold, and send them a check for the balance.

"It's hard work at times and there are some minor irritations. But on the whole we love doing this The shop has been the ideal answer to our retirement for we enjoy the feeling that we're doing something useful for folks our age. And the work brings such interesting correspondence and visitors. Every day new people come to buy or browse or talk. And since we're not in it for the money we don't push ourselves.

"We were in the red the first couple of years, but we're making a small profit now. During the forthcoming Christmas period we'll probably make sales of better than $1,200. We own the building and could rent it for $200 a month. But we prefer doing this work.

"Anyone can get started in a business like this — even in their own home or just by renting a little space somewhere. It's a good idea to be near a central road so folks can see your sign. There's a certain appeal when you advertise that you carry only goods handmade by older people.

"Our shop is full of beautiful and unusual things. There are lovely handwoven tablecloths and bedspreads. There are wooden toys, ceramic wares, framed pictures, embroidered and chocheted items. There are chairs and footstools and handmade flowers and paintings. One dear little lady in Florida makes old-fashioned sunbonnets which are very popular. And a little lady with severe arthritis makes stuffed toy animals and is so grateful we can sell them for her."

Other retired folks should take the cue and consider launching golden age shops in their areas.

Man Offers Excess Land For Planting

Mims, Fla. (AP) — George Burnett says he has a lot of excess farm land. So, in the spirit of President Ford's WIN program, he's offering it, free, to anyone who wants to plant on it.

"We had no particular use for all that land, so we decided we should help people who live in apartments, condominiums and trailer courts and have a yard too small to grow things in," Burnett said Tuesday.

Burnett says that since he offered about eight of his 10 acres in a letter last month to a newspaper, "About 50 people came out and said they'd be back in the spring, but about 12 folks said they didn't want to wait until then. Right now, they're planting corn and tomatoes, cabbage and squash and beans."

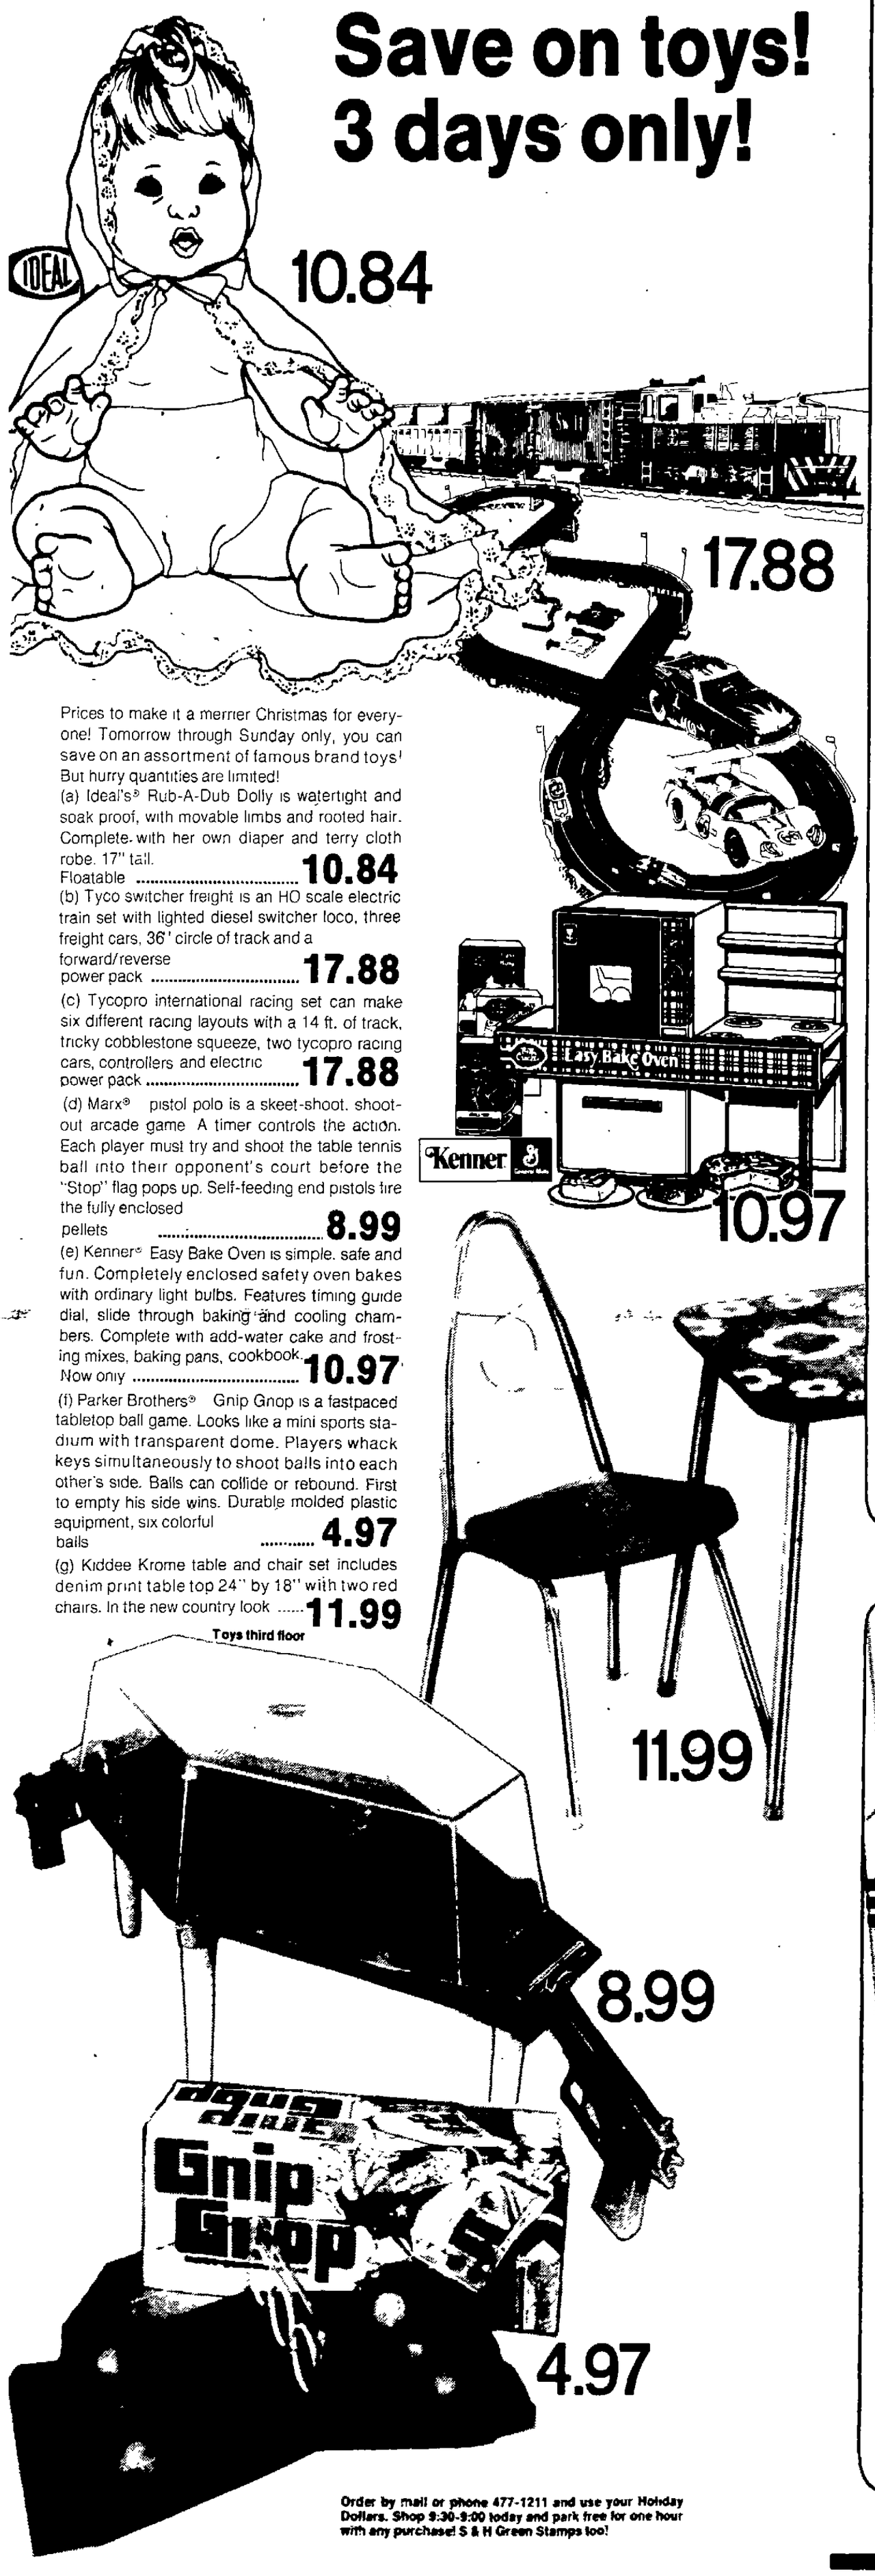

"One woman and her daughter were out here working with flashlights the other night."

Senator Asks Dismissal Of Mrs. Whiting

State Sen. Ernest Chambers Wednesday asked Corrections Director Joseph Vitek to fire Edith Whiting, education director at the State Penal Complex, for lying to the Judiciary Committee.

Vitek said he had not received Chambers' letter and said any decision on dismissing Mrs. Whiting will depend on what the alleged lie involved.

Mrs. Whiting, who has been accused of discouraging teaching innovations in the penal complex's education program, is "guilty of lying to the committee (about her credentials), withholding information . . . , deliberately trying to mislead the committee . . . then lying to cover-up," Chambers wrote.

Chambers sent Vitek copies of Mrs. Whiting's testimony, since Vitek said lying to a legislative committee is grounds for dismissal.

Vitek said a decision to fire Mrs. Whiting, who is now on sick leave, depends on what exactly she said.

Vitek said he interviewed Mrs. Whiting Tuesday at her request to discuss her problems with the Judiciary Committee and the teaching staff at the penal complex. Vitek said she did not say if she expected to return to work or if she desired to quit.

Insurance Firm Said Only Agent In Fund Dispute

Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Nebraska is only acting as an agent of the government in a dispute over $38,410 in Medicare funds that were allegedly overpaid to the Valley County Memorial Hospital, according to Walt Weaver, an attorney for the insurance company.

The hospital has filed a suit in U.S. District Court, claiming that the threatened withholding of 10% of future Medicare payments to the hospital because of the dispute threatens the hospital's ability to render care and services.

Weaver said, however, that the insurance company has been ordered to withhold the 10% by the Bureau of Health Insurance in the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Walfare.

The suit was filed against Casper Weinberger, HEW secretary, and Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Nebraska.

Hymie Zorinsky Presses Case Against Omaha

Omaha (AP) — The father of the mayor of Omaha has pressed his case against City Hall a step further, filing in District Court a suit seeking a higher price for property he owns.

Hymie Zorinsky, father of Mayor Edward Zorinsky, contends the property is worth some $166,000 more than the city has offered. He also seeks $200,000 for "special damages" he allegedly has sustained.

The suit is the result of condemnation proceedings instituted by the city earlier this year against Zorinsky-owned downtown properties in the vicinity of the proposed Central Park Mall.

A board of three appraisers inspected Zorinsky's property in August and on Sept. 13 recommended to the court a value of $289,323.

A Zorinsky attorney said that was slightly more than the city had offered to pay but some 20% less than the parcels are worth, based on the comparable property in the area.

Lounge May Be Made Into Office

Curt Snoberger, the newly appointed director of the Region II Crime Commission, may get an office in what is now a lounge on the second floor of the County-City Building, it was announced Wednesday.

The proposal has won the approval of the County-City Building Committee and will be considered by the City Council and the County Board, Snoberger told Region II members at their regular monthly meeting.

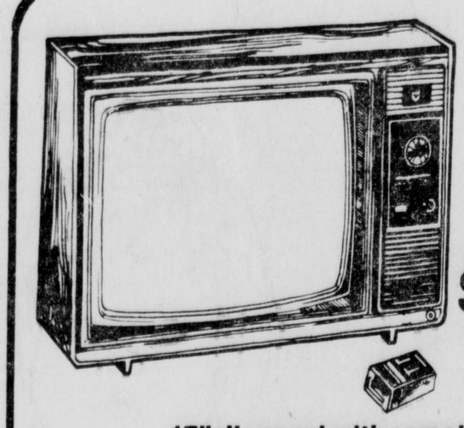

No timetable for the necessary remodeling and move has been set.

Dividend Hike Voted

New York (AP) — Norton Simon, Inc. announced the company's directors have approved an increase in the annual dividend rate to 40 cents a share from the current 30 cents.

Woman Asks Damages In Inmate Attack

By United Press International

A 62-year-old Lincoln woman Wednesday filed a $27,735 claim against the state in connection with an Aug. 11 incident in which she was attacked by a State Penal Complex inmate.

Mrs. Leota Solick told the State Claims Board that on that date she was "attacked and seriously injured" by Narcisse Merrick.

Merrick was one of 10 inmates allowed out of the institution on furlough to attend an Indian pow-wow at Lincoln's Sawyer-Snell Park.

Mrs. Solick said the attack which took place was in part due to negligence on the part of two guards assigned to the group. She also said other prison officials were negligent in not immediately reporting to law enforcement authorities the escape of Merrick and one other inmate.

The guards, the woman said, "failed to exercise the proper degree of supervision" required by the circumstances.

The attack took place as Mrs. Solick slept. Merrick was later convicted of escape and sentenced to one year in prison and another three to five years for assault with intent to rape.

Mrs. Solick requested $23.37 for property damages, $2,712.24 for special damages and $25,000 for general damages.

She told the claims board that when her daughter and son-in-law showed up at her home the night of the incident, Merrick broke out a window in an attempt to escape.

She also said in asking for special damages that her hand was permanently disabled due to knife wounds.

She asked for $25,000 in general damages, saying she suffered "great amounts of physical and mental pain and anguish" in connection with the incident.

The State Claims Board was tentatively scheduled to consider the claim during a Dec. 17 meeting.

More Layoffs Seen For WE Plant In Omaha

Omaha (AP) — About 600 workers at the Western Electric Omaha works have been laid off since the first of the year, and it appears that more workers will be facing layoffs in 1975, according to a company spokesman.

The work force at the beginning of the year stood at about 6,300, but has now been cut to about 5,700.

Since the first of the year, 350 workers have been laid off, but 250 have been called back, leaving 100 employes still out. The remainder of the reduction has been achieved through attrition.

The latest layoff was last Friday, and involved 43 workers.

Company officials say the reductions are necessary because of a downturn in business, and add that it is not yet known how many more workers will be laid off in the next year.

The plant manufactures telephone switching equipment and cables.

Meeting Slated By Special Ed Advisory Panel

The Superintendent's Advisory Committee for Special Education will meet at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 21 in the auditorium of the Public Schools Administration Building, 720 S. 22nd.

Committee members have asked Donald Sherrill, special education director, to interpret the district's work and philosophy in providing a normal school environment for handicapped students.

The committee will consider a statement of goals for "normalization" or "mainstreaming" special education students — having them share classes with non-handicapped children.

Other agenda items include district planning for 1975-75 under LB403, which provides for special education programs. School officials will report on transportation requirements and potential, under LB92, for the handicapped; and the special education department will consider organizing a parent task force to increase the effectiveness of parent involvement.

Woman Asks Damages In Inmate Attack

By United Press International

A 62-year-old Lincoln woman Wednesday filed a $27,735 claim against the state in connection with an Aug. 11 incident in which she was attacked by a State Penal Complex inmate.

Mrs. Leota Solick told the State Claims Board that on that date she was "attacked and seriously injured" by Narcisse Merrick.

Merrick was one of 10 inmates allowed out of the institution on furlough to attend an Indian pow-wow at Lincoln's Sawyer-Snell Park.

Mrs. Solick said the attack which took place was in part due to negligence on the part of two guards assigned to the group. She also said other prison officials were negligent in not immediately reporting to law enforcement authorities the escape of Merrick and one other inmate.

The guards, the woman said, "failed to exercise the proper degree of supervision" required by the circumstances.

The attack took place as Mrs. Solick slept. Merrick was later convicted of escape and sentenced to one year in prison and another three to five years for assault with intent to rape.

Mrs. Solick requested $23.37 for property damages, $2,712.24 for special damages and $25,000 for general damages.

She told the claims board that when her daughter and son-in-law showed up at her home the night of the incident, Merrick broke out a window in an attempt to escape.

She also said in asking for special damages that her hand was permanently disabled due to knife wounds.

She asked for $25,000 in general damages, saying she suffered "great amounts of physical and mental pain and anguish" in connection with the incident.

The State Claims Board was tentatively scheduled to consider the claim during a Dec. 17 meeting.

More Layoffs Seen For WE Plant In Omaha

Omaha (AP) — About 600 workers at the Western Electric Omaha works have been laid off since the first of the year, and it appears that more workers will be facing layoffs in 1975, according to a company spokesman.

The work force at the beginning of the year stood at about 6,300, but has now been cut to about 5,700.

Since the first of the year, 350 workers have been laid off, but 250 have been called back, leaving 100 employes still out. The remainder of the reduction has been achieved through attrition.

The latest layoff was last Friday, and involved 43 workers.

Company officials say the reductions are necessary because of a downturn in business, and add that it is not yet known how many more workers will be laid off in the next year.

The plant manufactures telephone switching equipment and cables.

Meeting Slated By Special Ed Advisory Panel

The Superintendent's Advisory Committee for Special Education will meet at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 21 in the auditorium of the Public Schools Administration Building, 720 S. 22nd.

Committee members have asked Donald Sherrill, special education director, to interpret the district's work and philosophy in providing a normal school environment for handicapped students.

The committee will consider a statement of goals for "normalization" or "mainstreaming" special education students — having them share classes with non-handicapped children.

Other agenda items include district planning for 1975-76 under LB403, which provides for special education programs. School officials will report on transportation requirements and potential, under LB92, for the handicapped; and the special education department will consider organizing a parent task force to increase the effectiveness of parent involvement.

Cuba To Get Vehicles

Buenos Aires (AP) — A French-owned automobile firm, Peugeot, signed an $8 million deal with Cuba for the sale of 2,-510 vehicles to that country.

Senator Asks Dismissal Of Mrs. Whiting

State Sen Ernest Chambers Wednesday asked Corrections Director Joseph Vitek to fire Edith Whiting, education director at the State Penal Complex, for lying to the Judiciary Committee

Vitek said he had not received Chambers' letter and said any decision on dismissing Mrs Whiting will depend on what the alleged lie involved

Mrs Whiting, who has been accused of discouraging teaching innovations in the penal complex's education program, is "guilty of lying to the committee (about her credentials), withholding information deliberately trying to mislead the committee then lying to cover-up," Chambers wrote

Chambers sent Vitek copies of Mrs Whiting's testimony, since Vitek said lying to a legislative committee is grounds for dismissal

Vitek said a decision to fire Mrs Whiting, who is now on sick leave, depends on what exactly she said

Vitek said he interviewed Mrs Whiting Tuesday at her request to discuss her problems with the Judiciary Committee and the teaching staff at the penal complex Vitek said she did not say if she expected to return to work or if she desired to quit

Insurance Firm Said Only Agent In Fund Dispute

Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Nebraska is only acting as an agent of the government in a dispute over $38,410 in Medicare funds that were allegedly overpaid to the Valley County Memorial Hospital, according to Walt Weaver, an attorney for the insurance company

The hospital has filed a suit in U S District Court, claiming that the threatened withholding of 10% of future Medicare payments to the hospital because of the dispute threatens the hospital's ability to render care and services

Weaver said, however, that the insurance company has been ordered to withhold the 10% by the Bureau of Health Insurance in the U S Department of Health, Education and Welfare

The suit was filed against Casper Weinberger, HEW secretary, and Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Nebraska

Hymie Zorinsky Presses Case Against Omaha

Omaha (AP) — The father of the mayor of Omaha has pressed his case against City Hall a step further, filing in District Court a suit seeking a higher price for property he owns

Hymie Zorinsky, father of Mayor Edward Zorinsky, contends the property is worth some $166,000 more than the city has offered. He also seeks $200,000 for "special damages" he allegedly has sustained.

The suit is the result of condemnation proceedings instituted by the city earlier this year against Zorinsky-owned downtown properties in the vicinity of the proposed Central Park Mall

A board of three appraisers inspected Zorinsky's property in August and on Sept. 13 recommended to the court a value of $289,323

A Zorinsky attorney said that was slightly more than the city had offered to pay but some 20% less than the parcels are worth, based on the comparable property in the area

Lounge May Be Made Into Office

Curt Snoberger, the newly appointed director of the Region II Crime Commission, may get an office in what is now a lounge on the second floor of the County-City Building, it was announced Wednesday.

The proposal has won the approval of the County-City Building Committee and will be considered by the City Council and the County Board, Snoberger told Region II members at their regular monthly meeting.

No timetable for the necessary remodeling and move has been set

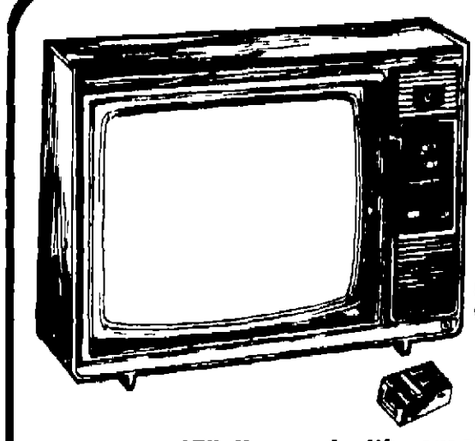

Dividend Hike Voted

New York (AP) — Norton Simon, Inc. announced the company's directors have approved an increase in the annual dividend rate to 40 cents a share from the current 30 cents.

'The King And Us'

"And that final irony, that the King should indict himself with his own words."

—Paul Conrad

Once upon a time, Richard Nixon, and/or his buddies, compiled an "enemies list."

The name of Paul Conrad, political cartoonist, was on that list.

Nixon et. al. are not living happily ever after.

Paul Conrad is — thanks, in part, to stupid things like "enemies lists," verbal backpedaling, and "sinister forces theories."

When you think about it, the whole Watergate imbroglio was a cartoonist's dream. During the past several years, Nixon and company made it relatively easy for those who earn their bread with pen and sketch pad.

However, a cartoonist who, like Conrad, was able to crystallize the whole affair — to capture the humor, the irony and the tragedy of Watergate — must be classified as something of a master.

Beginning just one day after the Watergate break-in in 1972 and continuing through the resignation of Richard Nixon, Conrad was there, pen and paper in hand. Waiting to record artistically the next faux pas, the next revelation, the next absurdity.

You almost have to see the whole collection of cartoons together in order to realize the full impact of Conrad's remarkably perceptive work. And the recent publication of "The King and Us: Editorial Cartoons by Conrad" (Clymer Publications), makes that possible.

Containing well over 100 cartoons, drawn over a two-year period beginning with the break-in, the book also has a text of sorts: excerpts from the transcripts of the Watergate tapes.

No better narrative could have been written to accompany Conrad's Watergate chronicle.

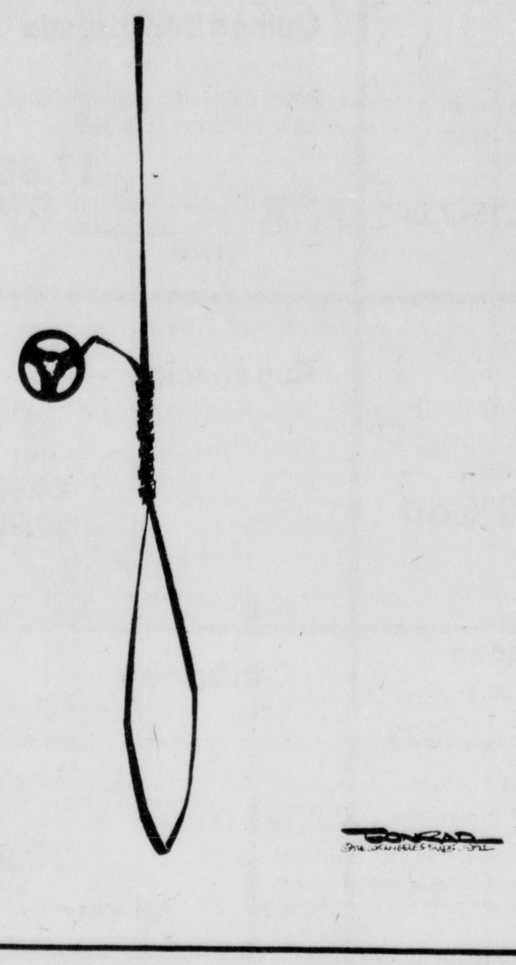

A two-time Pulitzer Prize-winner, whose work is syndicated by the Los Angeles Times, Conrad is one of those cartoonists whose works endure long after this or that era has passed.

To be able to record, in one cartoon, an event or a feeling that takes commentators and historians hundreds of words to describe, implies a type of genius.

And Conrad's particular genius involves more than mere humor and insight. Perhaps more than any other political cartoonist today, he can convey the overwhelming sense of tragedy that ultimately enfolds so many illustrious men.

A good cartoon will make you laugh or chuckle knowingly. A great one will haunt you.

Paul Conrad has had his share of both.

O that I were as great as my grief, or lesser than my name!
Or that I could forget what I have been!
Or not remember what I must be now!

King Richard II, Act III, Scene III

Two Lincoln Girls Take To The Ice For Candy Drive

The spotlight was on two Lincoln youngsters Thursday during the opening night performance of the Ice Capades.

Representing the Lincoln Council of Camp Fire Girls, Julie Anne Svendsen, fifth grade Adventurer, and Peggy Law, third grade Blue Bird, took to the ice just before intermission.

Their mission was to introduce the five Fenton children, the Ice Capades' young acrobatic team, as honorary chairmen of the council's 1974 candy drive.

The Camp Fire Girls' annual fund-raising project also was kicked off at that time. It runs through Dec. 2.

The Fenton children, ages seven through 15, are in their first staring season with the Ice Capades. The youngsters live in Detroit, Mich., during the off-season.

He Uses Their Money For His Charities

DEAR ABBY: Our son, who has always been a very serious-minded and responsible boy, has just started college away from home.

We opened a checking account for him, and agreed to send him through college as long as his grades held up. We get all his cancelled checks, and were shocked to learn that so far he has written checks totalling $350 to support a far out religious group he became interested in since he started college.

My husband has worked hard for his money. We support our own church, and don't feel that our money should be used in this manner.

Our son has worked and earned some money, which is also in his checking account, and he claims that he is supporting this religious cult with HIS money, not ours.

He is a sensitive boy, but easily persuaded, and we fear he has been taken in. We are not made of money, and want to know how to handle this situation. Thank you.

UPSET MOTHER

DEAR UPSET: You agreed to subsidize your son't education — not his religious charities. Pay his tuition and other related college expenses and let him donate his hard-earned money (not yours) to whatever he wishes.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter has a son, 9, and a daughter, 7. In the past, when I've been asked to keep the children overnight at my apartment, I've had to bed them down together in a large double bed because that's the only sleeping accommodations I have for them.

I am now of the opinion that the time has come when they should not be sharing one bed. When I told my daughter this, and offered to go to her home to stay with the kiddies, where each child has a bed alone, she said: "Well, if that's the way your thinking is, I might as well have a sitter come in." She gave me the impression that she thought I was an evil-minded old lady.

Abby, my training back in the "old days" is responsible for my thinking, and if I'm wrong, please tell me.

GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: If you're wrong, we both are. Boys and girls that age should be separated at bedtime, but no one should make a big deal of it.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law and I have a running dsicussion regarding the "normalcy" of her calling my wife three or four times a day, and expecting my wife to call her a similar number of times a day — each and every day!

To make matters worse, many of the calls wind up in arguments over petty things, which is bad for my wife's blood pressure.

When I tell my wife that I call my own mother only two or three times a week, even though I love her dearly, she claims I am "abnormal." Then she cites the case of a relative who calls his mother four times a day even though he is married and has two children. She considers that "normal" and I violently disagree.

Have you any helpful thoughts on this matter?

"ABNORMAL SON-IN-LAW"

DEAR AB: Quit going on about what's "normal" and what isn't, and stick to your own problem. If you feel that your wife's telephone conversations are too frequent and upsetting to her, then simply suggest that she limit them. The rest is up to her.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is a lovely, 24 year-old, college-educated woman who is in love with a man who absolutely does not believe in marriage.

They have been living together for three years, and now they want to start a family. We are heartsick and don't know what to do.

He has no family but we have. My parents would suffer even more than we if they knew that their wedlock grandchild (my daughter) had a child out of wedlock. Should we say they were secretly married, and try to carry it off, or forget it?

We have no one to ask advice from as we are too ashamed to have anyone know.

HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK; You are not responsible for the decisions of your 24-year-old daughter, so hold up your heads and get over the idea that you have something about which to be ashamed. Do not lie to your parents or anyone else. It may ease your burden to know that you have plenty of company.

DEAR ABBY: I know this will sound dumb, but here goes.

I have read that plants have feelings, and I believe they do. I've also read that if you "talk" to plants, they will grow big and strong.

Well, I would like to talk to plants, but I don't know what to say to them. PLANTLOVER

DEAR LOVER: It is my understanding that plants react to sounds, and what is said is less important than the tone one uses. In response to gentle, soothing, melodious sounds, plants are reported to grow nicely; but if assaulted by harsh, caustic, sharp sounds, they will react negatively and die.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN DEEP IN HIGHLAND PARK ILL": There are exceptions, but a good rule to follow is: Don't lend money to a person who owes you money unless he has made an honest effort to pay at least part of what he owes you.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	2 ♥	Pass	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
3 NT	Pass	Pass	Dble

Opening lead — queen of hearts.

The best players play well, but they don't necessarily achieve the perfection they could attain if they saw all four hands.

For example, take this deal where all four players would have bid or played differently had they had the advantage of seeing each other's cards throughout.

North had no convenient bid over West's weak jump overcall of two hearts, but when he passed and his partner showed a good hand by bidding three clubs, North indicated potential game prospects by cuebidding the adverse suit. South read this as showing a heart stopper and, after accepting North's invitation to bid three notrump, he stood his ground when East doubled.

West led a heart and South ran like a bunny with nine tricks. He could have made two overtricks by guessing which way to take the diamond finesse, but he quite properly settled for three notrump doubled.

Of course, had West been sufficiently inspired to lead the king and another spade, the contract would have failed. But then again, had North-South seen all the hands, they would have bid five clubs, which could not be defeated.

As for East, he surely would have affected the outcome drastically had he simply raised two hearts to three, or even had he bid two spades. After either action, North-South could hardly have arrived at three notrump, and it is extremely doubtful that they would ever have reached five clubs.

Part of the fascination of bridge lies in attempting to obtain the maximum result on every deal, even though all players realize that this goal is impossible to attain. But there's a lot of fun and challenge in trying to achieve that impossible dream.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	2 ♥	Pass	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
3 NT	Pass	Pass	Dble

Opening lead — queen of hearts.

The best players play well, but they don't necessarily achieve the perfection they could attain if they saw all four hands.

For example, take this deal where all four players would have bid or played differently had they had the advantage of seeing each other's cards throughout.

North had no convenient bid over West's weak jump overcall of two hearts, but when he passed and his partner showed a good hand by bidding three clubs, North indicated potential game prospects by cuebidding the adverse suit. South read this as showing a heart stopper and, after accepting North's invitation to bid three notrump, he stood his ground when East doubled.

West led a heart and South ran like a bunny with nine tricks. He could have made two overtricks by guessing which way to take the diamond finesse, but he quite properly settled for three notrump doubled.

Of course, had West been sufficiently inspired to lead the king and another spade, the contract would have failed. But then again, had North-South seen all the hands, they would have bid five clubs, which could not be defeated.

As for East, he surely would have affected the outcome drastically had he simply raised two hearts to three, or even had he bid two spades. After either action, North-South could hardly have arrived at three notrump, and it is extremely doubtful that they would ever have reached five clubs.

Part of the fascination of bridge lies in attempting to obtain the maximum result on every deal, even though all players realize that this goal is impossible to attain. But there's a lot of fun and challenge in trying to achieve that impossible dream.

'The King And Us'

"And that final irony, that the King should indict himself with his own words."

—Paul Conrad

Once upon a time, Richard Nixon, and/or his buddies, compiled an "enemies list."

The name of Paul Conrad, political cartoonist, was on that list.

Nixon et. al. are not living happily ever after.

Paul Conrad is — thanks, in part, to stupid things like "enemies lists," verbal backpedaling, and "sinister forces theories."

When you think about it, the whole Watergate imbroglio was a cartoonist's dream. During the past several years, Nixon and company made it relatively easy for those who earn their bread with pen and sketch pad.

However, a cartoonist who, like Conrad, was able to crystallize the whole affair — to capture the humor, the irony and the tragedy of Watergate — must be classified as something of a master.

Beginning just one day after the Watergate break-in in 1972 and continuing through the resignation of Richard Nixon, Conrad was there, pen and paper in hand. Waiting to record artistically the next faux pas, the next revelation, the next absurdity.

You almost have to see the whole collection of cartoons together in order to realize the full impact of Conrad's remarkably perceptive work. And the recent publication of "The King and Us: Editorial Cartoons by Conrad" (Clymer Publications), makes that possible.

Containing well over 100 cartoons, drawn over a two-year period beginning with the break-in, the book also has a text of sorts: excerpts from the transcripts of the Watergate tapes.

No better narrative could have been written to accompany Conrad's Watergate chronicle.

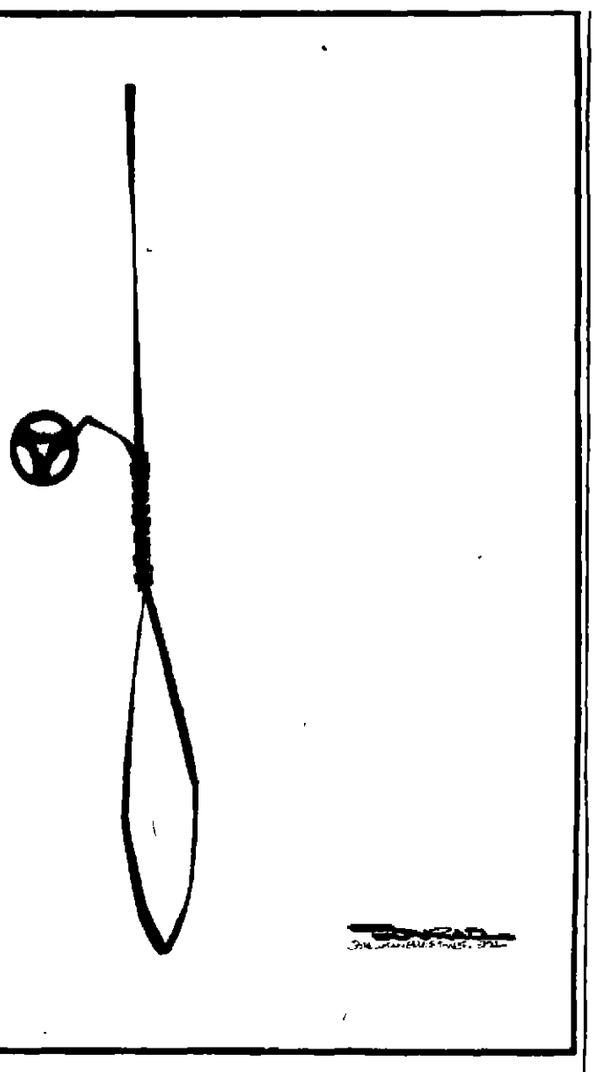

A two-time Pulitzer Prize-winner, whose work is syndicated by the Los Angeles Times, Conrad is one of those cartoonists whose works endure long after this or that era has passed.

To be able to record, in one cartoon, an event or a feeling that takes commentators and historians hundreds of words to describe, implies a type of genius.

And Conrad's particular genius involves more than mere humor and insight. Perhaps more than any other political cartoonist today, he can convey the overwhelming sense of tragedy that ultimately enfolds so many illustrious men.

A good cartoon will make you laugh or chuckle knowingly. A great one will haunt you.

Paul Conrad has had his share of both.

O that I were as great as my grief, or lesser than my name!
Or that I could forget what I have been!
Or not remember what I must be now!

King Richard II, Act III, Scene III

"Now, confidentially speaking . . ."

Two Lincoln Girls Take To The Ice For Candy Drive

The spotlight was on two Lincoln youngsters Thursday during the opening night performance of the Ice Capades.

Representing the Lincoln Council of Camp Fire Girls, Julie Anne Svendsen, fifth grade Adventurer, and Peggy Law, third grade Blue Bird, took to the ice just before intermission.

Their mission was to introduce the five Fenton children, the Ice Capades' young acrobatic team, as honorary chairmen of the council's 1974 candy drive.

The Camp Fire Girls' annual fund-raising project also was kicked off at that time. It runs through Dec. 2.

The Fenton children, ages seven through 15, are in their first staring season with the Ice Capades. The youngsters live in Detroit, Mich., during the off-season.

What Happens In The Weeks After A Rape

What happens to the life style of a woman in the weeks after she has been raped? Does she pick up again and return to normal living?

Much is known about the behavior of a rape victim in the immediate hours after an assault. Hospital personnel and police report she either becomes very emotional — sobbing, crying, showing feelings of fear, anxiety or anger — or she masks her feelings in a calm, subdued manner. A fairly equal number of women react one way or the other.

But little is known about her reactions after she leaves the hospital and concludes her interviews with the police.

Associate professors of nursing and sociology at Boston College have followed up 92 raped women who entered the emergency ward of Boston City Hospital over a one-year period. The researchers, Ann Wolbert Burgess and Lynda Lytle Homstrom, were telephoned day or night and maintained close contact with the victims for months thereafter.

The 92 women included schoolteachers, assembly line workers, secretaries, housekeepers, cocktail waitresses. They ranged in age from 17 to 73 but most were under 30. They covered the gamut of single, married, separated, divorced, widowed as well as women living with men by agreement. Some were pretty, some were plain. Some were dressed in high fashion, some as hippies.

In the weeks after the attack, all engage in coping behavior of one kind or another. Forty-four of the 92 victims changed residence. Some took trips to "get away." Telephone numbers were changed, usually to an unlisted number. There was still the haunting fear that the assailant knew where they were and would come back.

Sleep was a problem. Women who had been suddenly awakened by the assailant frequently found themselves awakening at about the same time as the attack occured. Crying or screaming during sleep were common.

About a third had frightening nightmares about maniacal killers. Curiously, as time went on, the victim in the dream would develop mastery and fight off the assailant.

One woman reported: "I had a knife and I was with the guy and I stabbed him. The knife bent. I did it again and he started to bleed and he died. Then I walked away laughing with the knife in my hand."

Phobic reactions were frequent. Women who were attacked while sleeping in their beds had fear of the indoors. They felt trapped and had startle reactions. The creaking of a window frightened them.

Nausea was common. Sometimes the victims attributed it to the anti-pregnancy medication — the "morning after" diethylstilbestrol hormone received — and at other times to just thinking of the rape. Genitourinary itching, burning and discharge occured. Bleeding and pain were reported by women who had been sodomized.

Normal sexual behavior was disrupted. For women who had been sexually active, fear increased when they were confronted by their husband or boyfriend about resuming relations.

"There are times when I don't want him near me," said one. "I get panicky and I feel like screaming."

Investigators Burgess and Homstrom find that even rape victims who are apparently successfully able to reorganize their life style remain tensely on the alert and focus a large part of their time to perceiving possible threats and protecting themselves.

"On the outside I am ok," said one woman, "but inside I feel that every man is a rapist."

Use Brains In Rape Fight

Common sense and self-assurance are important components of self-defense against rape, Gina Washburn told the more than 60 people at the Student Y Women/Speak program on rape Wednesday afternoon.

And Lincoln police officer Linda Steinman pointed out one case where nerve paid off.

A woman, being closely followed by a man, turned around, faced him and said, "I can't stop you if you're going to rape me, but you better make it good."

The would-be assailant fled.

For those whose assailants who do not flee, Washburn, a member of the Lincoln Coalition Against Rape, offered several suggestions:

—Go for the face with a fist, elbow, nail file, hair pin. And lunge, don't swing.

—Yell "Fire!" not "Help!"

—Bend his joints backwards.

—And when you hit or push, don't be gentle . . . "really get into the guy."

Other speakers at the program destroyed myths surrounding a rape and described police procedures for a rape victim.

"Every woman knows a potential rapist," said Mary Heppner, who said that facts destroy the myth that rapists are "all sex starved deviates."

In about 48% of the rape cases the rapist is a neighbor or close acquaintance of the victim, she said.

In Lincoln only female officers deal with rape victims, according to Officer Steinman, who outlined the typical police procedure.

A woman officer is with the victim at the hospital during the physical examination and does all the interrogation and any later follow-up, she said.

The procedure includes a complete physical at the hospital, looking through photographs or helping to make a composite picture of the assailant at the police station and questioning "two or three times during the evening."

This intense questioning is necessary so that police have the complete story, not only for later court testimony, but also to develop an MO (mode of operation) of the assailant, she said.

POSTCARD

San Francisco — I flew up from Los Angeles on PSA. A non nonsense airline, it sells you a ticket without writing or stamping anything on it. No credit cards — they take cash. Tear off a ticket that is good one time, either way, between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

This is an airline for male chauvinists. The stewardesses are leggy chiclets — when PSA made the uniforms, they didn't overspend on material. All of them look like they'd stepped off the stage at Las Vegas and were still in costume.

It was a smooth flight. The male chauvinist pigs chewed contentedly on their martini olives.

(I only do this because it froths up Women's Libbers. They've been picking on me lately. The paper tiger strikes again!)

☆ ☆ ☆

A big thing liberated females object to is being regarded as "sex objects." (What the objection to this is I don't really dig. Many girls are perked up by an occasional wolf whistle.)

All kinds of complaints come through the mail:

"It is obvious you are another of those self-satisfied male chauvinist pigs etc."

If I wrote a ship story saying: "Man overboard!", they would scream I should have said "Person overboard!" (If we only let men fall overboard, it's discrimination.)

☆ ☆ ☆

Let me tell you why Women's Lib blew the whistle on me this time. I was writing about carving a jack o'lantern pumpkin.

How I learned it from my grandfather who learned it from his grandfather. Now I'm teaching my son this generation-to-generation art.

I said: "It's man's work. Ladies should stay out of the kitchen or they might get cut."

☆ ☆ ☆

Holy cow! (I don't mean a sex object cow. Just a person cow.) You'd think I'd suggested something unmentionable. (But what is unmentionable these days?)

Anyway, it was like I'd pinched them in a crowded elevator or something.

They wrote me I was a male chauvinist pig. And my grandfather was a male chauvinist pig. And so was his grandfather. And my son, too.

"A new day is here, pig! Women have struck off the chains with which pigs like you enslaved them for thousands of years!"

They said who the hell was I to say women should get out of the kitchen? (I thought part of the new freedom was to get out of the kitchen.)

"How arrogant! So you think silly pumpkin carving — which shows your immaturity! — is exclusively man's domain. Let me tell you—."

Then she told me — several pages worth.

☆ ☆ ☆

So help me, I was blamed for years of withholding voting rights. And for a lot of females getting pregnant who didn't want to be.

They guessed I was the type who always seemed free enough to me. I wasn't going around trying to handcuff some iron maidens.

"Ignorance is no excuse." And when the brickbats fly, innocent bystanders get clobbered.

Bandit Leaves Wreckage Trail Behind Bus Ride

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — A transit bus bandit left a trail of four smashed cars, a crumbled corner of a building, a demolished 20-foot fence and a crooked power pole before police arrested him.

"I'm sorry," Charles Dahl told police as he stepped out of the wrecked Rapid Transit District bus. Power lines dangled around him — a reminder of his abrupt halt against a utility pole.

Dahl, 27, of this Los Angeles suburb, was booked for investigation of grand theft and felony drunk driving. Bail was set at $1,000.

Officers said the bus had been left unoccupied when the driver went to lunch.

It was a smooth flight. The male chauvinist pigs chewed contentedly on their martini olives.

(I only do this because it froths up Women's Libbers. They've been picking on me lately. The paper tiger strikes again!)

☆ ☆ ☆

A big thing liberated females object to is being regarded as "sex objects." (What the objection to this is I don't really dig. Many girls are perked up by an occasional wolf whistle.)

All kinds of complaints come through the mail:

"It is obvious you are another of those self-satisfied male chauvinist pigs etc."

If I wrote a ship story saying: "Man overboard!", they would scream I should have said "Person overboard!" (If we only let men fall overboard, it's discrimination.)

☆ ☆ ☆

Let me tell you why Women's Lib blew the whistle on me this time. I was writing about carving a jack o'lantern pumpkin.

How I learned it from my grandfather who learned it from his grandfather. Now I'm teaching my son this generation-to-generation art.

I said: "It's man's work. Ladies should stay out of the kitchen or they might get cut."

☆ ☆ ☆

Holy cow! (I don't mean a sex object cow. Just a person cow.) You'd think I'd suggested something unmentionable. (But what is unmentionable these days?)

Anyway, it was like I'd pinched them in a crowded elevator or something.

They wrote me I was a male chauvinist pig. And my grandfather was a male chauvinist pig. And so was his grandfather. And my son, too.

"A new day is here, pig! Women have struck off the chains with which pigs like you enslaved them for thousands of years!"

They said who the hell was I to say women should get out of the kitchen? (I thought part of the new freedom was to get out of the kitchen.)

"How arrogant! So you think silly pumpkin carving — which shows your immaturity! — is exclusively man's domain. Let me tell you—."

Then she told me — several pages worth.

☆ ☆ ☆

So help me, I was blamed for years of withholding voting rights. And for a lot of females getting pregnant who didn't want to be.

They guessed I was the type who always seemed free enough to me. I wasn't going around trying to handcuff some iron maidens.

"Ignorance is no excuse." And when the brickbats fly, innocent bystanders get clobbered.

Bandit Leaves Wreckage Trail Behind Bus Ride

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — A transit bus bandit left a trail of four smashed cars, a crumbled corner of a building, a demolished 20-foot fence and a crooked power pole before police arrested him.

"I'm sorry," Charles Dahl told police as he stepped out of the wrecked Rapid Transit District bus. Power lines dangled around him — a reminder of his abrupt halt against a utility pole.

Dahl, 27, of this Los Angeles suburb, was booked for investigation of grand theft and felony drunk driving. Bail was set at $1,000.

Officers said the bus had been left unoccupied when the driver went to lunch.

What Happens In The Weeks After A Rape

What happens to the life style of a woman in the weeks after she has been raped? Does she pick up again and return to normal living?

Much is known about the behavior of a rape victim in the immediate hours after an assault. Hospital personnel and police report she either becomes very emotional — sobbing, crying, showing feelings of fear, anxiety or anger — or she masks her feelings in a calm, subdued manner. A fairly equal number of women react one way or the other.

But little is known about her reactions after she leaves the hospital and concludes her interviews with the police.

Associate professors of nursing and sociology at Boston College have followed up 92 raped women who entered the emergency ward of Boston City Hospital over a one-year period The researchers, Ann Wolbert Burgess and Lynda Lytle Homstrom, were telephoned day or night and maintained close contact with the victims for months thereafter.

The 92 women included schoolteachers, assembly line workers, secretaries, housekeepers, cocktail waitresses. They ranged in age from 17 to 73 but most were under 30. They covered the gamut of single, married, separated, divorced, widowed as well as women living with men by agreement. Some were pretty, some were plain. Some were dressed in high fashion, some as hippies.

In the weeks after the attack, all engage in coping behavior of one kind or another. Forty-four of the 92 victims changed residence. Some took trips to "get away." Telephone numbers were changed, usually to an unlisted number. There was still the haunting fear that the assailant knew where they were and would come back.

Sleep was a problem. Women who had been suddenly awakened by the assailant frequently found themselves awakening at about the same time as the attack occured. Crying or screaming during sleep were common.

About a third had frightening nightmares about maniacal killers. Curiously, as time went on, the victim in the dream would develop mastery and fight off the assailant.

One woman reported: "I had a knife and I was with the guy and I stabbed him. The knife bent. I did it again and he started to bleed and he died. Then I walked away laughing with the knife in my hand."

Phobic reactions were frequent. Women who were attacked while sleeping in their beds had fear of the indoors. They felt trapped and had startle reactions. The creaking of a window frightened them.

Nausea was common. Sometimes the victims attributed it to the anti-pregnancy medication — the "morning after" diethylstilbestrol hormone received — and at other times to just thinking of the rape. Genitourinary itching, burning and discharge occured. Bleeding and pain were reported by women who had been sodomized.

Normal sexual behavior was disrupted. For women who had been sexually active, fear increased when they were confronted by their husband or boyfriend about resuming relations.

"There are times when I don't want him near me," said one. "I get panicky and I feel like screaming."

Investigators Burgess and Homstrom find that even rape victims who are apparently successfully able to reorganize their life style remain tensely on the alert and focus a large part of their time to perceiving possible threats and protecting themselves.

"On the outside I am ok," said one woman, "but inside I feel that every man is a rapist."

Use Brains In Rape Fight

Common sense and self-assurance are important components of self-defense against rape, Gina Washburn told the more than 60 people at the Student Y Women/Speak program on rape Wednesday afternoon.

And Lincoln police officer Linda Steinman pointed out one case where nerve paid off.

A woman, being closely followed by a man, turned around, faced him and said, "I can't stop you if you're going to rape me, but you better make it good."

The would-be assailant fled.

For those whose assailants who do not flee, Washburn, a member of the Lincoln Coalition Against Rape, offered several suggestions

—Go for the face with a fist, elbow, nail file, hair pin. And lunge, don't swing

—Yell "Fire!" not "Help!"

—Bend his joints backwards.

—And when you hit or push, don't be gentle . . . "really get into the guy"

Other speakers at the program destroyed myths surrounding a rape and described police procedures for a rape victim

"Every woman knows a potential rapist," said Mary Heppner, who said that facts destroy the myth that rapists are "all sex starved deviates."

In about 48% of the rape cases the rapist is a neighbor or close acquaintance of the victim, she said

In Lincoln only female officers deal with rape victims, according to Officer Steinman, who outlined the typical police procedure.

A woman officer is with the victim at the hospital during the physical examination and does all the interrogation and any later follow-up, she said.

The procedure includes a complete physical at the hospital, looking through photographs or helping to make a composite picture of the assailant at the police station and questioning "two or three times during the evening"

This intense questioning is necessary so that police have the complete story, not only for later court testimony, but also to develop an MO (mode of operation) of the assailant, she said.

Cancer who has showcased astrology: Merv Griffin. Capricorn who knows his astrology: George Foreman. Capricorn who has had astrology demonstrated to him: Muhammad Ali.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): New Moon position emphasizes investments, money of partner or mate, tax and insurance propositions. You may have special delings with accountant. Cancer, Capricorn individuals figure prominently. Avoid commitment which could inhibit cash flow.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Refuse to be painted into corner. Check legal aspects. Consult expert. Highlight flexibility. You soon will want to expand — know it, consider it and don't affix signature to restricting agreement.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Be specific about services desired and required. Your employment, health are areas which are spotlighted. Aquarius, Leo and Scorpio persons may be in picture. Don't quibble — get assignment under way. You will be rewarded for efforts despite gloomy predictions of jealous associate.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Deal with creative side of your own nature. Means don't deny life force within — and, in turn, this means that you must give, express, imprint, be aware and be worthy of your own worth. Message should become increasingly clear with aid of young person!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Home, property, props necessary for security — these are emphasized. Family members want luxury items: Consider budget and know when to be firm. Otherwise, you mix money and sentimentality and lose out in all areas. Good news helps resolve domestic conflict.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): What seems a "divine inspiration" may be very earthy and the result of fatigue, drugs or overindulgence. Be realistic. Accent is on ideas, relatives, visits, neighbors and short journeys. Avoid spreading yourself too thin.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Accent is on money and how it gets that way. Many will be interested in your response, findings. Investments, responsibilities and rewards are featured. You also could become inextricably involved with person who intrigues, promises and is capable of delivering.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Cycle is such that you ring bell of accuracy. Means your judgment is on target. You can take initiative and be assured of degree of success. Aries, Libra individuals figure prominently. You gain added recognition by expanding sphere of activity.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Look behind the scenes. Get inside hospital, rest home, institution, special organization. Do your own investigating. You are in position now to have a say in formation of policy. Do so and be enthusaistic about it!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Emphasis is on what you desire, how you respond to affection. You don't get everything you want, but at least you discover what you need. Cancer, Capricorn persons could be in picture. Take course that has been proven. Means be conservative!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): What appeared foolish could turn out to be workable. One "in charge" is impressed and you may be in line for added responsibility, pressure and money. Display humor, versatility. Gemini, Sagittarius persons are involved.

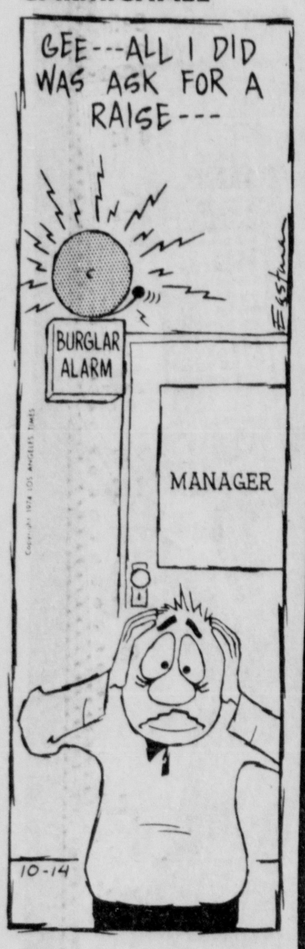

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): What you seek may seem far away. However, you can stimulate lines of communication. The world is smaller than you might currently imagine. One you loved is thinking about you. You have not been forgotten!

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are lively, have great intellectual curiosity, love to act, write and probe thoughts of others. Gemini, Virgo persons play important roles in your life. You have, this year, started something and you should finish it. A Leo has helped change your lifestyle.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Thursday

Aries who surprised me with his knowledge of literature: George Jessel. Capricorn who continues as master writer, painter and warm human being: Henry Miller. Libran I can do without: Dr. Joyce Brothers. Libran who delights: Jayne Meadows. Libran who is a friend of astrology: Angie Dickinson. Aquarian who speaks up for astrology: Forrest Tucker. Cancer who has showcased astrology: Merv Griffin. Capricorn who knows his astrology: George Foreman. Capricorn who has had astrology demonstrated to him: Muhammad Ali.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): New Moon position emphasizes investments, money of partner or mate, tax and insurance propositions. You may have special delings with accountant. Cancer, Capricorn individuals figure prominently. Avoid commitment which could inhibit cash flow.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Refuse to be painted into corner. Check legal aspects. Consult expert. Highlight flexibility. You soon will want to expand — know it, consider it and don't affix signature to restricting agreement.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Be specific about services desired and required. Your employment, health are areas which are spotlighted. Aquarius, Leo and Scorpio persons may be in picture. Don't quibble — get assignment under way. You will be rewarded for efforts despite gloomy predictions of jealous associate.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Deal with creative side of your own nature. Means don't deny life force within — and, in turn, this means that you must give, express, imprint, be aware and be worthy of your own worth. Message should become increasingly clear with aid of young person!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Home, property, props necessary for security — these are emphasized. Family members want luxury items: Consider budget and know when to be firm. Otherwise, you mix money and sentimentality and lose out in all areas. Good news helps resolve domestic conflict.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): What seems a "divine inspiration" may be very earthy and the result of fatigue, drugs or overindulgence. Be realistic. Accent is on ideas, relatives, visits, neighbors and short journeys. Avoid spreading yourself too thin.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Accent is on money and how it gets that way. Many will be interested in your response, findings. Investments, responsibilities and rewards are featured. You also could become inextricably involved with person who intrigues, promises and is capable of delivering.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Cycle is such that you ring bell of accuracy. Means your judgment is on target. You can take initiative and be assured of degree of success. Aries, Libra individuals figure prominently. You gain added recognition by expanding sphere of activity.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Look behind the scenes. Get inside hospital, rest home, institution, special organization. Do your own investigating. You are in position now to have a say in formation of policy. Do so and be enthusiastic about it!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Emphasis is on what you desire, how you respond to affection. You don't get everything you want, but at least you discover what you need. Cancer, Capricorn persons could be in picture. Take course that has been proven. Means be conservative!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): What appeared foolish could turn out to be workable. One "in charge" is impressed and you may be in line for added responsibility, pressure and money. Display humor, versatility. Gemini, Sagittarius persons are involved.

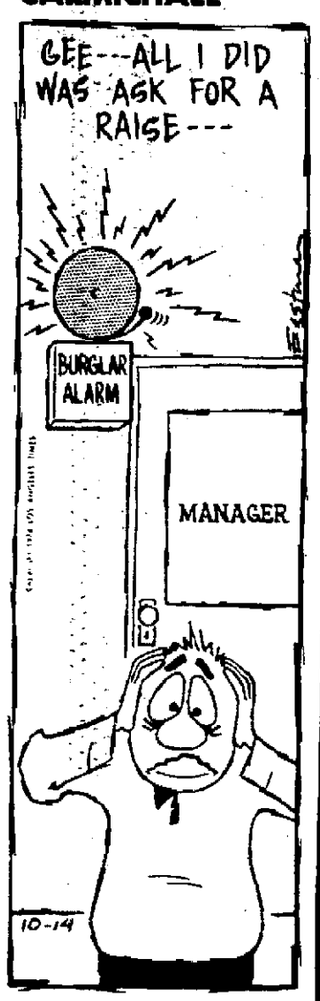

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): What you seek may seem far away. However, you can stimulate lines of communication. The world is smaller than you might currently imagine. One you loved is thinking about you. You have not been forgotten!

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are lively, have great intellectual curiosity, love to act, write and probe thoughts of others. Gemini, Virgo persons play important roles in your life. You have, this year, started something and you should finish it. A Leo has helped change your lifestyle.

Elkhorn Stops Waverly, 12-7

By CHUCK SINCLAIR
Prep Sports Writer

Waverly — A bitter North wind wasn't enough to snuff out a late Elkhorn rally here Wednesday night as sixth-rated Waverly's dreams of an unbeaten season burst with the Vikings dropping a 12-7 Capitol Conference championship decision in the last minute.

Playing on a snowy field in 27-degree temperatures, Elkhorn's Dave Bull blasted in from one yard out with less than 30 seconds to play to put the Antlers ahead for the first time, 12-7.

The score followed a 40-yard drive after Waverly punter Ed VandeHoef shanked one off the side of his foot for 13 yards.

Elkhorn quarterback Stan Clanton opened the series with a 16-yard-aerial strike to halfback Bull to the Vikings' 24 yard line.

Bull then carried twice for another 9 yards to the 14.

On third and one, Clanton tried to surprise the Viking secondary with a pass. Receiver Rod Paasch, was wide open at the one, but the Clanton pass was just out of reach.

With fourth and one, Antler coach Bill Patton called on offensive workhorse Wyatt Schroeder. Apparently stopped at the line, Schroeder fought and, through second effort, lunged for a four-yard gain to the Waverly 10.

With first and goal from the ten, Clanton went back to Paasch on the same play as before, this time the throw was perfect and Paasch was stopped by Max Poppen at the one.

Bull scored on the next play on a dive over the right side. The two point conversion failed and Waverly had just 27 seconds to work with.

An onside squib-kick by Elkhorn was bobbled by Waverly's Dan Hill and Hoe Moylan fell on it to preserve the upset victory.

The game ending fumble was typical of the ball-handling. Waverly fumbled six times, loosing five, while Elkhorn dropped four, but lost only two.

Clanton threw two interceptions, completing six of thirteen, while Waverly failed on all seven attempts and suffered one interception.

Waverly's only touchdown came on the Vikings' first series of the second half. Elkhorn was held to fourth down on its 25 and punter Schroeder couldn't find the handle on the snap. Mike Bauer came in to block the punt and a teammate fell on it at the one-yard-line.

Quarterback VandeHoef scored on a keeper on the next play with 10:02 left in the third quarter.

Well into the fourth quarter, the Vikings' turnovers began to plague them. Two plays after an Elkhorn turnover, Waverly reciprocated when Poppen fumbled on the Vikings' 38 yard line.

Elkhorn used eight ground plays, with 30 yards coming from Schroeder in three carries, before Bull scored from two yards out, setting the stage for the wild finish.

Patton credited his defense with outstanding play forcing the Waverly turnovers. Fred Villwok and Bob O'Dell were singled out by Patton for their efforts keeping Waverly's VandeHoef on his back most of the night when the Vikings protection broke down.

Both Villwok and O'Dell were credited with two sacks in addition to 16 unassisted tackles and 15 assists between them.

Patton claimed this year's team as his best in eight years of coaching as they handed him his 50th career win.

Elkhorn's only blemishes in a 7-1-1 season were handed them via a tie with Platteview and a loss to Raymond Central.

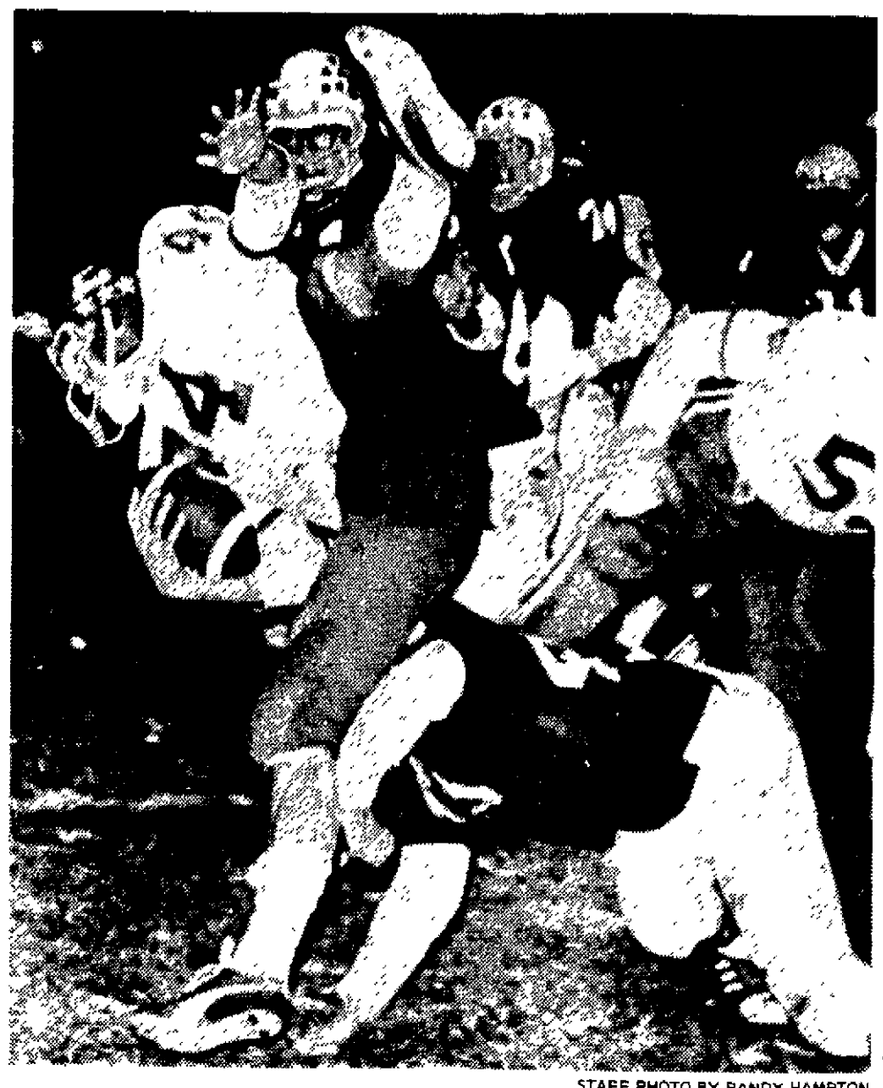

Waverly coach Randy Hash was proud of his team's effort throughout the season. "I'm extremely proud of these kids for the season they had. If anyone had told me before it started that we were only going to lose one ball game, I'd have told him he was crazy."

"We just suffered from some poor execution tonight," he added. "But you can't take a thing away from this Elkhorn team. They really took advantage of the opportunities."

Waverly finished at 7-1-2.

Ramsbottom Passing Boosts Hebron, 13-7

By DAVE SITTLER

Hebron — Bouyed by the pinpoint passing of quarterback Tom Ramsbottom and a rugged defense, underdog Hebron captured the Southern Nebraska Conference championship here Wednesday night by downing Wymore Southern, 13-7.

Ramsbottom, a 5-11 155-pound senior, led the Class C No. 6-rated Bears to victory over the fifth-ranked Raiders as he hit two first-half scoring strikes of 43 and 9 yards to end Tim Else and halfback Kevin Saathoff, respectively.

Wymore Southern, loser to only Class B opponents Auburn and Hickman-Norris, never really stood a chance against the inspired Bears as Ramsbottom picked the Raider defense apart all night with his passing.

Ramsbottom got Hebron on the scoreboard late in the first quarter when he hit Saathoff who snared the aerial from two defenders at the 20 and raced unmolested in the end zone to give Hebron a 6-0 advantage.

John Miller then booted the extra point with 47 seconds remaining in the first quarter for a 7-0 Bear lead.

After both teams were unable to sustain serious scoring drives throughout the second quarter, Ramsbottom connected with what proved to be the winning score with his nine-yard pitch to Saathoff with only 44 seconds left in the first half.

Saathoff's touchdown culminated a nine-play, 63-yard drive by the Bears who finished the season with a 92 record compared to Wymore's 7-2 mark.

The drive was highlighted by a 13-yard pass completion from Ramsbottom to senior end Dick Werner on a crucial third-and-ten situation at the Hebron 37-yard-line.

That kept a Bear drive alive and sent them into the halftime ahead 13-0 before a frost-bitten crowd of 1,500.

Coach Tim Logsdon's Raiders finally scored when senior workhorse running back Mark Wenzl burst off right tackle on a 41-yard scoring jaunt in the third period.

The scoring drive with 5:42 left in the third period climaxed a four-play, 69-yard drive that was the only substantial Wymore scoring thrust of the championship affair.

Kirk Nidy booted the extra point to pull Wymore within 13-7 which was as close as the favored Raiders came all night.

"It was a simple streak pattern," noted winning coach Bob Fuller of the opening 43-yard scoring pass. "We were confident we could pass against Wymore Southern after scouting them."

Fuller, who led Farnam to an eight-man football championship two years ago, completely turned the Hebron around in only two years.

After a dismal 1-8 season last year, Fuller installed a wishbone offensive attack and led the Bears to their first conference championship in three years.

Nebraska City Sophs Topple Auburn, 18-0

By TOM VINT

Auburn — A fired-up bunch of young Nebraska City sophomores sparked a failing Pioneer season all the way to the Twin Rivers Conference Championship here Friday night.

After losing three early games, coach Richard Birdsley called upon his "super sophs" to turn his club around en route to a 5-4-1 season record and an 18-0 Twin Rivers Conference playoff victory over 7-3 Auburn Wednesday night on the Bulldogs' home field.

Nebraska City's potent wishbone offense, headed by sophomore quarterback Kim Reuter and sophomore fullback Jamie Gruber, trampled an Auburn defense which had blanked Nebraska City, 21-0, earlier in the season. The Pioneers totaled 252 yards on 62 carries to dominate the offensive performance in the Southeastern Nebraska Class B playoff.

After a scoreless first quarter, Reuter connected on a 32-yard pass to senior halfback Jeff Thurman to put Nebraska City in the lead. With 4:54 left in the first half. Glen Edmisten's extra point kick failed.

Neither team challenged again offensively until Nebraska City mounted a 62-yard drive shortly after intermission period.

Reuter took the ball over from the one-yard-line to score with 4:23 left in the third quarter and give the Nebraska City youngsters an insurmountable emotional edge.

Auburn's one chance in scoring territory came in the final seconds of the third quarter when a high snap on a fourth-down punt attempt by the Pioneers gave Auburn the ball on the Nebraska City 18.

However, the Pioneer defense, led by Rich Eacret, John Golden, Reuter and Thurman, pushed the Bulldogs back to the 20 and took over on downs.

Nebraska City then put together an 80-yard-drive to run out much of the clock in scoring the third touchdown. John Orton carried over from the seven to end the scoring.

It was the first appearance for coach Lloyd Maskell's Auburn club and for Birdsley's Nebraska City team in the conference playoff. Auburn was also handicapped by the losses of three standout players, quarterback Denis Lessor, I-back Rick Cole and tackle Russ Harms — all out with injuries.

Auburn managed only 75 yards rushing and 102 total offense against the vastly improved Pioneers.

Nebraska City	0	6	6	6—18

No. Platte Gymnasts Eye Title

North Platte launches its bid to become the first "outstate" gymnastics champion in 14 years Thursday in the Boy's State Gymnastics Championships at Lincoln High's Johnson Gym.

The Trans-Nebraska conference and district champion Platters, led by all-around ace Jon Borden, are hoping to end a long-standing Lincoln-Omaha domination in the meet.

Hastings, winner of the inaugural state prep gymnastics meet in 1940, was the last "outstate" team to triumph with back-to-back state titles in 1959-1960.

The team title will be determined Thursday with sessions starting at 1 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. Individual champions will be crowned Friday with competition starting at 7 p.m.

Eight schools are in the running for Thursday's team title, having finished as either champion or runner-up in last week's four district meets.

Lincoln East, Lincoln Southeast, North Platte, Grand Island, Omaha Burke, Omaha Westside, Omaha Northwest and Omaha South are the eight teams in line for the team championship. In all, 22 schools will be represented.

Competition Thursday at 1 p.m. includes the long horse, floor exercise, sidehorse and horizontal bar. The evening session includes competition in trampoline, parallel bars, and still rings.

Among top all-around competitors are East's Tracy Turner, Southeast's Kirk Fridrich, Millard's Ric Heineman, Creighton Prep's Tom Swoboda and Burke's Rich Tomasello.

Waverly To Defend Crown

By CRAIG MATTHESEN
Special To Star

Scottsbluff — The obstacle sitting in the path may resemble "The Great Wall of China." It seems immovable and there is no going around it.

Waverly, defending state champion for the past two years, is the barrier for the other seven entries in the Class B State Volleyball Tournament which runs Friday and Saturday at Nebraska Western.

The Vikings enter this year's tourney with a perfect 13-0 record, but more impressively have been undefeated in their last 65 matches.

The team is top seeded and the Class B favorite. Needless to say, the visitors from Eastern Nebraska possess a great deal of pride and tradition.

This year's team has survived on its latter two attributes. Only two starters from last year's championship team return in 5-7 Lucy Axberg, top spiker, and Diane Oealerking, setter.

Coach Karen Stoner, who was an assistant last year, says this team differs from the previous two.

"The two teams before had played together since they were freshman," states Mrs. Stoner. "This year's team hadn't worked together as long and you could tell it at the beginning of the year, but they are coming along now."

Stoner could not name a team which she feels may jeopardize the winning string which has encompassed three years. Like all the coaches she had not seen the other entries play this year.

One top contender may lie just 10 miles down the road from the tournament site. Mitchell also makes its third successive trip to state. Last year the Tigers were beaten by Waverly in the semifinals and the year before they won the Class C state title.

Mitchell, with 137 girls, is the smallest school entered in Class B. The school is just five girls from being classified as Class C.

The Tigers are coached by Cid Coffee, who is in her first coaching assignment. Miss Coffee feels her team has as good of individual talent as any team in the tournament, but must have teamwork to be effective.

"Everybody on the team knows how to play the game, the hardest thing I've had is getting them to work together," states the recent Chadron State graduate.

The Tigers enter with a 14-3 season record and may have one of the tallest teams in the tourney. The starting lineup includes Laurie Thomas, 5-10, Melody Brown, 5-2, Teri Kaufman, 5-11, Sally Pieper, 5-6, Holly Jones, 5-9, and Pam Andreas, 5-10.

Thomas, Pieper and Andreas were starters last year. Thomas is the team's leading scorer and a tremendous server. She served 45 points in the district. Andreas is the top spiker and Pieper is a good all-around player.

Mitchell and Waverly cannot meet in the state finals. The two are on same side of the brackets and could meet in the semifinals: a fact which brings revenge to the eyes of the Tigers.

Mitchell meets Pierce (18-4) in the first round at 8 p.m. Friday night while Waverly is pitted against Columbus Lakeview (10-6) at 9:15 p.m.

The other first-round games on Friday night have Broken Bow facing Loup City at 5:30 and Norris vs. Omaha Mercy at 6:45.

Pierce and Loup City join Waverly and Mitchell as returning teams from last year's state show.

Filipinos Hit Little League 'Expulsion'

MANILA (AP) — The president of the Little League Baseball Philippines criticized the Little League International today for allowing only American teams to compete in the Little League World Series.

Rodolfo Tingzon, LLBP president, said this move is "unfair to us Asians" and "a big blow to sport."

In a statement, Tingzon said: "I think it is not sportsmanlike for the Americans to do this. It is also unfair to us Asians, especially to the Filipinos who almost beat Taiwan in the last Far East Little League Baseball Tournament."

The Philippines is one of the members of the Far East Little League which included Guam, Hong Kong, Japan, Taiwan and South Korea.

He also said despite "bad news" from Williamsport, Pa., officials of LLBP will continue with the same endeavor to promote this sport for youth development.

Suelter Paces Ord Past Crete, 42-19

By RANDY YORK
Prep Sports Editor

Crete — Greg Suelter didn't waste much time to pass the credit here Wednesday night after sparking Ord to a 42-19 win over Crete in the Central 10 Conference football playoff.

Suelter, who rushed 42 times for 228 yards to finish the season with 2,008 yards, wanted to nominate ten teammates for player of the week honors.

"I mean it, they deserve the credit. They should get it. You can't rush for 2,000 yards without super blocking and a lot of times I'm running through some gaping holes," Suelter offered.

The six-foot, 185-pound senior scored three touchdowns as Class B's fourth-ranked Chanticleers registered their ninth win against one loss.

The setback was second ranked Crete's first in a 6-1-3 season. The Cardinals, for all practical purposes, were never in the contest.

Crete suffered through an error-plagued 28-0 first half deficit before coming back after intermission to make the final count respectable.

Both first year Ord coach Fran Hummel and Crete coach Larry Frost agreed that Suelter's efficiency in a high-powered wishbone attack was the difference.

"Greg amazes our coaching staff every time he takes the field," Hummel said. "He's an amazingly conditioned athlete. He not only is able to run 40 times a game. He also plays our power safety (equivalent to a linebacker) on defense the whole game."

"As far as I'm concerned," Crete's Frost said, "Suelter is far and away the best football player I've seen this year. He's the kind of guy that gives an opposing coach nightmares."

Suelter rushed for 124 yards on 13 carries in the first quarter alone. Included was a 39-yard touchdown sprint, which gave Ord a 14-0 lead with 5:38 remaining.

Hummel noted that Suelter's 42 carries against Crete were not a season high. "He ran 46 times for more than 200 yards against Central City," pointed out Hummel.

Suelter reeled off the names of every offensive teammate in the locker room after the impressive win.

"These guys have been tremendous all season. We think we're the best Class B team in the state," Suelter said, citing offensive linemen Bill Karre (center), guards Terry Chloupa and Craig Clement, tackles Jim Hruby and Greg Kellhoff, tight end Doug Peterson and split end Steve Wolf.

"There's no way to forget the rest of our backs either," reminded Suelter while praising quarterback Bill Gogan, fullback Bob Martin and halfback Tom Clement.

"Martin has only scored one touchdown this season, but he's been a big part of Greg's getting 2,000 yards," Hummel said. "Martin is a straight-A student and he doesn't care if he scores. He'd rather supply the lead block. He knows two plays — bang right and bang left!"

Suelter showed his versatility in the last quarter intercepting a Bob Quick pass and returning it 41 yards for a touchdown.

Although Suelter's 228 yards rushing was the highlight, Crete's Mike Parks also played well, rushing 21 times for 98 yards.

Crete was forced into its passing game in the second quarter after falling behind early. The Cardinals completed 16 of 42 for 182 yards with four interceptions. Ord's wishbone clicked for 359 yards rushing.

"I guess this game is like anything else in life. When you get a real bad start, sometimes there's just no way to recover," moaned Frost. "I guess I was surprised most with the way their offensive line just completely handled our defensive line. That's the first time we haven't controlled the line of scrimmage all season."

Frost was pleased with juniors Scott Crees and senior Fred Brandt. Crees caught six passes for 108 yards and Brandt a linebacker, was in on 18 tackles and recovered two fumbles.

Injury Slows Bonness

By Associated Press

Rik Bonness, Nebraska's All-American candidate at center, was still a question mark for Saturday's Kansas State game following practice Wednesday.

Bonness, a junior, broke several bones in his right hand in last Saturday's Husker win over Iowa State, but he hasn't been practicing with the first team this week.

"He (Bonness) probably could snap left-handed, but Rich Duda has been working out with the first unit this week," coach Tom Osborne said.

Osborne said he will wait until just before game time Saturday to make a decision on whether Bonness will be a starter in the middle of the Husker offensive line.

Ritch Bahe, nursing pulled hamstring muscles suffered against Colorado, was still not at full speed during Wednesday's practice, and may not start Saturday when the Huskers host the Wildcats, according to Osborne.

"He'll (Bahe) have to be running pretty well by tomorrow (Thursday) for him to start Saturday," said Osborne. "Then again, he may not play at all, it's hard to say."

The Huskers worked out for about 1 hour 45 minutes Wednesday, the defense staying outdoors in the 30-degree temperatures the entire time, the offense getting a break by moving indoors for the last 15 minutes of the session.

It was also announced that Nebraska's team headquarters for the Sugar Bowl will be the Fountainbleau Hotel in New Orleans.

Scribner Hands Wayne First Loss

By BOB MOYER

Scribner — Scribner overcame punting woes to defeat scrappy Wayne 13-6 here Wednesday night in the Husker Conference playoffs.

The win gave the No. 1-ranked Class C Trojans a perfect 11-0 mark on the season, while Wayne, rated No. 10 in Class B, fell to 10-1.

Scribner had three fouled up punts in the game, causing the Trojans to often have poor field position.

"It's my fault," said Scribner head football coach Dick Tingelhoff. "Our center (Greg Hoge) had his fingers stepped on early in the game and he couldn't grip the ball properly. But we didn't notice it until after the game was over, and he never said anything about it."

That made it a long night for Jay Muller, whose very first punt early in the first quarter was blocked, giving Wayne an excellent chance to take an early lead in the game.

Wayne took over on Scribner's 25-yard line, but the Trojans' defense, as it turned out to be all night, proved up for the task and held the Blue Devils with a missed 23-yard field goal.

Paul Steil gave Scribner an offensive boost at that point with a 48 yard burst that set up the Trojans' first TD.

That came on a 22-yard razzle-dazzle play which saw Russel Poppe pitch the ball to Muller, who three to Ken Thomas for the score.

Scribner added a second score in the second period when it marched 99 yards on 13 plays, again highlighted by a fine run by Steil, this time for 30 yards. Tim Dahl wound up the drive, scoring from 2 yards out, but this time Thomas' extra point try was wide and Scribner had to settle for a 13-0 halftime lead.

Wayne, which could not muster a first down until 3:38 to go in the second quarter, was not ready to give up however, and twice in the second half mounted good drives that fizzled out on fourth down plays deep in Scribner territory.

It seemed as though Wayne would never be able to score against the rugged Scribner defense, which had allowed only 19 points coming into Wednesday night's game.

But another punt went awry when Hoge's snap went through the legs of Mueller and Mark Brandt recovered the ball in the end zone for a touchdown. However Marty Hansen's extra point try was no good, to give Scribner a 13-6 lead with 8:44 left in the fray.

game on ice following Wayne's score by holding onto the ball until 3:06 to go in the game before having to punt, and then holding Wayne on downs.

But with little over a minute to go, Dahl fumbled the ball and Wayne's Larry Creighton recovered, giving the Blue Devils one last chance.

But it was all for nothing, as the tough Scribner defense held again to insure the victory.

"I'm exhausted. What a year," said Tingelhoff. "You wonder how good you really are. We didn't have the numbers that some of the Class B schools have, but we were very fortunate because we had good talent."

SE Consolidated Prevails, 34-22

By STEVE GILLISPIE

Stella — Unranked Southeast Consolidated took advantage of its ability to bend but never break here Wednesday night to win the biggest game in the school's short history.

The Mustangs beat previously undefeated Louisville, 34-22, to capture the Galaxy Conference title.

In the game between Class C schools, SE Consolidated finished its season at 7-2-1, while the No. 3 rated Lions ended at 9-1.

"We knew our players were mentally ready all week and they really earned this win," Mustangs' coach Russ Sears said.

"We didn't do anything fancy, just run right up the middle and didn't plan on passing much."

The Mustangs' ability to bend and not break was probably best demonstrated in the second quarter.

However, the Mustangs came right back to score two touchdowns to take the lead for good.

Al DeJonge scored for SE Consolidated on a six-yard run with 1:24 left and added the PAT to tie the score, 22-22 all.

Then, on the ensuing kickoff, Tracy Wilke recovered his kick to give the Mustangs the ball on the Lions' 35-yard line.

DeJonge started out by running to the 10 on the first play.

Then on fourth down, quarterback Greg Morris plunged over from the one with 30 seconds left to give his team a 28-22 advantage.

Morris threw a 14-yard touchdown pass to Randy Pryor with 55 seconds to go in the third quarter for some insurance points.

The game started out with Louisville scoring first and then SE Consolidated coming back to tie the score until Morris scored on a one-yard run just before the first half ended

The rest of the game the Lions moved the ball, usually at will, but the Mustangs always stopped any threat near their goal.

Elkhorn Stops Waverly, 12-7

By CHUCK SINCLAIR
Prep Sports Writer

Waverly — A bitter North wind wasn't enough to snuff out a late Elkhorn rally here Wednesday night as sixth-rated Waverly's dreams of an unbeaten season burst with the Vikings dropping a 12-7 Capitol Conference championship decision in the last minute.

Playing on a snowy field in 27-degree temperatures, Elkhorn's Dave Bull blasted in from one yard out with less than 30 seconds to play to put the Antlers ahead for the first time, 12-7.

The score followed a 40-yard drive after Waverly punter Ed VandeHoef shanked one off the side of his foot for 13 yards.

Elkhorn quarterback Stan Clanton opened the series with a 16-yard-aerial strike to halfback Bull to the Vikings' 24 yard line.

Bull then carried twice for another 9 yards to the 14.

On third and one, Clanton tried to surprise the Viking secondary with a pass. Receiver Rod Paasch, was wide open at the one, but the Clanton pass was just out of reach.

With fourth and one, Antler coach Bill Patton called on offensive workhorse Wyatt Schroeder. Apparently stopped at the line, Schroeder fought and, through second effort, lunged for a four-yard gain to the Waverly 10.

With first and goal from the ten, Clanton went back to Paasch on the same play as before, this time the throw was perfect and Paasch was stopped by Max Poppen at the one.

Bull scored on the next play on a dive over the right side. The two point conversion failed and Waverly had just 27 seconds to work with.

An onside squib-kick by Elkhorn was bobbled by Waverly's Dan Hill and Hoe Moylan fell on it to preserve the upset victory.

The game ending fumble was typical of the ball-handling. Waverly fumbled six times, loosing five, while Elkhorn dropped four, but lost only two.

Clanton threw two interceptions, completing six of thirteen, while Waverly failed on all seven attempts and suffered one interception.

Waverly's only touchdown came on the Vikings' first series of the second half. Elkhorn was held to fourth down on its 25 and punter Schroeder couldn't find the handle on the snap. Mike Bauer came in to block the punt and a teammate fell on it at the one-yard-line.

Quarterback VandeHoef scored on a keeper on the next play with 10:02 left in the third quarter.

Well into the fourth quarter, the Vikings' turnovers began to plague them. Two plays after an Elkhorn turnover, Waverly reciprocated when Poppen fumbled on the Vikings' 38 yard line.

Elkhorn used eight ground plays, with 30 yards coming from Schroeder in three carries, before Bull scored from two yards out, setting the stage for the wild finish.

Patton credited his defense with outstanding play forcing the Waverly turnovers. Fred Villwok and Bob O'Dell were singled out by Patton for their efforts keeping Waverly's VandeHoef on his back most of the night when the Vikings protection broke down.

Both Villwok and O'Dell were credited with two sacks in addition to 16 unassisted tackles and 15 assists between them.

Patton claimed this year's team as his best in eight years of coaching as they handed him his 50th career win.

Elkhorn's only blemishes in a 7-1-1 season were handed them via a tie with Platteview and a loss to Raymond Central.

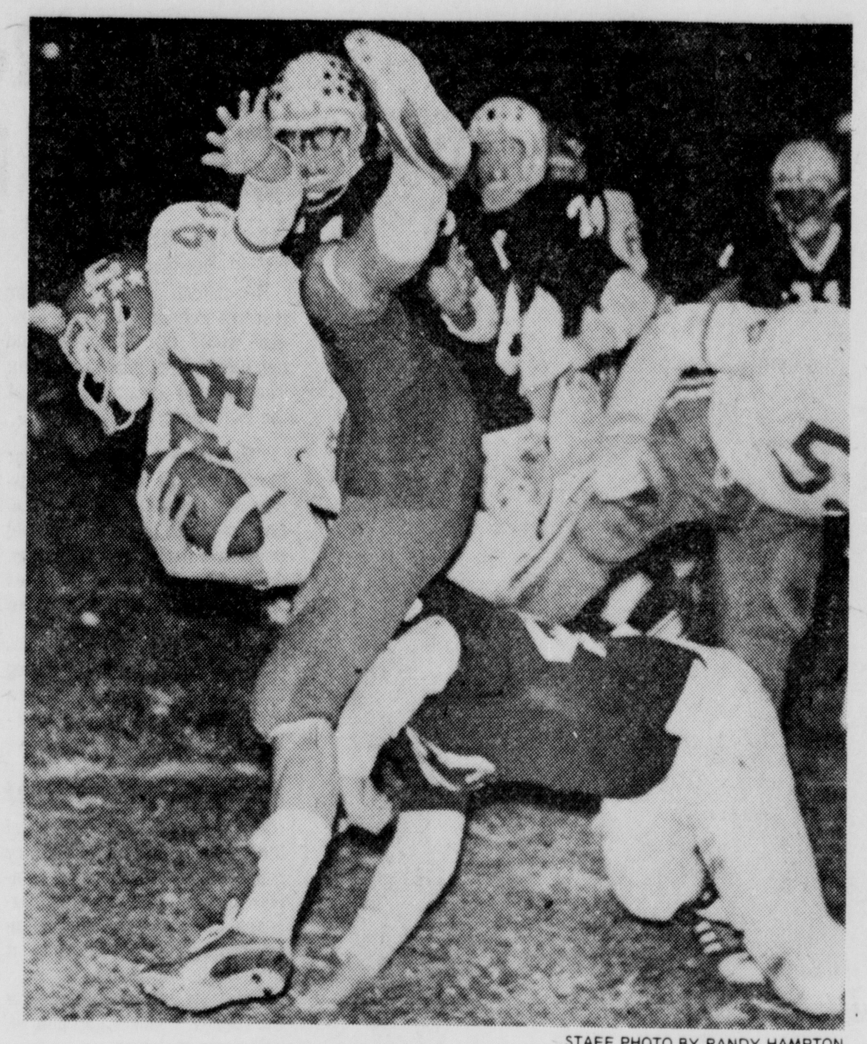

Waverly coach Randy Hash was proud of his team's effort throughout the season. "I'm extremely proud of these kids for the season they had. If anyone had told me before it started that we were only going to lose one ball game, I'd have told him he was crazy."

"We just suffered from some poor execution tonight," he added. "But you can't take a thing away from this Elkhorn team. They really took advantage of the opportunities."

Waverly finished at 7-1-2.

By DAVE SITTLER

Hebron — Bouyed by the pinpoint passing of quarterback Tom Ramsbottom and a rugged defense, underdog Hebron captured the Southern Nebraska Conference championship here Wednesday night by downing Wymore Southern, 13-7.

Ramsbottom, a 5-11 155-pound senior, led the Class C No. 6-rated Bears to victory over the fifth-ranked Raiders as he hit two first-half scoring strikes of 43 and 9 yards to end Tim Else and halfback Kevin Saathoff, respectively.

Wymore Southern, loser to only Class B opponents Auburn and Hickman-Norris, never really stood a chance against the inspired Bears as Ramsbottom picked the Raider defense apart all night with his passing.

Ramsbottom got Hebron on the scoreboard late in the first quarter when he hit Saathoff who snared the aerial from two defenders at the 20 and raced unmolested in the end zone to give Hebron a 6-0 advantage.

John Miller then booted the extra point with 47 seconds remaining in the first quarter for a 7-0 Bear lead.

After both teams were unable to sustain serious scoring drives throughout the second quarter, Ramsbottom connected with what proved to be the winning score with his nine-yard pitch to Saathoff with only 44 seconds left in the first half.

Saathoff's touchdown culminated a nine-play, 63-yard drive by the Bears who finished the season with a 92 record compared to Wymore's 7-2 mark.

The drive was highlighted by a 13-yard pass completion from Ramsbottom to senior end Dick Werner on a crucial third-and-ten situation at the Hebron 37-yard-line.

That kept a Bear drive alive and sent them into the halftime ahead 13-0 before a frost-bitten crowd of 1,500.

Coach Tim Logsdon's Raiders finally scored when senior workhorse running back Mark Wenzl burst off right tackle on a 41-yard scoring jaunt in the third period.

The scoring drive with 5:42 left in the third period climaxed a four-play, 69-yard drive that was the only substantial Wymore scoring thrust of the championship affair.

Kirk Nidy booted the extra point to pull Wymore within 13-7 which was as close as the favored Raiders came all night.

"It was a simple streak pattern," noted winning coach Bob Fuller of the opening 43-yard scoring pass. "We were confident we could pass against Wymore Southern after scouting them."

Fuller, who led Farnam to an eight-man football championship two years ago, completely turned the Hebron around in only two years.

After a dismal 1-8 season last year, Fuller installed a wishbone offensive attack and led the Bears to their first conference championship in three years.

Nebraska City Sophs Topple Auburn, 18-0

By TOM VINT

Auburn — A fired-up bunch of young Nebraska City sophomores sparked a failing Pioneer season all the way to the Twin Rivers Conference Championship here Friday night.

After losing three early games, coach Richard Birdsley called upon his "super sophs" to turn his club around en route to a 5-4-1 season record and an 18-0 Twin Rivers Conference playoff victory over 7-3 Auburn Wednesday night on the Bulldogs' home field.

Nebraska City's potent wishbone offense, headed by sophomore quarterback Kim Reuter and sophomore fullback Jamie Gruber, trampled an Auburn defense which had blanked Nebraska City, 21-0, earlier in the season. The Pioneers totaled 252 yards on 62 carries to dominate the offensive performance in the Southeastern Nebraska Class B playoff.

After a scoreless first quarter, Reuter connected on a 32-yard pass to senior halfback Jeff Thurman to put Nebraska City in the lead. With 4:54 left in the first half. Glen Edmisten's extra point kick failed.

Neither team challenged again offensively until Nebraska City mounted a 62-yard drive shortly after intermission period.

Reuter took the ball over from the one-yard-line to score with 4:23 left in the third quarter and give the Nebraska City youngsters an insurmountable emotional edge.

Auburn's one chance in scoring territory came in the final seconds of the third quarter when a high snap on a fourth-down punt attempt by the Pioneers gave Auburn the ball on the Nebraska City 18.

However, the Pioneer defense, led by Rich Eacret, John Golden, Reuter and Thurman, pushed the Bulldogs back to the 20 and took over on downs.

Nebraska City then put together an 80-yard-drive to run out much of the clock in scoring the third touchdown. John Orton carried over from the seven to end the scoring.

It was the first appearance for coach Lloyd Maskell's Auburn club and for Birdsley's Nebraska City team in the conference playoff. Auburn was also handicapped by the losses of three standout players, quarterback Denis Lessor, I-back Rick Cole and tackle Russ Harms — all out with injuries.

Auburn managed only 75 yards rushing and 102 total offense against the vastly improved Pioneers.

No. Platte Gymnasts Eye Title

North Platte launches its bid to become the first "outstate" gymnastics champion in 14 years Thursday in the Boy's State Gymnastics Championships at Lincoln High's Johnson Gym.

The Trans-Nebraska conference and district champion Platters, led by all-around ace Jon Borden, are hoping to end a long-standing Lincoln-Omaha domination in the meet.

Hastings, winner of the inaugural state prep gymnastics meet in 1940, was the last "outstate" team to triumph with back-to-back state titles in 1959-1960.

The team title will be determined Thursday with sessions starting at 1 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. Individual champions will be crowned Friday with competition starting at 7 p.m.

Eight schools are in the running for Thursday's team title, having finished as either champion or runner-up in last week's four district meets.

Lincoln East, Lincoln Southeast, North Platte, Grand Island, Omaha Burke, Omaha Westside, Omaha Northwest and Omaha South are the eight teams in line for the team championship. In all, 22 schools will be represented.

Competition Thursday at 1 p.m. includes the long horse, floor exercise, sidehorse and horizontal bar. The evening session includes competition in trampoline, parallel bars, and still rings.

Among top all-around competitors are East's Tracy Turner, Southeast's Kirk Fridrich, Millard's Ric Heineman, Creighton Prep's Tom Swoboda and Burke's Rich Tomasello.

Waverly To Defend Crown

By CRAIG MATTHESEN
Special To Star

Scottsbluff — The obstacle sitting in the path may resemble "The Great Wall of China." It seems immovable and there is no going around it.

Waverly, defending state champion for the past two years, is the barrier for the other seven entries in the Class B State Volleyball Tournament which runs Friday and Saturday at Nebraska Western.

The Vikings enter this year's tourney with a perfect 13-0 record, but more impressively have been undefeated in their last 65 matches.

The team is top seeded and the Class B favorite. Needless to say, the visitors from Eastern Nebraska possess a great deal of pride and tradition.

This year's team has survived on its latter two attributes. Only two starters from last year's championship team return in 5-7 Lucy Axberg, top spiker, and Diane Oealerking, setter.

Coach Karen Stoner, who was an assistant last year, says this team differs from the previous two.

"The two teams before had played together since they were freshman," states Mrs. Stoner. "This year's team hadn't worked together as long and you could tell it at the beginning of the year, but they are coming along now."

Stoner could not name a team which she feels may jeopardize the winning string which has encompassed three years. Like all the coaches she had not seen the other entries play this year.

One top contender may lie just 10 miles down the road from the tournament site. Mitchell also makes its third successive trip to state. Last year the Tigers were beaten by Waverly in the semifinals and the year before they won the Class C state title.

Mitchell, with 137 girls, is the smallest school entered in Class B. The school is just five girls from being classified as Class C.

The Tigers are coached by Cid Coffee, who is in her first coaching assignment. Miss Coffee feels her team has as good of individual talent as any team in the tournament, but must have teamwork to be effective.

"Everybody on the team knows how to play the game, the hardest thing I've had is getting them to work together," states the recent Chadron State graduate.

The Tigers enter with a 14-3 season record and may have one of the tallest teams in the tourney. The starting lineup includes Laurie Thomas, 5-10, Melody Brown, 5-2, Teri Kaufman, 5-11, Sally Pieper, 5-6, Holly Jones, 5-9, and Pam Andreas, 5-10.

Thomas, Pieper and Andreas were starters last year. Thomas is the team's leading scorer and a tremendous server. She served 45 points in the district. Andreas is the top spiker and Pieper is a good all-around player.

Mitchell and Waverly cannot meet in the state finals. The two are on same side of the brackets and could meet in the semifinals: a fact which brings revenge to the eyes of the Tigers.

Mitchell meets Pierce (18-4) in the first round at 8 p.m. Friday night while Waverly is pitted against Columbus Lakeview (10-6) at 9:15 p.m.

The other first-round games on Friday night have Broken Bow facing Loup City at 5:30 and Norris vs. Omaha Mercy at 6:45.

Pierce and Loup City join Waverly and Mitchell as returning teams from last year's state show.

Filipinos Hit Little League 'Expulsion'

MANILA (AP) — The president of the Little League Baseball Philippines criticized the Little League International today for allowing only American teams to compete in the Little League World Series.

Rodolfo Tingzon, LLBP president, said this move is "unfair to us Asians" and "a big blow to sport."

In a statement, Tingzon said: "I think it is not sportsmanlike for the Americans to do this. It is also unfair to us Asians, especially to the Filipinos who almost beat Taiwan in the last Far East Little League Baseball Tournament."

The Philippines is one of the members of the Far East Little League which included Guam, Hong Kong, Japan, Taiwan and South Korea.

He also said despite "bad news" from Williamsport, Pa., officials of LLBP will continue with the same endeavor to promote this sport for youth development.

Suelter Paces Ord Past Crete, 42-19

By RANDY YORK
Prep Sports Editor

Crete — Greg Suelter didn't waste much time to pass the credit here Wednesday night after sparking Ord to a 42-19 win over Crete in the Central 10 Conference football playoff.

Suelter, who rushed 42 times for 228 yards to finish the season with 2,008 yards, wanted to nominate ten teammates for player of the week honors.

"I mean it, they deserve the credit. They should get it. You can't rush for 2,000 yards without super blocking and a lot of times I'm running through some gaping holes," Suelter offered.

The six-foot, 185-pound senior scored three touchdowns as Class B's fourth-ranked Chanticleers registered their ninth win against one loss.

The setback was second ranked Crete's first in a 6-1-3 season. The Cardinals, for all practical purposes, were never in the contest.

Crete suffered through an error-plagued 28-0 first half deficit before coming back after intermission to make the final count respectable.

Both first year Ord coach Fran Hummel and Crete coach Larry Frost agreed that Suelter's efficiency in a high-powered wishbone attack was the difference.

"Greg amazes our coaching staff every time he takes the field," Hummel said. "He's an amazingly conditioned athlete. He not only is able to run 40 times a game. He also plays our power safety (equivalent to a linebacker) on defense the whole game."

"As far as I'm concerned," Crete's Frost said, "Suelter is far and away the best football player I've seen this year. He's the kind of guy that gives an opposing coach nightmares."

Suelter rushed for 124 yards on 13 carries in the first quarter alone. Included was a 39-yard touchdown sprint, which gave Ord a 14-0 lead with 5:38 remaining.

Hummel noted that Suelter's 42 carries against Crete were not a season high. "He ran 46 times for more than 200 yards against Central City," pointed out Hummel.

Suelter reeled off the names of every offensive teammate in the locker room after the impressive win.

"These guys have been tremendous all season. We think we're the best Class B team in the state," Suelter said, citing offensive linemen Bill Karre (center), guards Terry Chloupa and Craig Clement, tackles Jim Hruby and Greg Kellhoff, tight end Doug Peterson and split end Steve Wolf.

"There's no way to forget the rest of our backs either," reminded Suelter while praising quarterback Bill Gogan, fullback Bob Martin and halfback Tom Clement.

"Martin has only scored one touchdown this season, but he's been a big part of Greg's getting 2,000 yards," Hummel said. "Martin is a straight-A student and he doesn't care if he scores. He'd rather supply the lead block. He knows two plays — bang right and bang left!"

Suelter showed his versatility in the last quarter intercepting a Bob Quick pass and returning it 41 yards for a touchdown.

Although Suelter's 228 yards rushing was the highlight, Crete's Mike Parks also played well, rushing 21 times for 98 yards.

Crete was forced into its passing game in the second quarter after falling behind early. The Cardinals completed 16 of 42 for 182 yards with four interceptions. Ord's wishbone clicked for 359 yards rushing.

"I guess this game is like anything else in life. When you get a real bad start, sometimes there's just no way to recover," moaned Frost. "I guess I was surprised most with the way their offensive line just completely handled our defensive line. That's the first time we haven't controlled the line of scrimmage all season."

Frost was pleased with juniors Scott Crees and senior Fred Brandt. Crees caught six passes for 108 yards and Brandt a linebacker, was in on 18 tackles and recovered two fumbles.

Injury Slows Bonness

By Associated Press

Rik Bonness, Nebraska's All-American candidate at center, was still a question mark for Saturday's Kansas State game following practice Wednesday.

Bonness, a junior, broke several bones in his right hand in last Saturday's Husker win over Iowa State, but he hasn't been practicing with the first team this week.

"He (Bonness) probably could snap left-handed, but Rich Duda has been working out with the first unit this week," coach Tom Osborne said.

Osborne said he will wait until just before game time Saturday to make a decision on whether Bonness will be a starter in the middle of the Husker offensive line.

Ritch Bahe, nursing pulled hamstring muscles suffered against Colorado, was still not at full speed during Wednesday's practice, and may not start Saturday when the Huskers host the Wildcats, according to Osborne.

"He'll (Bahe) have to be running pretty well by tomorrow (Thursday) for him to start Saturday," said Osborne, "Then again, he may not play at all, it's hard to say."

The Huskers worked out for about 1 hour 45 minutes Wednesday, the defense staying outdoors in the 30-degree temperatures the entire time, the offense getting a break by moving indoors for the last 15 minutes of the session.

It was also announced that Nebraska's team headquarters for the Sugar Bowl will be the Fountainbleau Hotel in New Orleans.

Scribner Hands Wayne First Loss

By BOB MOYER

Scribner — Scribner overcame punting woes to defeat scrappy Wayne 13-6 here Wednesday night in the Husker Conference playoffs.

The win gave the No. 1-ranked Class C Trojans a perfect 11-0 mark on the season, while Wayne, rated No. 10 in Class B, fell to 10-1.

Scribner had three fouled up punts in the game, causing the Trojans to often have poor field position.

"It's my fault," said Scribner head football coach Dick Tingelhoff. "Our center (Greg Hoge) had his fingers stepped on early in the game and he couldn't grip the ball properly. But we didn't notice it until after the game was over, and he never said anything about it."

That made it a long night for Jay Muller, whose very first punt early in the first quarter was blocked, giving Wayne an excellent chance to take an early lead in the game.

Wayne took over on Scribner's 25-yard line, but the Trojans' defense, as it turned out to be all night, proved up for the task and held the Blue Devils with a missed 23-yard field goal.

Paul Steil gave Scribner an offensive boost at that point with a 48 yard burst that set up the Trojans' first TD.

That came on a 22-yard razzle-dazzle play which saw Russel Poppe pitch the ball to Muller, who three to Ken Thomas for the score.

Scribner added a second score in the second period when it marched 99 yards on 13 plays, again highlighted by a fine run by Steil, this time for 30 yards. Tim Dahl wound up the drive, scoring from 2 yards out, but this time Thomas' extra point try was wide and Scribner had to settle for a 13-0 halftime lead.

Wayne, which could not muster a first down until 3:38 to go in the second quarter, was not ready to give up however, and twice in the second half mounted good drives that fizzled out on fourth down plays deep in Scribner territory.

It seemed as though Wayne would never be able to score against the rugged Scribner defense, which had allowed only 19 points coming into Wednesday night's game.

But another punt went awry when Hoge's snap went through the legs of Mueller and Mark Brandt recovered the ball in the end zone for a touchdown. However Marty Hansen's extra point try was no good, to give Scribner a 13-6 lead with 8:44 left in the fray.

game on ice following Wayne's score by holding onto the ball until 3:06 to go in the game before having to punt, and then holding Wayne on downs.

But with little over a minute to go, Dahl fumbled the ball and Wayne's Larry Creighton recovered, giving the Blue Devils one last chance.

But it was all for nothing, as the tough Scribner defense held again to insure the victory.

"I'm exhausted. What a year," said Tingelhoff. "You wonder how good you really are. We didn't have the numbers that some of the Class B schools have, but we were very fortunate because we had good talent."

SE Consolidated Prevails, 34-22

By STEVE GILLISPIE
Star Sports Writer

Stella — Unranked Southeast Consolidated took advantage of its ability to bend but never break here Wednesday night to win the biggest game in the school's short history.

The Mustangs beat previously undefeated Louisville, 34-22, to capture the Galaxy Conference title.

In the game between Class C schools, SE Consolidated finished its season at 7-2-1, while the No. 3 rated Lions ended at 9-1.

"We knew our players were mentally ready all week and they really earned this win," Mustangs' coach Russ Sears said.

"We didn't do anything fancy, just run right up the middle and didn't plan on passing much."

The Mustangs' ability to bend and not break was probably best demonstrated in the second quarter.

However, the Mustangs came right back to score two touchdowns to take the lead for good.

Al DeJonge scored for SE Consolidated on a six-yard run with 1:24 left and added the PAT to tie the score, 22-22 all.

Then, on the ensuing kickoff, Tracy Wilke recovered his kick to give the Mustangs the ball on the Lions' 35-yard line.

DeJonge started out by running to the 10 on the first play.

Then on fourth down, quarterback Greg Morris plunged over from the one with 30 seconds left to give his team a 28-22 advantage.

Morris threw a 14-yard touchdown pass to Randy Pryor with 55 seconds to go in the third quarter for some insurance points.

The game started out with Louisville scoring first and then SE Consolidated coming back to tie the score until Morris scored on a one-yard run just before the first half ended.

The rest of the game the Lions moved the ball, usually at will, but the Mustangs always stopped any threat near their goal.

Louisville	6	16	0	0	22
SE Consolidated	6	22	6	0	34

Louisville — Beck, 30 run; Scott, 1 run; Bender, 74 pass from Applegate. PAT — Scott, run; Applegate, run.
SE Consolidated — DeJonge (3), 14, 27, 6 runs; Morris, 1 run; Pryor, 14 pass from Morris. PAT — Shafer, pass from Morris; DeJonge, run.

Weather Hampers KSU

By Associated Press

Blustery winds and 37-degree temperatures hampered Kansas State Wednesday as the Wildcats prepared for Saturday's game at Memorial Stadium against Nebraska.

"It wasn't a very good workout," said coach Vince Gibson. "Everybody was just mainly trying to survive the cold.

"We wouldn't know how to react if we ever had nice weather in Lincoln," he added. "But then we haven't had many good days playing them there either."

Meanwhile, at Norman, all-American linebacker Rod Shoate continued to sit out practice, but will be ready to play Saturday when Oklahoma travels to Kansas.

"Shoate's able to play but we're holding him out like we did in the spring and two-a-day practices because we don't want to take any chances. I know he can play, so you'll see him Saturday."

Bruce Adams, senior wide receiver for Kansas, remains doubtful as he is still slowed by a bruised knee suffered in a 17-16 loss at Colorado.

At Stillwater, Oklahoma State coach Jim Stanley said freshman Terry Miller will start at fullback for the Cowboys in Saturday's game against Colorado.

Miller, converted from halfback two weeks ago when both Robert Turner and George Palmer were sidelined with injuries.

Iowa State coach Earle Bruce said juniors Wayne Stanley and Tom Mason will continue to share the quarterbacking position, with Stanley slated to start Saturday at Missouri.

Boxer Johnson Tops Slugger

By RANDY EICKHOFF
Star Sports Writer

The meeting of two Golden Gloves champions always stirs interest among boxing fans, but the meeting of Don Johnson and Garth Bauer Wednesday night at Pershing Auditorium had the fans on their feet.

It was the classic pugilistic contest, pitting the puncher against the boxer. Sometimes during the course of the fight, the boxer develops a little carelessness and the Sunday punch comes looping through and decks him for the count. This wasn't one of those times as Johnson won by a decision.

Johnson, the defending Southeast District Golden Gloves champion, went up on his toes from the sound of the first bell and danced rings around the visiting Neligh slugger, Bauer, Norfolk Golden Gloves champion.

In the first round, Johnson, utilizing his southpaw style to its fullest advantage, rolled around Bauer and connected with crisp combinations that seemed to leave a confusing mark on Bauer. Then a crisp right hook nailed Bauer and drove him back into the ropes.

Bauer came out boiling in the second round and tried to drive Johnson back against the ropes, but the wily 148-pounder slipped sideways, countering his way back to the center of the ring. Again, Bauer was seemed perplexed by the stinging combinations of Johnson. Then again it happened: Bauer was driven back by a barrage of bombs that laced their way through his guard.

In the final round, Bauer, desperate by now, abandoned all pretense at style and roared in slugging with both hands, but to no avail. Johnson remained out-of-range and continued to pile up points. At the bell, a disgusted Bauer refused to wait for the decision and climbed from the ring.

"I was surprised at him," Johnson said. "Everybody told me he was a terrific hitter, but he only hit me once that I felt. I think he was just too slow and he seemed to telegraph his punches. I could see them coming."

Another defending Southeast District Champion, Ray Menefee, expressed himself with disgust after pounding out an unanimous victory over Roger Carmichael of Auburn.

Menefee, entering the ring at 135, gave away eight pounds to Carmichael and tried to conduct the bout in a sportsmanlike manner. But Carmichael refused to have anything to do with that, preferring to slug it out when he could.

"He's nothing but a bum," Menefee said disgustedly. "He wouldn't break clean despite all the warnings and he got away with a couple of real cheap shots at that time. This was the easiest fight I've ever had. He's a club fighter — not a winner and worse than that, he's a poor sport."

The 678 fans present witnessed one of the hardest knockouts of the year when up and coming Ranzie Ervin of the T-Dorm hit Arnie George of Omaha with a quick right cross at 1:52 of the second and knocked him back on his heels and flat on his back for the count.

The next card is scheduled for Pershing Auditorium Dec. 13 with weighins at 6 p.m. and fighting to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Farnam Rips Arthur, 53-8

Farnam — Cold and windy weather didn't hamper Farnam in the Great Plains Conference playoff Wednesday night. Farnam blasted Arthur, 53-8.

Farnam scored on its first possession and had no trouble getting the ball over the goal line the rest of the evening. Led by Wendell Hoppe, with 150 yards rushing, Farnam piled up 442 yards rushing. Quarterback Scott Adkisson threw five passes for 103 yards.

Hoppe sprained his ankle in the second quarter, but while he was recovering, his younger brother, Weldon, covered for him and mounted up 98 yards rushing.

One other Farnam player rushed for more than 100 yards. Carl Dietz, senior halfback, scored three touchdowns and ran for 147 yards.

Farnam	21	0	20	12—53
Arthur	0	0	0	8— 8

Farnam — Dietz (3) 8, 3, 13 runs; Bellamy (2) 35, 13 passes from Adkisson; Hoppe (2) 2, 7 runs; Klein, 8 run; PAT — Kotschwar, pass from Adkisson; Hoppe, pass from Adkisson; Adkisson, kick.
Arthur — Ostergard, 8 pass from Long; PAT — Long, run.

Deer Realize Season; Count Drops Slightly

By TOM VINT
Outdoor Writer

Republican City — Every year it seems somebody slips up. How else would big buck deer find out the hunting season is open. They always disappear just at the right time.

This year was no exception for hunters in the Republican district of Nebraska. The check station at Alma reported no big bucks through the first three days of the season. Deer numbers on a whole were down slightly from past years.

Weather was the key. Drizzling rains Saturday teamed with a ground-hugging fog in the Harlan County Reservoir area to keep some hunters out of the field and make conditions for success less than ideal for others.

Only 15 deer were checked on opening day at Alma. Another 18 came in Sunday. Those who did bring deer in had nice, fat young bucks and a few doe, having fed well during past months as farmers harvested crops in the area.

"We just haven't seen many this year," Dan Illian of Lincoln commented as we scoured wooded draws and likely deer cover. Illian annually makes the trek from Lincoln to his old home of Republican City to hunt with three of his four brothers and the rest of the townspeople of Republican City and Naponee.

"Everybody around here hunts," Buss Bradley, Don's Father-in-law, explained. "People in the small towns here live on wild game, deer, pheasants, you name it. It's a hunting community."

Every pickup truck in Harlan County seems to be on the road the weekend of the deer opener. Those who weren't drawn out of the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission barrel for deer permits generally aided those who did get a permit. Everybody is out looking for deer.

But this year, the cover(plentiful and plenty thick) and the weather created tough hunting for most. Dan and brother Merle bagged deer, however, but followed the guideline set for opening weekend — nothing big.

Game and Parks Commission reports from opening weekend show 3,900 deer checked after the first three days of the nine-day season. Ken Johnson, head of terrestrial wildlife for the commission, said the reports are about what was expected and on an even keel with a year ago.

The reports in from the five district offices were:

- NORFOLK — Good success. A little ahead of last year (42 per cent) but marred by a hunter fatality over the first weekend.
- BASSETT — About the same as last year when 63 per cent of the hunters in the district scored on deer.
- PANHANDLE — Very good success, running ahead of last year (72 per cent.)
- SOUTHWEST — A little behind last year's percentage of 65 for season success.
- SOUTHEAST — Figures down slightly due to poor weather keeping hunters out of the cover. Last year hunters scored around 45 per cent.

Johnson's statewide assessment indicates hunters should approach last year's 60 per cent success rate since most crops are out of the field. Weather, of course, will be a determining factor for the remainder of the firearm season, ending Nov. 17, according to Johnson.

Women Harriers In National Meet

Ames, Iowa (UPI) — Some of the top women's cross country runners in the nation will compete in the first national intercollegiate women's cross country championships Saturday at Iowa State University.

The meet, which will be run at the George Veenker golf course, will begin at 1 p.m.

Chris Murray, meet director and ISU women's cross country coach, said 145 entries have been received from more than 25 colleges and universities.

Top prospects for the team trophy include Colorado State, Florida, Michigan State and Iowa.

Spartans Earn League Crown

Stamford — The Madrid-Wheatland Spartans defeated the Stamford Bulldogs, 52-24, here Wednesday for the Southern Frontier eight-man football playoff championship.

The Spartans had rolled to a 32-6 lead at the half.

The team amassed 394 yards total, including 324 rushing and 70 in the air. Stamford picked up 220 yards, 164 on the ground and 56 by passing.

Spartan halfbacks Larry Regier and Pat Lee scored three touchdowns each, while defensively, it was an overall team effort with all 31 members of the Madrid-Wheatland team seeing action.

It's All Outdoors

Cute Kids Come From City

I don't know too many parents who don't think their kids are plenty cute and something special, but the cutest of all are the city kids who get a chance to visit the country.

I'm sure many farmer-grandparents would agree. Going to the country is like opening up a whole new world to a little fella, and it's just plain fun to watch.

One such case visited Naponee recently. Joey, a blond seven year old, and his family moved back to Nebraska from Hollywood, Calif. The kids have never seen snow, according to one neighbor. And that isn't all they've never seen, according to Joey.

While I was cleaning a deer at the Bus Bradley home Sunday evening with hunting companions, Joey strolled up with a two-gallon metal bucket. The conversation that followed was the clincher to my above philosophy about cute kids.

"What's in the bucket, Joey?"

"My duck. I shot it."

"Did you really shoot a duck, Joey?"

"Nah, my sister's boyfriend shot it. But I cleaned it. Mom didn't want it. Said it made her sick."

It turned out Joey's sister's boyfriend actually had helped clean the duck, too.

More to Come From Joey

Joey stood there staring at the deer we were cleaning and swinging the bucket at his side.

"Is it a big duck, Joey?"

"Yep, pretty big."

"A mallard, maybe?"

"Yep."

Then we took a check in the bucket to see what kind of duck. Inside was a hunk of chewed up something.

"What happened to your duck, Joey?"

"Dogs got it," he smiled sheepishly and continued staring at the deer in wonderment. "Nice deer ya got. Big ain't it."

Somebody offered Joey some of the deer and he readily accepted. One of the women in the group said Joey's mother wouldn't approve. It would be okay if the meat came from the store, but wild game made her a bit uneasy and nauseated.

But we gave Joey one of the deer's lower legs. He stuck it in the bucket with his chewed up duck and smiled a big thanks. His dad called and he trotted off.

That last thing we heard from Joey was, "Hope the dogs don't get this, too. We got three ya know."

I wish I could be around Joey for his first snow. It sure would be a treat . . . for both of us.

Humm Leads Big 8 Passers

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Three Big Eight football players—two runners and one passer—have surpassed the 1,000-yard mark.

Oklahoma's Joe Washington and Kansas' Laverne Smith have run for more than 1,000 yards. Washington, a junior, has 1,057 yards in eight games, an average of 132.1 yards a game. Smith, a sophomore, has 1,072 yards in nine games, a 119.1 average.

Nebraska's southpaw quarterback, David Humm, has completed 79 of 126 passes, a 62.7 clip, for 1,090 yards. He's also thrown nine touchdown passes.

Washington is averaging 7.8 yards a carry and Smith 7.2.

It's a tribute to Oklahoma's offensive line that three other Sooners have high averages per carry. Fullbacks Jim Littrell and Clyde Russell are gaining 7.3 and 9.1 yards per try, while freshman halfbak Elvis Peacock is knocking off 8.1 yards a tote.

Washington regained the total offense lead from Humm. The Oklahoma halfback is gaining 1.7 yards a game more than the Nebraska passer, 132.1 to 130.4.

Missouri slotback Mark Miller has taken the pass receiving lead with 29 catches for 380 yards and five touchdowns. Nebraska's Don Westbrook has 26 grabs for 418 yards and six TDs.

Washington also is the scoring leader with 66 points on 11 touchdowns, two TDs and 12 points more than Westbrook.

Walker: Money May Cause Sooners To Leave Loop

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—There is no move afoot at the present for the University of Oklahoma to leave the Big Eight Conference, but the school's athletic director admits the thought has been bandied about.

"I'd be lying to you if I said it hasn't been discussed," Athletic Director Wade Walker said Wednesday.

Earlier this week Barry Switzer, head football coach, said any move for Oklahoma to go its independent way was remote.

But the fact remains that, primarily because of finances, the Sooners are looking at becoming independnent and a decision could come sooner than anyone might think.

The decision very possibly may depend on how large a financial burden is placed on the university by a stepped-up athletic program for women.

Walker said President Ford probably will have such legislation on his desk by January and many athletic directors around the country feel it will call for a "comparable" athletic program for women.

Just what would "comparable" mean for OU?

"If you have a gross athletic budget of $3 million a year, a 'comparable' program for women means you would need a budget of $6 million a year," Walker said. "That's impossible."

Walker said if the proposed legislation turns out to be as expected, the $3 million budget would be sliced "comparably," leaving $1.5 million for men's athletics and the same for the women. "At that time, obviously, we will have to make some decision," Walker said.

And, he added, if pulling out of the Big Eight means surviving, "you do anything you can to survive."

Although it would be somewhat of a gamble for Oklahoma to leave an established conference, it wouldn't be too big a gamble because of its No. 1 ranked football team.

The benefits of being independent are impressive. OU would keep all money derived from television and bowl appearances instead of splitting it with the conference.

At present, a national TV spot is worth about $400,000 and a major bowl berth is worth about the same.

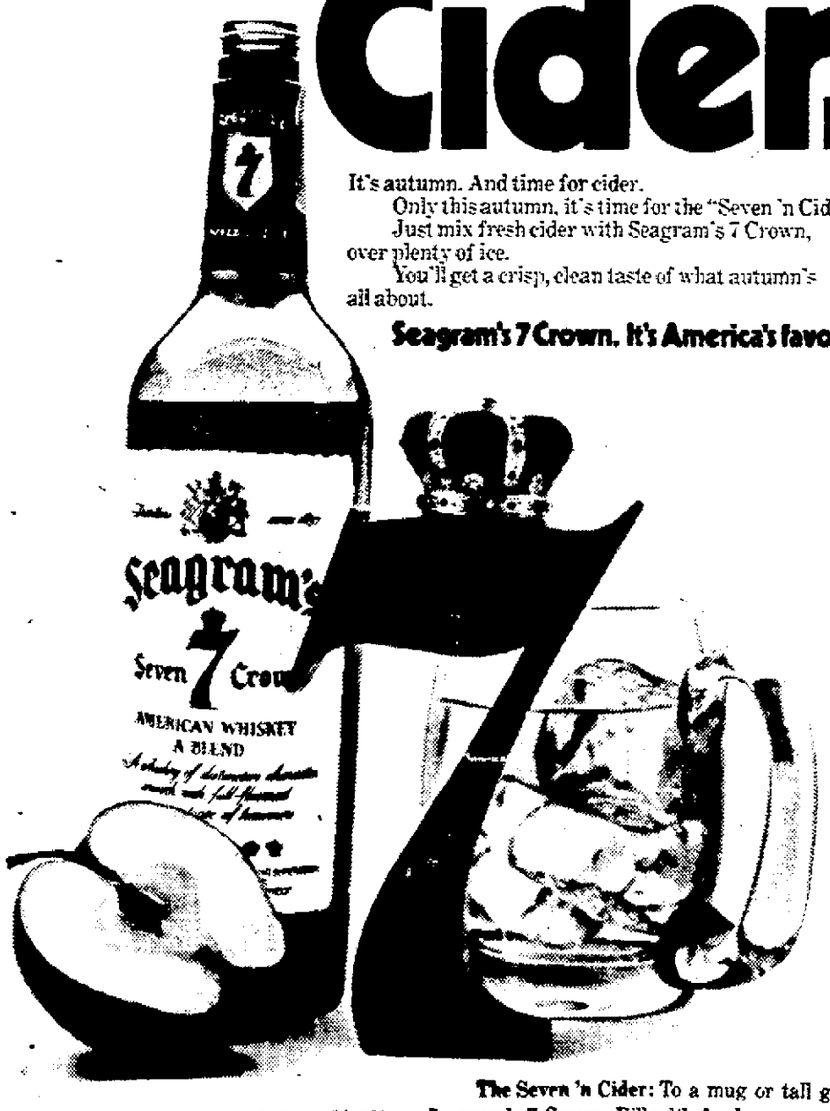

"You're talking about $800,000 and upwards," Walker said of one TV appearance and one bowl appearance a year.

It's All Outdoors

Cute Kids Come From City

I don't know too many parents who don't think their kids are plenty cute and something special, but the cutest of all are the city kids who get a chance to visit the country.

I'm sure many farmer-grandparents would agree. Going to the country is like opening up a whole new world to a little fella, and it's just plain fun to watch.

One such case visited Naponee recently. Joey, a blond seven year old, and his family moved back to Nebraska from Hollywood, Calif. The kids have never seen snow, according to one neighbor. And that isn't all they've never seen, according to Joey.

While I was cleaning a deer at the Bus Bradley home Sunday evening with hunting companions, Joey strolled up with a two-gallon metal bucket. The conversation that followed was the clincher to my above philosophy about cute kids.

"What's in the bucket, Joey?"

"My duck. I shot it."

"Did you really shoot a duck, Joey?"

"Nah, my sister's boyfriend shot it. But I cleaned it. Mom didn't want it. Said it made her sick."

It turned out Joey's sister's boyfriend actually had helped clean the duck, too.

More to Come From Joey

Joey stood there staring at the deer we were cleaning and swinging the bucket at his side.

"Is it a big duck, Joey?"

"Yep, pretty big."

"A mallard, maybe?"

"Yep."

Then we took a check in the bucket to see what kind of duck. Inside was a hunk of chewed up something.

"What happened to your duck, Joey?"

"Dogs got it," he smiled sheepishly and continued staring at the deer in wonderment. "Nice deer ya got. Big ain't it."

Somebody offered Joey some of the deer and he readily accepted. One of the women in the group said Joey's mother wouldn't approve. It would be okay if the meat came from the store, but wild game made her a bit uneasy and nauseated.

But we gave Joey one of the deer's lower legs. He stuck it in the bucket with his chewed up duck and smiled a big thanks. His dad called and he trotted off.

That last thing we heard from Joey was, "Hope the dogs don't get this, too. We got three ya know."

I wish I could be around Joey for his first snow. It sure would be a treat . . . for both of us.

Humm Leads Big 8 Passers

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Three Big Eight football players—two runners and one passer—have surpassed the 1,000-yard mark.

Oklahoma's Joe Washington and Kansas' Laverne Smith have run for more than 1,000 yards. Washington, a junior, has 1,057 yards in eight games, an average of 132.1 yards a game. Smith, a sophomore, has 1,072 yards in nine games, a 119.1 average.

Nebraska's southpaw quarterback, David Humm, has completed 79 of 126 passes, a 62.7 clip, for 1,090 yards. He's also thrown nine touchdown passes.

Washington is averaging 7.8 yards a carry and Smith 7.2.

It's a tribute to Oklahoma's offensive line that three other Sooners have high averages per carry. Fullbacks Jim Littrell and Clyde Russell are gaining 7.3 and 9.1 yards per try, while freshman halfbak Elvis Peacock is knocking off 8.1 yards a tote.

Washington regained the total offense lead from Humm. The Oklahoma halfback is gaining 1.7 yards a game more than the Nebraska passer, 132.1 to 130.4.

Missouri slotback Mark Miller has taken the pass receiving lead with 29 catches for 380 yards and five touchdowns. Nebraska's Don Westbrook has 26 grabs for 418 yards and six TDs.

Washington also is the scoring leader with 66 points on 11 touchdowns, two TDs and 12 points more than Westbrook.

Weather Hampers KSU

By Associated Press

Blustery winds and 37-degree temperatures hampered Kansas State Wednesday as the Wildcats prepared for Saturday's game at Memorial Stadium against Nebraska.

"It wasn't a very good workout," said coach Vince Gibson. "Everybody was just mainly trying to survive the cold.

"We wouldn't know how to react if we ever had nice weather in Lincoln," he added. "But then we haven't had many good days playing them there either."

Meanwhile, at Norman, all-American linebacker Rod Shoate continued to sit out practice, but will be ready to play Saturday when Oklahoma travels to Kansas.

"Shoate's able to play but we're holding him out like we did in the spring and two-a-day practices because we don't want to take any chances. I know he can play, so you'll see him Saturday."

Bruce Adams, senior wide receiver for Kansas, remains doubtful as he is still slowed by a bruised knee suffered in a 17-16 loss at Colorado.

At Stillwater, Oklahoma State coach Jim Stanley said freshman Terry Miller will start at fullback for the Cowboys in Saturday's game against Colorado.

Miller, converted from halfback two weeks ago when both Robert Turner and George Palmer were sidelined with injuries.

Iowa State coach Earle Bruce said juniors Wayne Stanley and Tom Mason will continue to share the quarterbacking position, with Stanley slated to start Saturday at Missouri.

Boxer Johnson Tops Slugger

By RANDY EICKHOFF
Star Sports Writer

The meeting of two Golden Gloves champions always stirs interest among boxing fans, but the meeting of Don Johnson and Garth Bauer Wednesday night at Pershing Auditorium had the fans on their feet.

It was the classic pugilistic contest, pitting the puncher against the boxer. Sometimes during the course of the fight, the boxer develops a little carelessness and the Sunday punch comes looping through and decks him for the count. This wasn't one of those times as Johnson won by a decision.

Johnson, the defending Southeast District Golden Gloves champion, went up on his toes from the sound of the first bell and danced rings around the visiting Neligh slugger, Bauer, Norfolk Golden Gloves champion.

In the first round, Johnson, utilizing his southpaw style to its fullest advantage, rolled around Bauer and connected with crisp combinations that seemed to leave a confusing mark on Bauer. Then a crisp right hook nailed Bauer and drove him back into the ropes.

Bauer came out boiling in the second round and tried to drive Johnson back against the ropes, but the wily 148-pounder slipped sideways, countering his way back to the center of the ring. Again, Bauer was seemed perplexed by the stinging combinations of Johnson. Then again it happened: Bauer was driven back by a barrage of bombs that laced their way through his guard.

In the final round, Bauer, desperate by now, abandoned all pretense at style and roared in slugging with both hands, but to no avail. Johnson remained out-of-range and continued to pile up points. At the bell, a disgusted Bauer refused to wait for the decision and climbed from the ring.

"I was surprised at him," Johnson said. "Everybody told me he was a terrific hitter, but he only hit me once that I felt. I think he was just too slow and he seemed to telegraph his punches. I could see them coming."

Another defending Southeast District Champion, Ray Menefee, expressed himself with disgust after pounding out an unanimous victory over Roger Carmichael of Auburn.

Menefee, entering the ring at 135, gave away eight pounds to Carmichael and tried to conduct the bout in a sportsmanlike manner. But Carmichael refused to have anything to do with that, preferring to slug it out when he could.

"He's nothing but a bum," Menefee said disgustedly. "He wouldn't break clean despite all the warnings and he got away with a couple of real cheap shots at that time. This was the easiest fight I've ever had. He's a club fighter — not a winner and worse than that, he's a poor sport."

The 678 fans present witnessed one of the hardest knockouts of the year when up and coming Ranzie Ervin of the T-Dorm hit Arnie George of Omaha with a quick right cross at 1:52 of the second and knocked him back on his heels and flat on his back for the count.

The next card is scheduled for Pershing Auditorium Dec. 13 with weighins at 6 p.m. and fighting to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Farnam Rips Arthur, 53-8

Farnam — Cold and windy weather didn't hamper Farnam in the Great Plains Conference playoff Wednesday night. Farnam blasted Arthur, 53-8.

Farnam scored on its first possession and had no trouble getting the ball over the goal line the rest of the evening. Led by Wendell Hoppe, with 150 yards rushing, Farnam piled up 442 yards rushing. Quarterback Scott Adkisson threw five passes for 103 yards.

Hoppe sprained his ankle in the second quarter, but while he was recovering, his younger brother, Weldon, covered for him and mounted up 98 yards rushing.

One other Farnam player rushed for more than 100 yards. Carl Dietz, senior halfback, scored three touchdowns and ran for 147 yards.

Farnam	21	0	20	12	53
Arthur	0	0	0	8	8

Farnam — Dietz (3) 8, 3, 13 runs; Bellamy (2) 35, 13 passes from Adkisson, Hoppe (2) 2, 7 runs; Klein, 8 run; PAT — Kotschwar, pass from Adkisson; Hoppe, pass from Adkisson; Adkisson, kick.
Arthur — Ostergard, 8 pass from Long; PAT — Long, run.

Deer Realize Season; Count Drops Slightly

By TOM VINT
Outdoor Writer

Republican City — Every year it seems somebody slips up. How else would big buck deer find out the hunting season is open. They always disappear just at the right time.

This year was no exception for hunters in the Republican district of Nebraska. The check station at Alma reported no big bucks through the first three days of the season. Deer numbers on a whole were down slightly from past years.

Weather was the key. Drizzling rains Saturday teamed with a ground-hugging fog in the Harlan County Reservoir area to keep some hunters out of the field and make conditions for success less than ideal for others.

Only 15 deer were checked on opening day at Alma. Another 18 came in Sunday. Those who did bring deer in had nice, fat young bucks and a few doe, having fed well during past months as farmers harvested crops in the area.

"We just haven't seen many this year," Dan Illian of Lincoln commented as we scoured wooded draws and likely deer cover. Illian annually makes the trek from Lincoln to his old home of Republican City to hunt with three of his four brothers and the rest of the townspeople of Republican City and Naponee.

"Everybody around here hunts," Buss Bradley, Don's Father-in-law, explained. "People in the small towns here live on wild game, deer, pheasants, you name it. It's a hunting community."

Every pickup truck in Harlan County seems to be on the road the weekend of the deer opener. Those who weren't drawn out of the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission barrel for deer permits generally aided those who did get a permit. Everybody is out looking for deer.

But this year, the cover(plentiful and plenty thick) and the weather created tough hunting for most. Dan and brother Merle bagged deer, however, but followed the guideline set for opening weekend — nothing big.

Game and Parks Commission reports from opening weekend show 3,900 deer checked after the first three days of the nine-day season. Ken Johnson, head of terrestrial wildlife for the commission, said the reports are about what was expected and on an even keel with a year ago.

The reports in from the five district offices were:

- NORFOLK — Good success. A little ahead of last year (42 per cent) but marred by a hunter fatality over the first weekend.
- BASSETT — About the same as last year when 63 per cent of the hunters in the district scored on deer.
- PANHANDLE — Very good success, running ahead of last year (72 per cent.)
- SOUTHWEST — A little behind last year's percentage of 65 for season success.
- SOUTHEAST — Figures down slightly due to poor weather keeping hunters out of the cover. Last year hunters scored around 45 per cent.

Johnson's statewide assessment indicates hunters should approach last year's 60 per cent success rate since most crops are out of the field. Weather, of course, will be a determining factor for the remainder of the firearm season, ending Nov. 17, according to Johnson.

Women Harriers In National Meet

Ames, Iowa (UPI) — Some of the top women's cross country runners in the nation will compete in the first national intercollegiate women's cross country championships Saturday at Iowa State University.

The meet, which will be run at the George Veenker golf course, will begin at 1 p.m.

Chris Murray, meet director and ISU women's cross country coach, said 145 entries have been received from more than 25 colleges and universities.

Top prospects for the team trophy include Colorado State, Florida, Michigan State and Iowa.

Spartans Earn League Crown

Stamford — The Madrid-Wheatland Spartans defeated the Stamford Bulldogs, 52-24, here Wednesday for the Southern Frontier eight-man football playoff championship.

The Spartans had rolled to a 32-6 lead at the half.

The team amassed 394 yards total, including 324 rushing and 70 in the air. Stamford picked up 220 yards, 164 on the ground and 56 by passing.

Spartan halfbacks Larry Regier and Pat Lee scored three touchdowns each, while defensively, it was an overall team effort with all 31 members of the Madrid-Wheatland team seeing action.

Off Season?

Catching up on racing news in Nebraska as Grand Island's Fonner Park opens in just 15 weeks:

Fonner general manager Al Swihart can only beam with happiness in the new Fonner purse schedule that offers a $1,700 minimum purse and a record purse distribution of $766,400, including stakes and handicap races estimated to total $125,000.

"That's by far at least $100,000, the most purses we've even given away," Swihart said. "Our purses will graduate up to $2,700 for older horses starting in allowances. We've raised all our stakes and overnight handicaps so the lowest purse is $4,000. The horsemen have to be pleased with that schedule."

That's so true.

The 14 stakes and feature races are topped by the Nebraska Derby, a mile chase for 3-year-olds on April 19 and the Gus Fonner Handicap a mile and 70-yard event for 3-year-olds and up on closing day April 26, that will offer the richest purses ever at Fonner and outstate Nebraska.

Both races have $15,000-added tags and the Derby will probably offer a $20,000 purse. The inaugural running of the Tondi Handicap, named after the famous runner, will be contested over 6 furlongs for 4-year-olds and older runners on April 18. That carries a $7,500 added tag.

Besides those races for the standout competitors, Fonner has increased its minimum claiming race to $2,000. There were some $15,000 claiming races last year.

Stall Applications Available

Swihart said stall applications and condition books are ready for horsemen for next year's 40-day meeting opening on Feb. 27. The deadline for stall applications is Jan. 3, 1975.

"We're really looking forward to next year's racing schedule," Swihart said. "We're also hoping to have the first $600,000 (one-day mutuel handle) in Nebraska outside Ak-Sar-Ben. We came close last year ($573,354) and if everything is right especially the weather, I'm sure we can do that next year."

The opening weekend features the Fonner Inaugural Handicap on Feb. 27 for 3-year-old fillies and the Jake Grasmick Handicap on March 1 for 3-year-olds & up. Both 4 furlong events offer $4,000 prizes.

The opening condition book only gives further evidence of the strides Swihart and his assistant Hugh Miner have made in transforming Fonner Park into one of this state's finest facilities for the entertainment dollar.

Elsewhere in racing, a trio of Nebraskans have purchased Hurry To Market, a 13-year-old son of To Market out of Hasty Girl by Princequillo, for an undisclosed price which is rumored to be between $50,000 and $100,000.

As a 2-year-old, Hurry To Market was named the country's best juvenile in 1963. His total earnings hit $204,129, which makes him one of the most valuable horses to stand in stud in Nebraska.

He was bought by John Grasmick of Seward, Paul Goetowski of Lincoln and Gleen Cubmore of Omaha and will stand at Grasmick's farm near Seward. The trio took possession of Hurry To Market in Doswell, Va. in September.

Jabbar's Hand Worrying Bucks

Milwaukee (AP) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, kingpin center of the National Basketball Association, holds the future of the slumping Milwaukee Bucks in one massive, swollen hand.

"We're just going on a day to day basis due to the swelling," a Bucks spokesman said of the broken hand the 7-foot-2 center suffered in the preseason. "When the swelling goes down, we'll be able to set a more definite date for him to return."

Without Abdul-Jabbar, the Bucks, who had the best record in the NBA last season, fell to a 1-11 record and stretched their club record losing streak to nine games with Tuesday night's 91-83 loss to Boston.

Coach Larry Costello said after the game that Abdul-Jabbar might miss another two weeks of action. He had been expected to rejoin the team Saturday night against Cleveland.

"Kareem is the best player in the game," Milwaukee General Manager Wayne Embry said Wednesday. "Also, he happens to be a center. It's the position that really hurts."

The Bucks, a center-oriented team, have sorely missed the scoring of Abdul-Jabbar, who averaged 27 points and about 15 rebounds a game last season and who holds a career scoring average of 30.5 points.

The Tuesday night victory gave Boston an 8-5 record despite the absence of 6-9 center Dave Cowens, a 19-point scorer last season who is also recovering from preseason injuries.

But Boston has two reserve centers, Henry Finkel and Jim Ard, while the Bucks' only reserve at the pivot, Dick Cunningham, returned from injuries which sidelined him last season only to suffer another disabling ankle injury.

Milwaukee turned to forward Cornell Warner, acquired last season, and 6-10 rookie Kevin Restani to fill in at the post. "Cornell has done a hell of a job rebounding," Embry said. "Restani is doing a pretty good job. We just don't have the offense without Kareem."

He said the Celtics could weather the loss of Cowens easier because of their roaming style of offense, the talents of such veterans as John Havlicek and Don Nelson and the cohesiveness of a starting five which played together last season.

And the Bucks were hit with the loss of Abdul-Jabbar at the same time they were trying to replace retired playmaker Oscar Robertson.

Warner and forward Bob Dandridge are only returning starters after the team's latest trade in which the Bucks sent Lucius Allen to Los Angeles for another guard, Jim Price, in quest of a team leader.

Embry said he didn't foresee any further trades.

"We have to give them a chance to get to know each other so that when Kareem does come back we have a team," he said.

He also said the Bucks have been fortunate in that other teams in the Midwest Division have failed to capitalize on the slump.

The Bucks trailed the Pistons by 5½ games before Wednesday night's game at Detroit. "We'll get a chance to get right back in it once we're healthy," he said.

LHS Girls Win Volleyball Title

Lincoln High won the public school's reserve girl's volleyball championships Tuesday night at Southeast High School.

The Links defeated the host Knights, 15-13, 15-17, 15-13 for the title.

In route to the title game, Lincoln High defeated East, 15-4, 15-8 while Southeast stopped Northeast 15-13, 16-14.

Brock Upset Over MVP Vote

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lou Brock is bitter. And he admits it.

After outrunning baseballs all season for a record 118 stolen bases, The St. Louis Cardinal outfielder finished second to Steve Garvey Tuesday in the race for the National League's Most Valuable Player.

"If I steal a thousand bases next year and they offer me the MVP, I wouldn't accept it," Brock said. "They (the voting writers) have been consistent. They have been showing consistent bad judgment for threeyears."

Cincinnati outfielder Pete Rose was the National League's MVP in 1973, while Reds catcher Johnny Bench won the award in 1972.

Garvey, the Los Angeles Dodgers first baseman, received 270 points to Brock's 233. Garvey also garnered 13 firstplace votes, while Brock drew eight.

The 35-year-old Brock had been generally favored to win the annual award, with the Dodgers' vote expected to be split between Garvey, pitcher Mike Marshall and Jim Wynn.

Brock, in addition to breaking Maury Wills' season record of 104 stolen bases, batted .306 and scored 105 runs. Garvey, 25, hit .312, smacked 21 home runs and drove in 112 runs.

"It's really hard to understand how they voted," said St. Louis Manager Red Schoendienst. "Not that the other guy (Garvey) didn't have a good year, but I don't know what else anyone could ask Brock to do."

Cardinals Coach Vern Benson added: "I'd hate to think where we'd have been without Lou. He obviously kept us in the race."

Brock had so anticipated winning the award he had set up a news conference in Chicago Tuesday afternoon which was canceled when Garvey was named the winner.

In Chicago to film a documentary on his life and arrange groundwork for a book, Brock declined to talk to local baseball writers. But he did make a brief reference to the MVP result on a Chicago television program.

"My hat's off to him (Garvey)," Brock sportscaster Johnny Morris on WMAQ-TV, but then Brock added, "I'm not pleased."

Blue Sets Lift Mark

Don Blue, the Nebraska penal complex trusty, set still another world weightlifting record over the past weekend.

Blue successfully defended his 148-pound title at the 1974 International Powerlifting Federation World Championships in York, Pa., while establishing a new standard in the bench press.

Blue lifted 341½ pounds, topping the previous mark of 335. He totaled 1,406 (his world record of 1,425 still stands) after adding 479½ in the squat and 585 pounds dead lift.

The dead lift was far below his normal effort but reports indicate Blue, once he had the championship clinched, tried to make a 50-pound jump in one turn in order to become the first man ever to total ten times his body weight.

Second place in Blue's weight division was 64 pounds behind at 1,342.

AP Selects Marek Top Back Of Week

FOOTBALL

Bill Marek, a 5-foot-8, 186 pound tailback from the University of Wisconsin, earned the Associated Press' College Back of the Week honor, after a four-touchdown performance Saturday against Iowa.

Tailback Willard Harrell of the University of Pacific, fourth in the nation in rushing, was the first player selected for the 50th annual college all-star East-West Shrine game next month.

Security forces will be doubled this Sunday and squads of plainclothesmen will roam through the stadium crowd because of increased violence among drunken fans at New England Patriots games.

The New York Stars franchise in the World Football League, which is now playing in Charlotte, N.C., has told creditors it has assets of $94,750 and liabilities of $2.5 million.

John Bassett, owner of the Memphis Southmen, wants the Canadian government — "And I mean everybody" — to leave the WFL alone concerning any merger with the Canadian Football League.

A sprained left ankle suffered by Chicago Bear halfback Carl Garrett Nov. 3 is failing to heal rapidly and will force the club's leading rusher to miss the next two games and possibly more.

The New Orleans Saints signed free agent Bob Wicks, a wide receiver, to replace injured special teams' captain Odell Lawson on the roster.

Willie Brown, Oakland's all-pro cornerback, stretched the ligaments in his left knee in Sunday's victory over Detroit and probably will miss three of the Raider's remaining five regular season games.

Offensive tackle Wayne Moore, sidelined by the Miami Dolphins this season while recovering from an off-season knee operation, was activated for Sunday's game against the Buffalo Bills at the Orange Bowl. Wide receiver Marlin Briscoe was placed on the injured reserve list to make room for Moore on the roster.

The Arts and Sciences Faculty at the College of William and Mary has endorsed de-emphasis of the school's athletic program.

Police Chief Harvey Shirley, of Campaign, Ill., said a pistol belonging to Gregory Williams had been recovered but it was not the weapon that killed the University of Illinois football star.

The Buffalo Bills have released punter Spike Jones and acquired punter Marv Bateman, also a back-up placekicker, from the Dallas Cowboys.

BASKETBALL

The Utah Stars front office admits the team may have lost former ABA all-star guard Jimmie Jones by not exercising the option clause in his contract.

Norm Sloan, coach of North Carolina State's NCAA basketball champions, will coach the East squad in the fourth annual Pizza Hut Basketball Classic, scheduled for April 15 in Las Vegas.

BASEBALL

Johnny Pesky, former Boston playing star and manager, and onetime major league pitcher Stan Williams were named coaches of the Red Sox, replacing Eddie Popowski and Lee Stange.

A fractured left wrist has sidelined Floyd Bannister, who was scheduled to be the opening pitcher for the United States in the World Amateur Baseball Games. Southern California right-hander George Milke will now draw the nod.

TENNIS

Arthur Ashe, from Miami, Fla., thrashed fellow American Marty Reissen, 6-1, 6-3, to reach the quarterfinals of the $72,000 Dewar Cup Indoor Tennis Tournament at Billingham, England.

Second-seeded Roscoe Tanner, of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., was upset by Jun Kuki of Japan, 6-2, 6-3, in the $50,000 Philippine International Tennis Classic. Unseeded Americans Jeff Austin and Fred McNair scored upsets to advance to the quarterfinals.

HOCKEY

Bobby Rousseau, a New York Rangers forward, will undergo spinal fusion surgery within 10 days and will be forced to sit out the balance of the season.

Chico Maki, 34, veteran Chicago Black Hawk winger, has retired.

Dale Tallon's dislocated hip, sustained in NHL action Tuesday night, could keep the Chicago Black Hawk center and defenseman out of action for a couple months, an attending physician said.

GOLF

The $20,000 World Open Golf Tournament will be played Sept. 11-14 next year at Pinehurst, N.C., place of the tournament the past two years.

Three South Africans fired two-under-par 68s to share the first-round lead in the $50,000 South African PGA Golf Championship. The leading trio, Terry Westbrook, Andreis Oosthuizen and Dale Hayes, lead American John Schlee by one stroke and hometown favorite Gary Palyer by two.

Stan Abel of Oklahoma has been named to coach the West squad in the East-West All-Star Wrestling match Feb. 3 at Clarion State, Pa. Thad Turner of Lehigh will coach the East.

Race car driver John Greenwood has signed a two-year lease with the Sebring Airport Authority to return to the 12-hour endurance race in Sebring, Fla. in March after a one-year absence.

Australia challenged South Africa, winner of the 1974 Davis Cup, to a showdown tennis match to determine which nation has the better team.

Oscar Bonavena of Argentina lived up to expectations and scored a technical knockout over Tongan heavyweight Mani Baka at 2:22 of the fifth round.

Ford Praises NBA's Gourdine

NEW YORK (UPI) — The phone rang in the offices of the National Basketball Association at 4 pm est Wednesday. It was the White House, saying that President Ford wished to congratulate Deputy Commissioner Simon Gourdine on his election to the No. 2 spot in the league.

Wary over past phone calls to personalities which proved to be hoaxes, the NBA phoned Washington to verify the call.

The president got on the line and told Gourdine, the highest black administrater in professional sports, that he was an avid pro basketball fan and often watched NBA action when taking time from his heavy workload.

Bugner Prime Threat To Ali's World Title?

London (UPI) — Not a word to Muhammad Ali, but Britain's European title-holder Joe Bugner is ready to become the next world heavyweight champion.

That's the verdict of Bugner's manager Andy Smith and Miami-based brothers Angelo and Chris Dundee following Bugner's decision win over Jimmy Ellis here Tuesday night.

Angelo, who manages former WBA champion Ellis and is cornerman for the Ali, said. "The boy's coming along well He'll be world champion one day, or my name ain't Angelo Dundee. He's made great progress in the couple of years since he fought Muhammad."

Miami promoter Chris Dundee echoed his brother's sentiments "Joe is going to be world champion, I believe there is no doubt about it. He is ready for Ali right now.

"Against Ellis he proved he is getting smarter, rougher and meaner in the ring, and that is good What is more Bugner is young, only 24, and the biggest, strongest heavyweight in the world. The rest of the bunch are getting old. The young man is ready to take over," Chris Dundee said today.

Bugner's performance in winning eight of the ten rounds against Ellis and drawing the other two, boosted manager Smith's belief that he is world title material.

"We will beat Muhammad Ali, let's have no doubt about it," Smith said. "The man who beat George Foreman in Zaire would not have defeated the man who beat Jimmy Ellis at Wembley.

"Let's face it, I would have been happier if Ellis had been knocked out. But we wanted to win and we did it. We won 100 per cent. We didn't lose a round. If Joe wins the world title as easily, I'll be a happy man And don't talk to me about (Ron) Lyle or (Jerry) Quarry. We want Ali next "

Bugner, who chalked up his 49th win in 56 fights, is confident he can beat Ali.

Off Season?

Catching up on racing news in Nebraska as Grand Island's Fonner Park opens in just 15 weeks:

Fonner general manager Al Swihart can only beam with happiness in the new Fonner purse schedule that offers a $1,700 minimum purse and a record purse distribution of $766,400, including stakes and handicap races estimated to total $125,000.

"That's by far at least $100,000, the most purses we've even given away," Swihart said. "Our purses will graduate up to $2,700 for older horses starting in allowances. We've raised all our stakes and overnight handicaps so the lowest purse is $4,000. The horsemen have to be pleased with that schedule."

That's so true.

The 14 stakes and feature races are topped by the Nebraska Derby, a mile chase for 3-year-olds on April 19 and the Gus Fonner Handicap a mile and 70-yard event for 3-year-olds and up on closing day April 26, that will offer the richest purses ever at Fonner and outstate Nebraska.

Both races have $15,000-added tags and the Derby will probably offer a $20,000 purse. The inaugural running of the Tondi Handicap, named after the famous runner, will be contested over 6 furlongs for 4-year-olds and older runners on April 18. That carries a $7,500 added tag.

Besides those races for the standout competitors, Fonner has increased its minimum claiming race to $2,000. There were some $15,000 claiming races last year.

Stall Applications Available

Swihart said stall applications and condition books are ready for horsemen for next year's 40-day meeting opening on Feb. 27. The deadline for stall applications is Jan. 3, 1975.

"We're really looking forward to next year's racing schedule," Swihart said. "We're also hoping to have the first $600,000 (one-day mutuel handle) in Nebraska outside Ak-Sar-Ben. We came close last year ($573,354) and if everything is right especially the weather, I'm sure we can do that next year."

The opening weekend features the Fonner Inaugural Handicap on Feb. 27 for 3-year-old fillies and the Jake Grasmick Handicap on March 1 for 3-year-olds & up. Both 4 furlong events offer $4,000 prizes.

The opening condition book only gives further evidence of the strides Swihart and his assistant Hugh Miner have made in transforming Fonner Park into one of this state's finest facilities for the entertainment dollar.

Elsewhere in racing, a trio of Nebraskans have purchased Hurry To Market, a 13-year-old son of To Market out of Hasty Girl by Princequillo, for an undisclosed price which is rumored to be between $50,000 and $100,000.

As a 2-year-old, Hurry To Market was named the country's best juvenile in 1963. His total earnings hit $204,129, which makes him one of the most valuable horses to stand in stud in Nebraska.

He was bought by John Grasmick of Seward, Paul Goetowski of Lincoln and Gleen Cubmore of Omaha and will stand at Grasmick's farm near Seward. The trio took possession of Hurry To Market in Doswell, Va. in September.

Jabbar's Hand Worrying Bucks

Milwaukee (AP) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, kingpin center of the National Basketball Association, holds the future of the slumping Milwaukee Bucks in one massive, swollen hand.

"We're just going on a day to day basis due to the swelling," a Bucks spokesman said of the broken hand the 7-foot-2 center suffered in the preseason. "When the swelling goes down, we'll be able to set a more definite date for him to return."

Without Abdul-Jabbar, the Bucks, who had the best record in the NBA last season, fell to a 1-11 record and stretched their club record losing streak to nine games with Tuesday night's 91-83 loss to Boston.

Coach Larry Costello said after the game that Abdul-Jabbar might miss another two weeks of action. He had been expected to rejoin the team Saturday night against Cleveland.

"Kareem is the best player in the game," Milwaukee General Manager Wayne Embry said Wednesday. "Also, he happens to be a center. It's the position that really hurts."

The Bucks, a center-oriented team, have sorely missed the scoring of Abdul-Jabbar, who averaged 27 points and about 15 rebounds a game last season and who holds a career scoring average of 30.5 points.

The Tuesday night victory gave Boston an 8-5 record despite the absence of 6-9 center Dave Cowens, a 19-point scorer last season who is also recovering from preseason injuries.

But Boston has two reserve centers, Henry Finkel and Jim Ard, while the Bucks' only reserve at the pivot, Dick Cunningham, returned from injuries which sidelined him last season only to suffer another disabling ankle injury.

Milwaukee turned to forward Cornell Warner, acquired last season, and 6-10 rookie Kevin Restani to fill in at the post. "Cornell has done a hell of a job rebounding," Embry said. "Restani is doing a pretty good job. We just don't have the offense without Kareem."

He said the Celtics could weather the loss of Cowens easier because of their roaming style of offense, the talents of such veterans as John Havlicek and Don Nelson and the cohesiveness of a starting five which played together last season.

And the Bucks were hit with the loss of Abdul-Jabbar at the same time they were trying to replace retired playmaker Oscar Robertson.

Warner and forward Bob Dandridge are only returning starters after the team's latest trade in which the Bucks sent Lucius Allen to Los Angeles for another guard, Jim Price, in quest of a team leader.

Embry said he didn't foresee any further trades.

"We have to give them a chance to get to know each other so that when Kareem does come back we have a team," he said.

He also said the Bucks have been fortunate in that other teams in the Midwest Division have failed to capitalize on the slump.

The Bucks trailed the Pistons by 5½ games before Wednesday night's game at Detroit. "We'll get a chance to get right back in it once we're healthy," he said.

LHS Girls Win Volleyball Title

Lincoln High won the public school's reserve girl's volleyball championships Tuesday night at Southeast High School.

The Links defeated the host Knights, 15-13, 15-17, 15-13 for the title.

In route to the title game, Lincoln High defeated East, 15-4, 15-8 while Southeast stopped Northeast 15-13, 16-14.

Brock Upset Over MVP Vote

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lou Brock is bitter. And he admits it.

After outrunning baseballs all season for a record 118 stolen bases, The St. Louis Cardinal outfielder finished second to Steve Garvey Tuesday in the race for the National League's Most Valuable Player.

"If I steal a thousand bases next year and they offer me the MVP, I wouldn't accept it," Brock said. "They (the voting writers) have been consistent. They have been showing consistent bad judgment for threeyears."

Cincinnati outfielder Pete Rose was the National League's MVP in 1973, while Reds catcher Johnny Bench won the award in 1972.

Garvey, the Los Angeles Dodgers first baseman, received 270 points to Brock's 233. Garvey also garnered 13 firstplace votes, while Brock drew eight.

The 35-year-old Brock had been generally favored to win the annual award, with the Dodgers' vote expected to be split between Garvey, pitcher Mike Marshall and Jim Wynn.

Brock, in addition to breaking Maury Wills' season record of 104 stolen bases, batted .306 and scored 105 runs. Garvey, 25, hit .312, smacked 21 home runs and drove in 112 runs.

"It's really hard to understand how they voted," said St. Louis Manager Red Schoendienst. "Not that the other guy (Garvey) didn't have a good year, but I don't know what else anyone could ask Brock to do."

Cardinals Coach Vern Benson added: "I'd hate to think where we'd have been without Lou. He obviously kept us in the race."

Brock had so anticipated winning the award he had set up a news conference in Chicago Tuesday afternoon which was canceled when Garvey was named the winner.

In Chicago to film a documentary on his life and arrange groundwork for a book, Brock declined to talk to local baseball writers. But he did make a brief reference to the MVP result on a Chicago television program.

"My hat's off to him (Garvey)," Brock sportscaster Johnny Morris on WMAQ-TV, but then Brock added, "I'm not pleased."

Blue Sets Lift Mark

Don Blue, the Nebraska penal complex trusty, set still another world weightlifting record over the past weekend.

Blue successfully defended his 148-pound title at the 1974 International Powerlifting Federation World Championships in York, Pa., while establishing a new standard in the bench press.

Blue lifted 341½ pounds, topping the previous mark of 335. He totaled 1,406 (his world record of 1,425 still stands) after adding 479½ in the squat and 585 pounds dead lift.

The dead lift was far below his normal effort but reports indicate Blue, once he had the championship clinched, tried to make a 50-pound jump in one turn in order to become the first man ever to total ten times his body weight.

Second place in Blue's weight division was 64 pounds behind at 1,342.

HANDI-FOOTBALL RATINGS

HOW TO USE THE RATINGS . . .

ILLUSTRATION: Air Force versus Yale

If the Air Force were to meet Yale on a neutral field, Air Force's Handi-Rating of 25 would hold a 3-point advantage over Yale's 28 rating.

If the game were played AT AIR FORCE, allow Air Force 3 points for playing at home. AIR FORCE would become a 6-point favorite.

If the game were played AT YALE, allow Yale 3 points for playing at home. This would make the game EVEN.

All teams are measured from the TOP RATING of zero.

Bullets Slam Kings, 118-81

LANDOVER, Md. (UPI) — Phil Chenier scored 25 points and Elvin Hayes 21 Wednesday night as the Washington Bullets romped to a 118-81 National Basketball Association victory over the Kansas City-Omaha Kings.

Chenier scored 14 points in the third period as Washington poured in 37 points, a season high for one quarter, to increase a 51-35 half time lead to 88-58.

Hayes, who had 11 rebounds, added 10 points in the third period as Washington was headed for its 10th win in 12 games. Kansas City has lost four straight and dropped to 6-7.

Six Bullets finished in four figures with Kevin Porter collecting 16 points and assisting on 13 other baskets. Wes Unseld added 11 points and had a team high 15 rebounds.

Nate Archibald, with 10 points in the third period, led Kansas City with 16 points. Sam Lacey had a game high 21 rebounds.

60 Years About Enough

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Bruning — For all of 60 years Margaret Henkel has been behind one Bruning counter or another, half the time at her own small variety store.

But soon she'll be closing shop. A promise to herself is that the big day will come "soon after Christmas."

"Some people don't believe me since I've talked for years of quitting, but this time I mean it," said Miss Henkel, 88 next month and the senior of this Thayer county community's main street merchants. "I think it's time I played lazy awhile."

The rest would seem much in order, considering that one trip to Colorado has been her one real vacation since she moved here from Jefferson County with her parents in 1914. Her numerous friends recall that when she wasn't minding the store she was busy caring for an ailing father, then her mother, then a brother.

The vigorous little spinster herself has "never been in a hospital in my life." She felt her first medical needle when receiving an arthritis injection last spring.

"I warned the doctor when he jabbed me in the left shoulder that if he hurt me too much I still had a good right fist," she recalled.

Once stocking "about everything but groceries," she now has a modest inventory of dry goods, hosiery, notions and buttons. Admittedly dwarfing any monetary profit is the store's continued role as a gathering place for longtime lady customers.

Several chairs, plain but incredibly dust-free like the rest of the store, are reserved for the visiting. These days much of the conversation centers on prices — $1.10 print material which once sold for 35 cents a yard and 60-cent thread which "was only eight cents per spool when I opened."

First serving the public as a seamstress and part-time telephone operator, Miss Henkel then worked several years for brother Fred when he opened a general merchandise store in 1918. She also helped at another store and a cafe befre branching out on her own shortly after World War II.

Memberships

She is proud of having belonged to "just about every organization in this town." For years she was treasurer of the American Legion Auxiliary and still holds membership in that group, the Commercial Woman's Club and the United Methodist Church's evening circle.

She still drives regularly but laments that time has taken away most of the family she used to enjoy visiting. Of 13 children, she is the only one remaining.

"I do have relations in California and that's where I hope to visit after I close out the store," she said. "Then there's no telling where all I'll go once I get away."

Nellie Wolfe, 79, Maywood, Dies

Maywood (AP) — Nellie Wolfe, a 79-year-old Maywood woman, was killed in a two-car crash about nine miles south of Maywood.

The State Patrol said it received a delayed report Wednesday of the death which occurred Nov. 2, following the accident Oct. 31.

The patrol said the car in which the victim was riding was driven by William Wolfe, 81, of Maywood and struck the rear of a northbound car stopped on Highway 83 for a school bus.

The driver of the second car was William L. Flanary, 36, of North Platte.

Omahan Won't Be Charged In Fatal Shooting

Omaha (AP) — No charges will be filed in the fatal shooting of an Omaha man last week, according to the Douglas County attorney's office.

Deputy County Atty. Edward Warin said Henry Lee Sessions, 46, of Omaha, arrested and booked last week on suspicion of homicide, will not be charged.

The arrest stemmed from the shooting death of Sessions' son-in-law, Benton H. Cambridge, 23.

Witnesses told police the shooting occurred during a family argument at a northside residence.

Warin said the case contains elements of self-defense, and that a jury would not likely be able to convict Sessions.

Diabetic Clinics Slated Next month

Humboldt — School diabetic screen clinics will be held in December in most of the junior and senior high schools in Nemaha, Johnson, Pawnee and Richardson counties under the direction of the Southeast Nebraska Community Action Council. Dates for the clinics are Dec. 2 at Johnson, Brock and Auburn schools; Dec. 3 at Sterling, Elk Creek and Nemaha Valley schools; Dec. 4 at Pawnee, Lewiston and Table Rock schools; Dec. 5 at Humboldt, Stella and Dawson; and Dec. 6 at Falls City Senior and Junior High, and Sacred Heart.

Hastings Choir Fall Concert Set

Hastings — The 75-voice Hastings College Choir will present its annual fall concert at 8 p.m. Friday in French Memorial Chapel. Directing the choir will be Lawrence Van Slambrook, assistant professor of music at the college. Four student conductors who will lead the Madrigal Ensembles are Cynthia Sheppard of Lakewood, Colo., Charles Austin of Seward, Robin Koozer of Broken Bow and Fritz Mountford of Red Cloud.

Mrs. Gentzler Named City Clerk

City of Sutton Buys Building

Sutton — The old OK Tire Service building, located across from the Sutton Post Office, has been purchased by the City of Sutton. Long-range plans call for the site to be used for new city offices and a fire station.

Mrs. Lockwood, Carpenter Honored

Gering (UPI) — Mrs. Margaret Lockwood of Gering and Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff were named recipients of the Scottsbluff-Gering United Chamber of Commerce Trail Blazer awards. The awards are presented annually to persons for their outstanding civil work. In accepting his award, Carpenter said he "used to be known as 'Terrible Terry' but I'm now known throughout the state as 'Landslide Carpenter'." He referred to his apparent three-vote margin of victory in the general election for his former legislative seat.

GW Sugar Co. Announces 1st Crop Payment

Scottsbluff (AP) — Great Western Sugar Co. has announced it will send out advance returns for 1974 sugar beet crop.

Robert J. Fisher, senior vice president of agriculture, said the returns to growers will average $28.58 per ton.

Fisher said the initial payment will be mailed Nov. 20 to more than 4,000 growers in Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming and Montana. It will total $119 million, compared to an initial payment last year of $75 million.

Fisher said payments on the 1974 crop will be made whenever necessary, possibly as early as January and possibly even more frequently than last year.

There were five payments in 1973. In previous years, there were three payments.

Fisher said record-high sugar prices, as well as record-high farm industry returns, are the result of a worldwide sugar shortage.

In Nebraska's North Platte Valley, payment levels will be slightly lower because the sugar content of the beet crop was a bit lower than the Great Western overall average.

Area Agriculture Director Leonard Henderson said advance returns to growers in the North Platte Valley will average 40¢ lower than the companywide payment.

The valley payment will be $28.18 per ton. This includes beets delivered to factories in Scottsbluff, Gering, Bayard and Mitchell.

Nebraska's September Highway Death Toll 29

Twenty-nine persons died on Nebraska's highways in September, according to a report released by the Accident Records Bureau of the Department of Roads.

Sept. 1 and Sept. 7 were the worst dates with four fatalities each. The eight deaths for the two dates occurred at night. Overall, 18 persons were killed in nighttime accidents.

Eleven persons died in accidents on U.S. highways, while nine more met deaths on the county roads or at county road intersections. The remaining nine fatalities occurred on city streets and state highways.

Lancaster and Douglas counties were the "lead" counties with five fatalities each.

Legislature Will Study Bills On Water Use

By The Associated Press

The 1975 Legislature will be facing some tough decisions when it acts on major pieces of legislation which will determine how Nebraska used its water.

State Sen. Maurice Kremer, chairman of the Legislature's Public Works Committee, noted Wednesday that experts at the World Food conference in Rome believed a critical shortage of water would be the next problem affecting production of food.

Kremer said he believed Nebraska had enough water if it could use it. He said seven gallons of water flow out of the state unused for every gallon that enters.

In an attempt to make better use of the state's water, the Public Works Committee and others will introduce major pieces of legislation into the coming session.

The Public Works Committee agreed Wednesday to introduce a bill which would regulate the drilling of irrigation and municipal wells in water-short areas of the state. The bill would give the director of water resources and the Natural Resource Districts authority to halt well digging and require adequate spacing between wells or place well owners on a rotating pumping schedule.

A similar bill was introduced last year and received opposition from some farmers and ranchers who feared state control. But several senators now say, that with irrigation wells surging air in some areas, the time for the legislation has come.

Another important piece of legislation the Public Works Committee agreed to introduce would give the Nebraska Natural Resources Commission authority over construction in river channels. The Public Works Committee hopes the Legislature will pass the bill into law before the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers takes responsibility for regulating construction in the Platte River Channel between North Platte and the Missouri River.

Gov. J. James Exon announced Wednesday that Col. Russell A. Glenn, who heads the Corps' Omaha office, agreed to ask his superiors in Washington not to take control of the Platte until Feb. 1.

Opportunity To Review

Exon said the delay would give Nebraskans an opportunity to review and object to the move.

The corps would take control of the Platte by declaring it a navigable river. Glenn said the Corps' ultimate decision would be made on the history of the river. He said the section between North Platte and Omaha was used for interstate commerce by early fur traders.

Exon is to meet with Glenn Dec. 10.

Glenn said the Corps could use either 1968 or 1974 as the cutoff date for existing construction. He said owners of recently constructed projects may have to apply for a permit from the Corps of Engineers.

Glenn said temporary irrigation intakes would not need permits, but said permanent concrete intakes would need them.

Kremer said he envisioned the state law to apply to construction in the state's major 13 rivers. But he said the exact scope of the bill has not been determined.

Buccaneer Bay Catalyst

The catalyst for the legislation was Buccaneer Bay, a development south of Omaha on the Platte River which has built causeways into the channel. Nearby residents fear the causeways may cause flooding.

The Legislature may escape the question of transbasin diversion for another year or two.

Transbasin diversion is a plan for moving water from water-rich basins to water-poor basins.

Kremer said he did not want to consider the legislation until an actual project was under consideration.

He said the legislation should be considered on a project-by-project basis and he predicted there would be no projects ready for consideration for a year or two.

He said the transbasin diversion legislation should set up the projects so they would "in no way harm the basin of origin and be of benefit to the area which could use the water."

GOP Phone Blitz Crucial To Wins?

A 79-county telephone blitz, in which thousands of volunteers contacted Republican voters in the final few days of the campaign, may have played a crucial role in the GOP's success in Nebraska Election Day.

Although Republicans were unable to recover the governorship, they won all of the other seven contests for statewide or national office. Three of those races contained no incumbent.

(The other statewide office, that of lieutenant governor, went with the governorship in a team vote.)

Only Kansas crowded Nebraska in terms of Republican success.

All-GOP Delegation

When the smoke had cleared from last week's national Democratic landslide, Nebraska emerged as the only state in the union with an all-Republican delegation in the Congress.

Although Republican state headquarters hands most of the credit to the candidates themselves, the mass telephone recruitment of registered Republican voters presumably had something to do with the big GOP turnout.

Nebraska's voter turnout was considerably larger than the national average — in terms of percentages — and results indicate that Republicans voted in the heaviest percentages of all.

"We think our telephone effort was significant," state executive director Glenn Wilson of Lincoln noted in a Lincoln interview Wednesday.

"Most of the credit, of course, goes to the candidates we had," he said. "They were dynamic, hard-working candidates."

'Very Successful'

But, in terms of a secondary factor, he pointed out, "we were very successful in turning out the vote," and the telephone canvass helped do that.

In Lancaster County, the number of telephone volunteers was "in the hundreds," Wilson said. Douglas County had even larger numbers.

In one typical outstate county, Hamilton, 35 to 40 persons manned the phones urging registered Republicans to go to the polls.

Republicans did not use large banks of telephones in which workers were closely supervised. There were some training sessions for the workers, but most of the calls were either made from a volunteer's home or from sites where several telephones were available for use, Wilson said.

Although Republicans were disappointed to lose the team race for governor and lieutenant governor, Wilson noted, Democrats had some built-in advantages in that contest. It was the one race in which the Democrats could claim an incumbent, Gov. J. James Exon.

Morale Upsurge

Wilson said the upsurge in party morale since last week's election has been substantial.

"We certainly were a bright spot nationally for Republicans," he noted.

Nebraska's GOP won't have long to celebrate its victories.

A state executive committee meeting, scheduled for Lincoln on Nov. 22, will map out legislative and budgetary programs for next year.

"We're not going to spend much time talking about the election," Wilson said. "We're going to be talking about the future."

60 Years About Enough

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Bruning — For all of 60 years Margaret Henkel has been behind one Bruning counter or another, half the time at her own small variety store.

But soon she'll be closing shop. A promise to herself is that the big day will come "soon after Christmas."

"Some people don't believe me since I've talked for years of quitting; but this time I mean it," said Miss Henkel, 88 next month and the senior of this Thayer county community's main street merchants. "I think it's time I played lazy awhile."

The rest would seem much in order, considering that one trip to Colorado has been her one real vacation since she moved here from Jefferson County with her parents in 1914. Her numerous friends recall that when she wasn't minding the store she was busy caring for an ailing father, then her mother, then a brother.

The vigorous little spinster herself has "never been in a hospital in my life." She felt her first medical needle when receiving an arthritis injection last spring.

"I warned the doctor when he jabbed me in the left shoulder that if he hurt me too much I still had a good right fist," she recalled.

Once stocking "about everything but groceries," she now has a modest inventory of dry goods, hosiery, notions and buttons. Admittedly dwarfing any monetary profit is the store's continued role as a gathering place for longtime lady customers.

Several chairs, plain but incredibly dust-free like the rest of the store, are reserved for the visiting. These days much of the conversation centers on prices — $1.10 print material which once sold for 35 cents a yard and 60-cent thread which "was only eight cents per spool when I opened."

First serving the public as a seamstress and part-time telephone operator, Miss Henkel then worked several years for brother Fred when he opened a general merchandise store in 1918. She also helped at another store and a cafe befre branching out on her own shortly after World War II.

Memberships

She is proud of having belonged to "just about every organization in this town." For years she was treasurer of the American Legion Auxiliary and still holds membership in that group, the Commercial Woman's Club and the United Methodist Church's evening circle.

She still drives regularly but laments that time has taken away most of the family she used to enjoy visiting. Of 13 children, she is the only one remaining.

"I do have relations in California and that's where I hope to visit after I close out the store," she said. "Then there's no telling where all I'll go once I get away."

Nellie Wolfe, 79, Maywood, Dies

Maywood (AP) — Nellie Wolfe, a 79-year-old Maywood woman, was killed in a two-car crash about nine miles south of Maywood.

The State Patrol said it received a delayed report Wednesday of the death which occurred Nov. 2, following the accident Oct. 31.

The patrol said the car in which the victim was riding was driven by William Wolfe, 81, of Maywood and struck the rear of a northbound car stopped on Highway 83 for a school bus.

The driver of the second car was William L. Flanary, 36, of North Platte.

Omahan Won't Be Charged In Fatal Shooting

Omaha (AP) — No charges will be filed in the fatal shooting of an Omaha man last week, according to the Douglas County attorney's office.

Deputy County Atty. Edward Warin said Henry Lee Sessions, 46, of Omaha, arrested and booked last week on suspicion of homicide, will not be charged.

The arrest stemmed from the shooting death of Sessions' son-in-law, Benton H. Cambridge, 23.

Witnesses told police the shooting occurred during a family argument at a northside residence.

Warin said the case contains elements of self-defense, and that a jury would not likely be able to convict Sessions.

Diabetic Clinics Slated Next month

Humboldt — School diabetic screen clinics will be held in December in most of the junior and senior high schools in Nemaha, Johnson, Pawnee and Richardson counties under the direction of the Southeast Nebraska Community Action Council. Dates for the clinics are Dec. 2 at Johnson, Brock and Auburn schools; Dec. 3 at Sterling, Elk Creek and Nemaha Valley schools; Dec. 4 at Pawnee, Lewiston and Table Rock schools; Dec. 5 at Humboldt, Stella and Dawson; and Dec. 6 at Falls City Senior and Junior High, and Sacred Heart.

Hastings Choir Fall Concert Set

Hastings — The 75-voice Hastings College Choir will present its annual fall concert at 8 p.m. Friday in French Memorial Chapel. Directing the choir will be Lawrence Van Slambrook, assistant professor of music at the college. Four student conductors who will lead the Madrigal Ensembles are Cynthia Sheppard of Lakewood, Colo., Charles Austin of Seward, Robin Koozer of Broken Bow and Fritz Mountford of Red Cloud.

Mrs. Gentzler Named City Clerk

City of Sutton Buys Building

Sutton — The old OK Tire Service building, located across from the Sutton Post Office, has been purchased by the City of Sutton. Long-range plans call for the site to be used for new city offices and a fire station.

Mrs. Lockwood, Carpenter Honored

Gering (UPI) — Mrs. Margaret Lockwood of Gering and Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff were named recipients of the Scottsbluff-Gering United Chamber of Commerce Trail Blazer awards. The awards are presented annually to persons for their outstanding civil work. In accepting his award, Carpenter said he "used to be known as 'Terrible Terry' but I'm now known throughout the state as 'Landslide Carpenter'." He referred to his apparent three-vote margin of victory in the general election for his former legislative seat.

GW Sugar Co. Announces 1st Crop Payment

Scottsbluff (AP) — Great Western Sugar Co. has announced it will send out advance returns for 1974 sugar beet crop.

Robert J. Fisher, senior vice president of agriculture, said the returns to growers will average $28.58 per ton.

Fisher said the initial payment will be mailed Nov. 20 to more than 4,000 growers in Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming and Montana. It will total $119 million, compared to an initial payment last year of $75 million.

Fisher said payments on the 1974 crop will be made whenever necessary, possibly as early as January and possibly even more frequently than last year.

There were five payments in 1973. In previous years, there were three payments.

Fisher said record-high sugar prices, as well as record-high farm industry returns, are the result of a worldwide sugar shortage.

In Nebraska's North Platte Valley, payment levels will be slightly lower because the sugar content of the beet crop was a bit lower than the Great Western overall average.

Area Agriculture Director Leonard Henderson said advance returns to growers in the North Platte Valley will average 40c lower than the companywide payment.

The valley payment will be $28.18 per ton. This includes beets delivered to factories in Scottsbluff, Gering, Bayard and Mitchell.

Nebraska's September Highway Death Toll 29

Twenty-nine persons died on Nebraska's highways in September, according to a report released by the Accident Records Bureau of the Department of Roads.

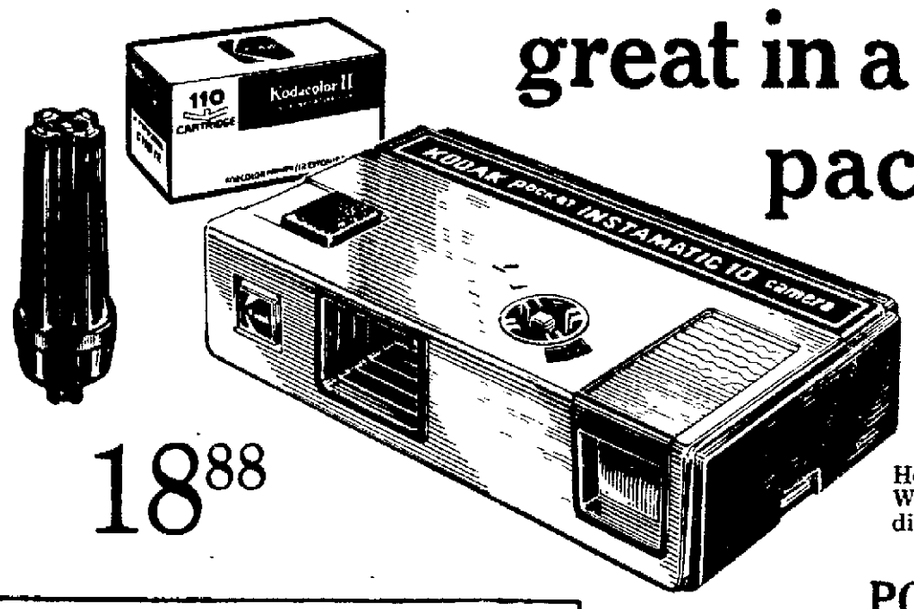

Sept. 1 and Sept. 7 were the worst dates with four fatalities each. The eight deaths for the two dates occurred at night. Overall, 18 persons were killed in nighttime accidents.

Eleven persons died in accidents on U.S. highways, while nine more met deaths on the county roads or at county road intersections. The remaining nine fatalities occurred on city streets and state highways.

Lancaster and Douglas counties were the "lead" counties with five fatalities each.

Junior High Offers Students Job 'Packages'

Omaha (AP) — Got an old toaster that refuses to pop up or burns the whole wheat on one side and doesn't heat the other? What about a waffle iron that produces less than appetizing breakfast fare?

You might give Michael Brooks a call at Westbrook Junior High School.

No, Brooks isn't a moonlighting small appliance repairman. He might not even know a good full-time jack-of-all trades. But he does know a few part-timers.

Guidance Counselor Mike Brooks presides over an innovative program, called "Project Discovery," which provides help to youngsters searching for a possible adult career.

Junior High Critical

Junior High School, grades 7-9, has been cited by educators, psychologists and other experts as a critical time in the educational process. Many adults who hurdled the period with some difficulty, remember the uncertainty and even fear of going through what for many was a traumatic period.

At Westbrook Junior High School and 16 other schools throughout the country, the unusual program assists adolescents in choosing what may become a career in a few years by exposing them to actual work tasks they may face in a job situation.

The program was developed by the Southwest Iowa Learning Resources Center in Red Oak, a regional education service funded by state and federal grants.

The pilot "Project Discovery" places career "packages" in the schools, allowing students to experiment, among many other things, with small appliance repair, food service and even construction of miniature segments of houses, complete with wiring, plumbing and interior wall construction.

Brooks says the school now has 32 career "packages," offering about ten specific jobs within each package. Students participating in the program are allowed to progress through each "package" at their own speed in order to provide as many types of on-the-job situations as possible.

60 Participants

Brooks says about 60 eighth grade students are participating in the program during the experimental period. The 60, he says, were chosen completely at random and are basically a "control group" whose purpose is to give the school an idea of how well the system works.

At the conclusion of the program at Westbrook after this semester, Brooks says, officials will evaluate it "to see if it is doing what it's supposed to do."

But Brooks says he has few doubts that "Project Discovery" is a valuable learning tool and will be continued as a regular part of the curriculum. He adds that the final decision will be up to the board of education, but he's pretty certain what his recommendation will be.

When the program goes into actual operation, Brooks says, some 80 different career fields with about ten different job options will be available to participants. Included are such diverse fields as show business, journalism and upholstering.

The cost for the pilot program at Westbrook will be $24,500-$29,000 depending on final costs of consumable materials, but Brooks is quick to note that a large part of the cost comes from research and high material production costs, which will be considerably lessened when the materials are ready for mass distribution.

Brooks says each student's activity is closely checked for results but is otherwise a very independent student activity.

Students have been able to discuss their experience among themselves in small groups and with Brooks. He says the experience enables him to guide the student toward a career both rewarding for him and within his capabilities. That wasn't always possible with testing alone, he adds.

The "packages," says Brooks, are formulated at a sixth grade reading level so no problems will arise becasue of the student's reading comprehension.

Not Only Difference

As unique as it is, "Project Discovery" isn't the only thing at Westbrook that students of a few years ago wouldn't recognize.

Some instruction is divided into blocks, combining two or three subjects into a longer than normal class period.

The purpose, says Brooks, is to allow each student the latitude he needs to progress in each area. For example, if a student is strong in mathematics and weak in social studies he is allowed, with the instructor's permission, to spend almost the entire class period in social studies.

Brooks says the flexibility of such a program allows the school to produce a student more capable of dealing with high school and college or a job. He notes that the students are not automatically passed simply to rid a teacher of a burdensome task. The student, Brooks says, must be capable of performing adequately in a particular area before he moves on.

And Westbrook offers something else to shock your gray-haired, stern-faced study hall keeper: responsibility passes. That's right, passes that allow students freedom of movement about the building to engage in whatever activities they feel will be of most benefit, within what Brooks calls "reasonable limitations."

No Foul Play Seen In Death

Seward County Atty. Curtis Evans said Wednesday that there was no evidence of foul play in the death of a Lincoln woman in a Seward motel room.

Evans said that the woman apparently died of a drug overdose, but that the type of drug involved had not yet been determined. Investigation was continuing, he said.

The woman was identified as Rose Mary Oziah, 39, of 6434 Y. Mrs. Oziah was reported missing on Tuesday by her husband, Eugene.

Survey Shows Support For Rockefeller Eroding

By LOUIS HARRIS

Support for the designation of former Governor Nelson Rockefeller as vice president has slipped to the point where a 43-39% plurality of the American people now disapproves of his confirmation. Only two months ago, just after President Ford sent Rockefeller's name to Congress, a 55-31% majority approved the nomination.

The causes of Rockefeller's sharply eroded support are apparent from the results of this latest Harris Survey conducted Nov. 1-5 among a nationwide cross section of 1,525 adults:

—By 54-28%, a majority of the public feels that it was "not all right for him to give $2 million as gifts and loans to people he appointed to high office." Although the former governor has maintained that these gifts were acts of generosity, his critics point out and the public agrees that it is improper for public office holders to receive gifts or personal loans from another individual

—An even larger 58-15% majority feels that Rockefeller was "wrong to have his brother finance a negative book about his 1970 opponent for governor of New York, Arthur Goldberg." In the post-Watergate public demand for honesty and forthrightness in public officials, both the issue and Rockefeller's handling of it after it became public have badly hurt his chances for public approval.

—A 47-34% plurality of the public feels that "there would be a conflict of interest if he were confirmed as vice president because of his family's financial holdings and investments."

However, this criticism of the Rockefeller wealth did not keep people from praising the good works of the various Rockefeller foundations and charitable enterprises. A thumping 71-9% majority believes that "he and his family have been generous in giving their money to many good causes."

Louis Harris

Plurality Disapproves

Despite a decided turn for the worse in public attitudes toward his nomination, Nelson Rockefeller nonetheless has support in certain areas still going for him:

—By 49-35%, a plurality feels "he is well qualified to be President if he had to take over." But these latest results are down from the 59-27% majority who felt the same way back in early September.

—By 59-26%, a majority believes that "Rockefeller is one of the most experienced men in public life," a percentage that is virtually unchanged over the past few months.

—By 51-28%, a majority also feels that Nelson Rockefeller "has a dynamic personality."

—By 50-24%, a majority believes Rockefeller to be "a sound and progressive man in his views," although this percentage has dropped from 61-20% when he was first designated for vice president.

All of these positive feelings about Rockefeller are still not enough to outweigh several more serious reservations that the public has People were asked:

War Veteran Is Unconcerned That He's Dead

Crossville, Tenn. (AP) — Rupert Maxwell isn't dead, but you can't blame some people for being confused.

Maxwell's name is included on the Cumberland County Honor Roll of men who died in battle.

Maxwell, who now lives in Jacksonville, Fla., was a World War II fighter pilot. He was shot down over Germany in 1944 and spent eight months as a prisoner of war.

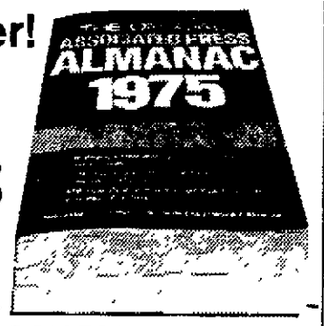

As a result of some sort of mix-up, his name wound up on the county honor roll and was included again when a new monument was erected recently.

"I have no objections to being left as dead," Maxwell wrote to the local newspaper, "as I am used to it." But, he added, "I should not be honored for giving my all for my country as those others did."

Court officials said they would delete his name from the list.

Junior High Offers Students Job 'Packages'

Omaha (AP) — Got an old toaster that refuses to pop up or burns the whole wheat on one side and doesn't heat the other? What about a waffle iron that produces less than appetizing breakfast fare?

You might give Michael Brooks a call at Westbrook Junior High School.

No, Brooks isn't a moonlighting small appliance repairman. He might not even know a good full-time jack-of-all trades. But he does know a few part-timers.

Guidance Counselor Mike Brooks presides over an innovative program, called "Project Discovery," which provides help to youngsters searching for a possible adult career.

Junior High Critical

Junior High School, grades 7-9, has been cited by educators, psychologists and other experts as a critical time in the educational process. Many adults who hurdled the period with some difficulty, remember the uncertainty and even fear of going through what for many was a traumatic period.

At Westbrook Junior High School and 16 other schools throughout the country, the unusual program assists adolescents in choosing what may become a career in a few years by exposing them to actual work tasks they may face in a job situation.

The program was developed by the Southwest Iowa Learning Resources Center in Red Oak, a regional education service funded by state and federal grants.

The pilot "Project Discovery" places career "packages" in the schools, allowing students to experiment, among many other things, with small appliance repair, food service and even construction of miniature segments of houses, complete with wiring, plumbing and interior wall construction.

Brooks says the school now has 32 career "packages," offering about ten specific jobs within each package. Students participating in the program are allowed to progress through each "package" at their own speed in order to provide as many types of on-the-job situations as possible.

60 Participants

Brooks says about 60 eighth grade students are participating in the program during the experimental period. The 60, he says, were chosen completely at random and are basically a "control group" whose purpose is to give the school an idea of how well the system works.

At the conclusion of the program at Westbrook after this semester, Brooks says, officials will evaluate it "to see if it is doing what it's supposed to do."

But Brooks says he has few doubts that "Project Discovery" is a valuable learning tool and will be continued as a regular part of the curriculum. He adds that the final decision will be up to the board of education, but he's pretty certain what his recommendation will be.

When the program goes into actual operation, Brooks says, some 80 different career fields with about ten different job options will be available to participants. Included are such diverse fields as show business, journalism and upholstering.

The cost for the pilot program at Westbrook will be $24,500-$29,000 depending on final costs of consumable materials, but Brooks is quick to note that a large part of the cost comes from research and high material production costs, which will be considerably lessened when the materials are ready for mass distribution.

Brooks says each student's activity is closely checked for results but is otherwise a very independent student activity.

Students have been able to discuss their experience among themselves in small groups and with Brooks. He says the experience enables him to guide the student toward a career both rewarding for him and within his capabilities. That wasn't always possible with testing alone, he adds.

The "packages," says Brooks, are formulated at a sixth grade reading level so no problems will arise becasue of the student's reading comprehension.

Not Only Difference

As unique as it is, "Project Discovery" isn't the only thing at Westbrook that students of a few years ago wouldn't recognize.

Some instruction is divided into blocks, combining two or three subjects into a longer than normal class period.

The purpose, says Brooks, is to allow each student the latitude he needs to progress in each area. For example, if a student is strong in mathematics and weak in social studies he is allowed, with the instructor's permission, to spend almost the entire class period in social studies.

Brooks says the flexibility of such a program allows the school to produce a student more capable of dealing with high school and college or a job. He notes that the students are not automatically passed simply to rid a teacher of a burdensome task. The student, Brooks says, must be capable of performing adequately in a particular area before he moves on.

And Westbrook offers something else to shock your gray-haired, stern-faced study hall keeper: responsibility passes. That's right, passes that allow students freedom of movement about the building to engage in whatever activities they feel will be of most benefit, within what Brooks calls "reasonable limitations."

No Foul Play Seen In Death

Seward County Atty. Curtis Evans said Wednesday that there was no evidence of foul play in the death of a Lincoln woman in a Seward motel room.

Evans said that the woman apparently died of a drug overdose, but that the type of drug involved had not yet been determined. Investigation was continuing, he said.

The woman was identified as Rose Mary Oziah, 39, of 6434 Y. Mrs. Oziah was reported missing on Tuesday by her husband, Eugene

Metro Area Board's Request To Buy Campus Sites Rejected

The State Board of Technical Community Colleges has conditionally denied a request by the Metropolitan Technical Community College (Metro) Area Board, Omaha, to buy campus sites.

The unanimous board vote came after the Nebraska attorney general reviewed statutes governing the Metro Area Board and determined it had no authority to buy property by option.

The options on the two sites would have been placed until Aug. 1975, when the balance of the funds needed would have been requested from the Legislature.

Board members directed Metro Area officials to present another proposal, according to State Board Executive Director Robert C. Schleiger.

For example, he said the Omaha Industrial Foundation, which owns the land, could exercise the option; then the Metro Area could request the Legislature to purchase the land outright.

Metro proposed buying 117 acres at 150th and W. Dodge as the permanent site for the Western Douglas County Campus, at a cost of $896,665; and two South Omaha tracts for permanent campus sites totaling 80.2 acres, for $1,629,000.

Metro Area President Marm M. Harris said the college has $300,000 for planning and site acquisition, which would have been used to pay the options totaling approximately $110,000.

4 SeTech Board Hopefuls Awaiting Uncounted Votes

In the race for two seats on the Southeast Nebraska Technical Community College (SeTech) Area Board, the fate of four candidates Wednesday was apparently hanging on yet uncounted absentee and disabled ballots in Saline and York Counties.

A pattern has begun to emerge in the 1st District contest between incumbent Board Chairman Merle Ebers of Beaver Crossing and Ted Doyle of Fairbury.

In unofficial counting, Ebers Wednesday had 9,258 votes and Doyle had 9,544, or a 286-vote lead. That count includes all late ballots except 19 of 87 in Saline County and all those in York County.

Only Dent Possible?

Ebers in the general election won Saline, by 1,802 to 1,337 for Doyle. But with only 19 more late ballots possible in Saline and a total of 149 possible in York, the 168 apparently would only dent Doyle's lead.

Ebers also trailed in the general election, with 9,095 votes, while Doyle got 9,373. They are competing for a four-year term.

Also in the 1st District, for a two-year term, only three votes separated incumbent Howard Mannschreck of Fairbury and Lloyd V. Wright of Reynolds, as of Wednesday.

The two were only 18 votes apart in the general election. Mannschreck trailed with 9,220 to Wright's 9,238.

Lead Shrunk

With York and Saline Counties not reporting late ballots, Mannschreck shrunk Wright's lead, but is narrowly behind, 9,394 to 9,397.

Mannschreck cannot hope for much support from absentee and disabled ballots in York County, if the general election voters' 2-to-1 preference for Wright indicates any trend.

But in Saline County, Mannschreck led in the general election, with 1,595 compared to 1,504 for Wright.

The York County clerk said unofficial totals for late ballots might be ready on Thursday.

Colleges Board Will Act On Construction Requests

The State Board of Technical Community Colleges will take action on 1975-76 capital construction requests totaling about $18 million from the six community college areas, at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 22.

The board will meet in the Beatrice Room of the Nebraska Center, 33rd and Holdrege.

Requests from the Southeast Nebraska Technical Community College (SeTech) Area, headquartered in Lincoln, are not yet firm, pending a possible decision next week to consolidate or reorganize the SeTech Lincoln campus.

The SeTech Fairbury and Milford campuses have submitted a combined total of $750,897 in 1975-76 capital construction requests.

The Metropolitan Area, Omaha, is considering site acquisition and construction for permanent campuses, and renovation of Fort Omaha, 30th and Fort, vacated by the U.S. Navy.

The Mid Plains Area, headquartered in North Platte, is requesting funds to complete a building on a new campus site, and the other three community college areas have submitted requests mainly for large building renovation projects.

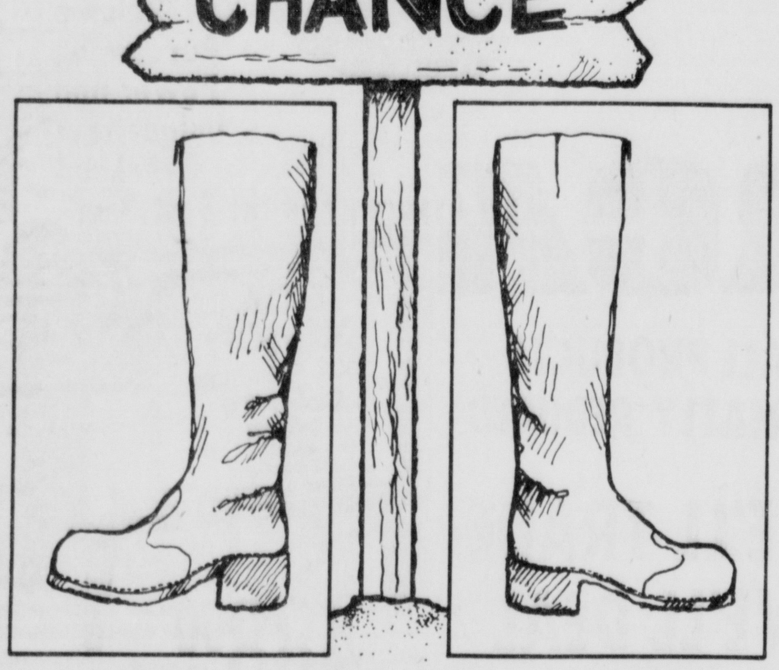

The state board will also consider a long-term disability plan for state board employes, which may serve as a model for each of the area boards to consider. A report is scheduled on the Management Information System being developed for the state's community colleges.

Ellsworth Visits Jordan Officials

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — The U.S. undersecretary of defense for international security, Robert Ellsworth, arrived in Amman Tuesday at the head of a military delegation for talks with Jordanian officials, a government announcement said.

The announcement said Ellsworth will discuss "military cooperation" between Jordan and the United States. He arrived here from Saudi Arabia.

"ALL-4" The 4 'fabulous' ingredents that everybody is talking about . . .

What is this "ALL-4" that everybody is talking about "ALL-4" is the name we've given a specially formulated tablet containing Vitamin B-6, Lecithin and Kelp in a base of Cider Vinegar. The combination of ingredients talked about for weight control in low calorie diets.

Lecithin: A substance derived from vegetable oils that is actually a food, not a drug. In a recent experiment, a doctor found that Lecithin produced a decrease of as much as 30% in cholesterol and at the same time, tended to shift weight from one area of the body to another for a more streamlined silhouette.

Vitamin B-6: The fat-metabolizing vitamin that scientists have found works with body chemicals to balance and regulate body fluids to prevent water retention and bloat.

Kelp: Nature's great food mineral harvested from the ocean and oar most reliable source for essential Iodine — so important in burning up fuel to melt fat accumulations away.

Cider Vinegar: Legendary solution used down thru the ages in weight control diets, is the basis for this outstanding new formula.

Just Being There May Result In Conviction

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

You may think you're innocent, but under the law you're guilty.

This is what members of Lincoln Attorneys Wives and the American Association of University Women found out Wednesday during a mock trial in Lancaster County Court.

Based on an actual case disposed of in the court recently, a mock trial was conducted for a young woman charged with a misdemeanor offense of being in a place where a controlled substance is being used.

The evidence was that she went to an apartment with her husband to find her sister-in-law who was on probation. While she was there police raided the apartment and she was arrested along with other occupants of the apartment.

She testified that she observed a pipe and a roach in an ashtray but was not aware that anyone was smoking marijuana during the 45 minutes she was at the apartment.

According to her testimony, she was attempting to get her sister-in-law to leave the apartment during the time she was there.

Judge Jeffre Cheuvront found her guilty because the law specifically states that it is illegal to be in a place where a controlled substance is being used.

He said had she left after noticing evidence of marijuana being used there and when she was not immediately successful in getting her sister-in-law to leave, it would be a different situation.

However, he explained, the fact that she remained for 45 minutes where controlled substances had obviously been used made her guilty of being in a place where a controlled substance is being used.

Judge Cheuvront pointed out that it is the responsibility of an individual under Nebraska law to leave a place when it is obvious there is illegal activity.

On further questioning, he explained that individuals who host a party or gathering where some of the guests may be engaging in illegal activity such as smoking marijuana also can be found guilty of maintaining a place where marijuana is being used.

It is the responsibility of the hosts to require guests engaging in such illegal activity to leave the premises; otherwise they are guilty even if they are not actually participating in the illegal activity.

UNL Grad To Discuss Terrorism

A Lincoln native and United Nations legal affairs officer, Larry Johnson, will discuss "International Terrorism" in two speeches Friday, as part of a Model United Nations this week at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

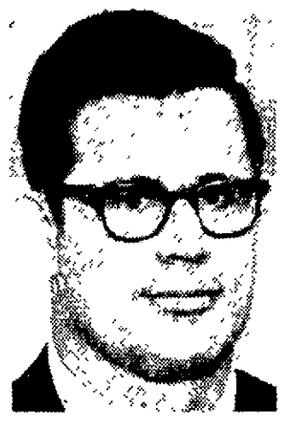

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln and Harvard Law School graduate will speak 10 a.m. Friday in Olin Lecture Hall, and 6:30 p.m. at an international banquet at the First United Methodist Church.

Johnson spent nine weeks this summer in Geneva, Switzerland, working for the International Law Commission.

The Model U.N. began Wednesday when students, representing various nations, caucused among themselves.

The banquet, with foods of India and France, is sponsored by the NWU International Students' Association.

"Focus" is the big entertainment section in the "Sunday Journal and Star."

Bernard J. McGinn

McGinn Appointed Deputy County Attorney

Chief Deputy Lancaster County Atty. Ron Lahners, who will assume the county attorney's duties on Jan. 6, announced Wednesday that Deputy Bernard J. McGinn will be his chief deputy.

McGinn, a 35-year-old graduate of the University of Nebraska Law College, joined the county attorney's staff as a deputy in July, 1969, and served as a law clerk in that office for about 18 months prior to that time

Lahners, who was elected county attorney to succeed Paul Douglas, who will assume the attorney general's duties in January, said McGinn's total experience in the office and his "strength in management and detail" influenced his appointment.

McGinn said he was pleased to be asked to be Lahners' deputy.

"I have enjoyed my work as a deputy in this office and look forward to continuing to work in the Lancaster County attorney's office with Ron and the rest of the staff," he said.

Lahners said McGinn has handled practically every phase of the work in that office including a number of trials.

McGinn, who attended high school in Chicago, came to Nebraska on a football scholarship and played for the Cornhuskers in 1963 and 1964.

He is married and has three children.

Lahners said that McGinn's salary would be approximately $23,500 annually. McGinn now receives $18,300.

Extension Day Nixed

The Home Extension Achievement Day set for Thursday has been canceled. The new date has not been set, according to Lancaster County home economist Esther Wyant.

Delay Seen In Funds Shortage Case

Lancaster County Atty. Paul Douglas said Wednesday that it would probably be another week before a decision would be made on whether charges will be filed in connection with the $7,407 shortage of funds in the Lancaster County treasurer's office.

He said he had read the 2½-page report from the state auditor's office which states that the shortage was not a bookkeeping error, and met Wednesday afternoon with representatives of that office.

"We're a long ways from having anything complete," Douglas said, adding that more information in the form of auditing and investigation which may require more conferences will be necessary

He said from the information he has to date, he has difficulty pinpointing the responsibility for the loss.

Further investigation is necessary, he said, to determine if a criminal complaint will be filed and if there is sufficient evidence to get a conviction.

Lancaster County Treasurer Frank Golden, who discovered a shortage in motor vehicle department funds in September, immediately informed the county attorney and state auditor of the matter.

Douglas then requested an audit by the state auditor's office to determine if the shortage was a bookkeeping error or misappropriated funds.

Neptune's Defense Rests

The jury in the fifth Wounded Knee case in Lincoln was expected to begin deliberations Thursday after closing arguments and jury instructions from U.S. District Judge Warren K. Urbom.

The defense in the case of Stanley Mark Neptune rested late Wednesday after one day of testimony from three defense witnesses.

Neptune is charged with assaulting, resisting, opposing, impeding, intimidating and interfering with an agent from the FBI at a government roadblock in an incident in which a car allegedly driven by Neptune began passing over the toe of a cowboy boot worn by the agent.

The three defense witnesses who testified Wednesday were Neptune, his common-law wife, Kathleen Paul, and Neptune's mother, Susan Neptune.

Turner Heads College

Grinnell, Iowa (UPI) — Dr. A. Richard Turner, dean of faculty at Middlebury College in Vermont, was appointed as the new president of Grinnell College.

Wounded Knee Case Will Start

The sixth Wounded Knee case to be held in Lincoln was scheduled to begin Thursday in a federal courtroom on the second floor of the Federal Building at 10th and P.

The case will be heard before U.S. District Judge Bruce M. Van Sickle of North Dakota. The case is slated to be heard by a jury.

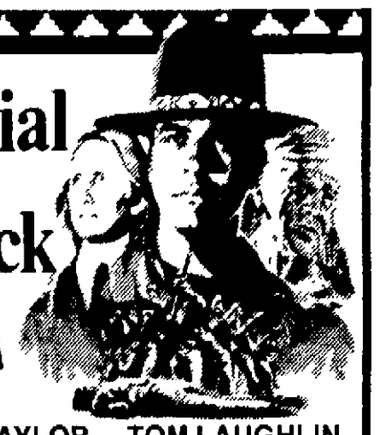

On trial will be Rachel White Dress and Helen Red Feather, who are each charged with one count of burglary of the trading post at Wounded Knee and another count of petit larceny.

Ann Durham of the Wounded Knee Defense-Offense Committee said that the women were residents of Wounded Knee at the time of the alleged offenses.

Just Being There May Result In Conviction

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

You may think you're innocent, but under the law you're guilty.

This is what members of Lincoln Attorneys Wives and the American Association of University Women found out Wednesday during a mock trial in Lancaster County Court.

Based on an actual case disposed of in the court recently, a mock trial was conducted for a young woman charged with a misdemeanor offense of being in a place where a controlled substance is being used.

The evidence was that she went to an apartment with her husband to find her sister-in-law who was on probation. While she was there police raided the apartment and she was arrested along with other occupants of the apartment.

She testified that she observed a pipe and a roach in an ashtray but was not aware that anyone was smoking marijuana during the 45 minutes she was at the apartment.

According to her testimony, she was attempting to get her sister-in-law to leave the apartment during the time she was there.

Judge Jeffre Cheuvront found her guilty because the law specifically states that it is illegal to be in a place where a controlled substance is being used.

He said had she left after noticing evidence of marijuana being used there and when she was not immediately successful in getting her sister-in-law to leave, it would be a different situation.

However, he explained, the fact that she remained for 45 minutes where controlled substances had obviously been used made her guilty of being in a place where a controlled substance is being used.

Judge Cheuvront pointed out that it is the responsibility of an individual under Nebraska law to leave a place when it is obvious there is illegal activity.

On further questioning, he explained that individuals who host a party or gathering where some of the guests may be engaging in illegal activity such as smoking marijuana also can be found guilty of maintaining a place where marijuana is being used.

It is the responsibility of the hosts to require guests engaging in such illegal activity to leave the premises; otherwise they are guilty even if they are not actually participating in the illegal activity.

UNL Grad To Discuss Terrorism

A Lincoln native and United Nations legal affairs officer, Larry Johnson, will discuss "International Terrorism" in two speeches Friday, as part of a Model United Nations this week at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln and Harvard Law School graduate will speak 10 a.m. Friday in Olin Lecture Hall, and 6:30 p.m. at an international banquet at the First United Methodist Church.

Johnson spent nine weeks this summer in Geneva, Switzerland, working for the International Law Commission.

The Model U.N. began Wednesday when students, representing various nations, caucused among themselves.

The banquet, with foods of India and France, is sponsored by the NWU International Students' Association.

"Focus" is the big entertainment section in the "Sunday Journal and Star."

Bernard J. McGinn

McGinn Appointed Deputy County Attorney

Chief Deputy Lancaster County Atty. Ron Lahners, who will assume the county attorney's duties on Jan. 6, announced Wednesday that Deputy Bernard J. McGinn will be his chief deputy.

McGinn, a 35-year-old graduate of the University of Nebraska Law College, joined the county attorney's staff as a deputy in July, 1969, and served as a law clerk in that office for about 18 months prior to that time.

Lahners, who was elected county attorney to succeed Paul Douglas, who will assume the attorney general's duties in January, said McGinn's total experience in the office and his "strength in management and detail" influenced his appointment.

McGinn said he was pleased to be asked to be Lahners' deputy.

"I have enjoyed my work as a deputy in this office and look forward to continuing to work in the Lancaster County attorney's office with Ron and the rest of the staff," he said.

Lahners said McGinn has handled practically every phase of the work in that office including a number of trials.

McGinn, who attended high school in Chicago, came to Nebraska on a football scholarship and played for the Cornhuskers in 1963 and 1964.

He is married and has three children.

Lahners said that McGinn's salary would be approximately $23,500 annually. McGinn now receives $18,300.

Extension Day Nixed

The Home Extension Achievement Day set for Thursday has been canceled. The new date has not been set, according to Lancaster County home economist Esther Wyant.

Delay Seen In Funds Shortage Case

Lancaster County Atty. Paul Douglas said Wednesday that it would probably be another week before a decision would be made on whether charges will be filed in connection with the $7,407 shortage of funds in the Lancaster County treasurer's office.

He said he had read the 2½-page report from the state auditor's office which states that the shortage was not a bookkeeping error, and met Wednesday afternoon with representatives of that office.

"We're a long ways from having anything complete," Douglas said, adding that more information in the form of auditing and investigation which may require more conferences will be necessary.

He said from the information he has to date, he has difficulty pinpointing the responsibility for the loss.

Further investigation is necessary, he said, to determine if a criminal complaint will be filed and if there is sufficient evidence to get a conviction.

Lancaster County Treasurer Frank Golden, who discovered a shortage in motor vehicle department funds in September, immediately informed the county attorney and state auditor of the matter.

Douglas then requested an audit by the state auditor's office to determine if the shortage was a bookkeeping error or misappropriated funds.

Neptune's Defense Rests

The jury in the fifth Wounded Knee case in Lincoln was expected to begin deliberations Thursday after closing arguments and jury instructions from U.S. District Judge Warren K. Urbom.

The defense in the case of Stanley Mark Neptune rested late Wednesday after one day of testimony from three defense witnesses.

Neptune is charged with assaulting, resisting, opposing, impeding, intimidating and interfering with an agent from the FBI at a government roadblock in an incident in which a car allegedly driven by Neptune began passing over the toe of a cowboy boot worn by the agent.

The three defense witnesses who testified Wednesday were Neptune, his common-law wife, Kathleen Paul, and Neptune's mother, Susan Neptune.

Turner Heads College

Grinnell, Iowa (UPI) — Dr. A. Richard Turner, dean of faculty at Middlebury College in Vermont, was appointed as the new president of Grinnell College.

Wounded Knee Case Will Start

The sixth Wounded Knee case to be held in Lincoln was scheduled to begin Thursday in a federal courtroom on the second floor of the Federal Building at 10th and P.

The case will be heard before U.S. District Judge Bruce M. Van Sickle of North Dakota. The case is slated to be heard by a jury.

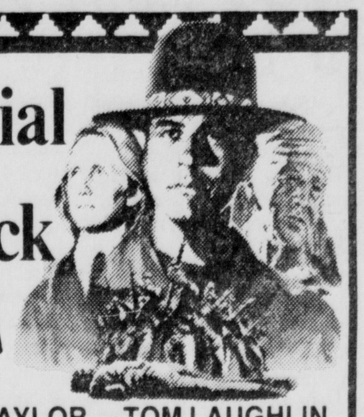

On trial will be Rachel White Dress and Helen Red Feather, who are each charged with one count of burglary of the trading post at Wounded Knee and another count of petit larceny.

Ann Durham of the Wounded Knee Defense-Offense Committee said that the women were residents of Wounded Knee at the time of the alleged offenses.

Metro Area Board's Request To Buy Campus Sites Rejected

The State Board of Technical Community Colleges has conditionally denied a request by the Metropolitan Technical Community College (Metro) Area Board, Omaha, to buy campus sites.

The unanimous board vote came after the Nebraska attorney general reviewed statutes governing the Metro Area Board and determined it had no authority to buy property by option.

The options on the two sites would have been placed until Aug. 1975, when the balance of the funds needed would have been requested from the Legislature.

Board members directed Metro Area officials to present another proposal, according to State Board Executive Director Robert C. Schleiger.

For example, he said the Omaha Industrial Foundation, which owns the land, could exercise the option; then the Metro Area could request the Legislature to purchase the land outright.

Metro proposed buying 117 acres at 150th and W. Dodge as the permanent site for the Western Douglas County Campus, at a cost of $896,665; and two South Omaha tracts for permanent campus sites totaling 80.2 acres, for $1,629,000.

Metro Area President Marm M. Harris said the college has $300,000 for planning and site acquisition, which would have been used to pay the options totaling approximately $110,000.

4 SeTech Board Hopefuls Awaiting Uncounted Votes

In the race for two seats on the Southeast Nebraska Technical Community College (SeTech) Area Board, the fate of four candidates Wednesday was apparently hanging on yet uncounted absentee and disabled ballots in Saline and York Counties.

A pattern has begun to emerge in the 1st District contest between incumbent Board Chairman Merle Ebers of Beaver Crossing and Ted Doyle of Fairbury.

In unofficial counting, Ebers Wednesday had 9,258 votes and Doyle had 9,544, or a 286-vote lead. That count includes all late ballots except 19 of 87 in Saline County and all those in York County.

Only Dent Possible?

Ebers in the general election won Saline, by 1,802 to 1,337 for Doyle. But with only 19 more late ballots possible in Saline and a total of 149 possible in York, the 168 apparently would only dent Doyle's lead.

Ebers also trailed in the general election, with 9,095 votes, while Doyle got 9,373. They are competing for a four-year term.

Also in the 1st District, for a two-year term, only three votes separated incumbent Howard Mannschreck of Fairbury and Lloyd V. Wright of Reynolds, as of Wednesday.

The two were only 18 votes apart in the general election. Mannschreck trailed with 9,220 to Wright's 9,238.

Lead Shrunk

With York and Saline Counties not reporting late ballots, Mannschreck shrunk Wright's lead, but is narrowly behind, 9,394 to 9,397.

Mannschreck cannot hope for much support from absentee and disabled ballots in York County, if the general election voters' 2-to-1 preference for Wright indicates any trend.

But in Saline County, Mannschreck led in the general election, with 1,595 compared to 1,504 for Wright.

The York County clerk said unofficial totals for late ballots might be ready on Thursday.

Colleges Board Will Act On Construction Requests

The State Board of Technical Community Colleges will take action on 1975-76 capital construction requests totaling about $18 million from the six community college areas, at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 22.

The board will meet in the Beatrice Room of the Nebraska Center, 33rd and Holdrege.

Requests from the Southeast Nebraska Technical Community College (SeTech) Area, headquartered in Lincoln, are not yet firm, pending a possible decision next week to consolidate or reorganize the SeTech Lincoln campus.

The SeTech Fairbury and Milford campuses have submitted a combined total of $750,897 in 1975-76 capital construction requests.

The Metropolitan Area, Omaha, is considering site acquisition and construction for permanent campuses, and renovation of Fort Omaha, 30th and Fort, vacated by the U.S. Navy.

The Mid Plains Area, headquartered in North Platte, is requesting funds to complete a building on a new campus site, and the other three community college areas have submitted requests mainly for large building renovation projects.

The state board will also consider a long-term disability plan for state board employes, which may serve as a model for each of the area boards to consider. A report is scheduled on the Management Information System being developed for the state's community colleges.

Ellsworth Visits Jordan Officials

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — The U.S. undersecretary of defense for international security, Robert Ellsworth, arrived in Amman Tuesday at the head of a military delegation for talks with Jordanian officials, a government announcement said.

The announcement said Ellsworth will discuss "military cooperation" between Jordan and the United States. He arrived here from Saudi Arabia.

"ALL-4" The 4 'fabulous' ingredents that everybody is talking about . . .

What is this "ALL-4" that everybody is talking about "ALL-4" is the name we've given a specially formulated tablet containing Vitamin B-6, Lecithin and Kelp in a base of Cider Vinegar. The combination of ingredients talked about for weight control in low calorie diets.

Lecithin: A substance derived from vegetable oils that is actually a food, not a drug. In a recent experiment, a doctor found that Lecithin produced a decrease of as much as 30% in cholesterol and at the same time, tended to shift weight from one area of the body to another for a more streamlined silhouette.

Vitamin B-6: The fat-metabolizing vitamin that scientists have found works with body chemicals to balance and regulate body fluids to prevent water retention and bloat.

Kelp: Nature's great food mineral harvested from the ocean and our most reliable source for essential Iodine — so important in burning up fuel to melt fat accumulations away.

Cider Vinegar: Legendary solution used down thru the ages in weight control diets, is the basis for this outstanding new formula.

Stock Mart Posts Mild Decline

New York (AP) — The bears and the bulls each had their moments, but neither could make any lasting headway in the stock market Wednesday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, in a statistical rarity, closed exactly unchanged at 659.18.

By most other measures, the market posted a mild decline. The New York Stock Exchange composite index, for example, slipped .18 to 38.82.

The over-all NYSE tally showed 872 declines and only 486 advances among the 1,794 issues traded.

The Dow set out on a downward course, slipping more than 7 points in a carryover of the selling that had pushed it down more than 13 on Tuesday.

But news reports suggesting that progress had been made toward a settlement in coal-industry contract negotiations helped the average bounce back to the plus side for a short while at mid-day.

Then, although the market got another bit of seeming encouragement when a United Mine Workers official said he was "90 per cent certain" a settlement was near, prices spent the rest of the day wandering uncertainly in a narrow range.

Kenneth W. Johnson of Piper, Jaffray & Hopwood called the market "confused", and added:

"The market has made a pretty good recovery in the past month. Now it's trying to decide whether it did the right thing."

Big Board volume increased slightly to 16.04 million shares from 15.04 million on Tuesday.

The hopes for a labor settlement helped the coal stocks, with Pittston up 1½ at 35¾; North American Coal ahead 1 at 25¼; and Occidental Petroleum, parent company of Island Creek Coal, up ¾ at 13 at the top of the NYSE most-active list.

Kennecott Copper jumped 3⅛ to 37⅛. Both the Tennessee Valley Authority and a group of private companies said they had made offers to buy Kennecott's Peabody Coal Co.

Great Western United rose 3⅝ to 30⅝. Directors, in stating their opposition to a $27.50-a-share tender offer by two members of the Hunt family of Dallas, cited some sharp recent earnings gains.

NOTICE

The City of Lincoln, Nebraska, has on November 6, 1974, under No. 31-5-057-21, submitted an application for funding under Title II of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1972 (CETA) to the U.S. Department of Labor, Manpower Administration, 911 Walnut Street, Kansas City, Missouri, 64106, as a prime sponsor, with projected expenditures of $46,334.96.

This application is for funding for a total of ten employees in public service employment, the individuals to be hired to be residents of areas of unemployment which have exceeded 6.5% for three consecutive months, the total population of these areas being 15,061 in the 1970 census, with the areas and boundaries as follows:

Cattle Trade Remains Dull

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—The cattle trade on the Omaha livestock market remained dull Wednesday as sellers felt the pressure from the dressed trade.

Buyers were not interested in the volume beyond their immediate needs, and steer prices slid 25-cents to $1.00 lower than Tuesday's trade.

Heifers were called mostly 50-cents lower, but a few toppy lots traded steady. On the other hand, some consignments were 75-cents lower in instances as trading was very uneven.

Cows were steady.

Butcher hogs were steady to 25-cents higher, but sows trended steady to 50-cents lower.

Slaughter lambs were in short supply and trended about steady.

Omaha

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) USDA — Hogs 5,000; barrows and gilts steady to 25 higher; U.S. 1-3, 200-250 lb 38.00-38.50, mainly 38.25-38.50; sows steady to 50 lower; 300600 lb 33.00-34.25.

Insurance Firm Has Income Fall

Hartford, Conn. (AP) — Connecticut General Insurance Corp. reported a 16% decline in net income for the third quarter and a 24% drop in net income for the first nine months.

The company attributed the greater part of the decline to investment losses in Columbia, Md., the new town codeveloped by the insurance company.

Net income for the quarter ending Sept. 30 was $30 million or $1.10 per share compared with $38.6 million or $1.43 per share last year.

Stock Mart Posts Mild Decline

New York (AP) — The bears and the bulls each had their moments, but neither could make any lasting headway in the stock market Wednesday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, in a statistical rarity, closed exactly unchanged at 659.18.

By most other measures, the market posted a mild decline. The New York Stock Exchange composite index, for example, slipped .18 to 38.82.

The over-all NYSE tally showed 872 declines and only 486 advances among the 1,794 issues traded.

The Dow set out on a downward course, slipping more than 7 points in a carryover of the selling that had pushed it down more than 13 on Tuesday.

But news reports suggesting that progress had been made toward a settlement in coal-industry contract negotiations helped the average bounce back to the plus side for a short while at mid-day.

Then, although the market got another bit of seeming encouragement when a United Mine Workers official said he was "90 per cent certain" a settlement was near, prices spent the rest of the day wandering uncertainly in a narrow range.

Kenneth W. Johnson of Piper, Jaffray & Hopwood called the market "confused", and added:

"The market has made a pretty good recovery in the past month. Now it's trying to decide whether it did the right thing."

Big Board volume increased slightly to 16.04 million shares from 15.04 million on Tuesday.

The hopes for a labor settlement helped the coal stocks, with Pittston up 1½ at 35¾; North American Coal ahead 1 at 25¼; and Occidental Petroleum, parent company of Island Creek Coal, up ¾ at 13 at the top of the NYSE most-active list.

Kennecott Copper jumped 3⅛ to 37⅛. Both the Tennessee Valley Authority and a group of private companies said they had made offers to buy Kennecott's Peabody Coal Co.

Great Western United rose 3⅝ to 30⅝. Directors, in stating their opposition to a $27.50-a-share tender offer by two members of the Hunt family of Dallas, cited some sharp recent earnings gains.

NOTICE

The City of Lincoln, Nebraska, has on November 6, 1974, under No. 31-5-057-21, submitted an application for funding under Title II of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1972 (CETA) to the U.S. Department of Labor, Manpower Administration, 911 Walnut Street, Kansas City, Missouri, 64106, as a prime sponsor, with projected expenditures of $46,334.96.

This application is for funding for a total of ten employees in public service employment, the individuals to be hired to be residents of areas of unemployment which have exceeded 6.5% for three consecutive months, the total population of these areas being 15,061 in the 1970 census, with the areas and boundaries as follows:

		North	South	East	West
Census Tract	8	Mo. Pac. R.R.	"O" St.	35th St.	27th St.
	18	"O" St.	Capital Pkwy.	27th St.	17th St.
	19	"K" St.	"K" St.	17th St.	9th St.
	20	"K" St.	"A" St.	17th St.	9th St.
	21	"O" St.	"A" St.	9th St.	Salt Creek

The applicant has reviewed the job applications on file at the Lincoln Job Service, and the needs of the area above identified, as well as the unmet service needs in the city.

Individuals to be hired must be residents of the areas above described, unemployed for at least 30 days before application, or underemployed, with special consideration to the following:

1. Veterans
2. Welfare recipients
3. Former manpower trainees who are unemployed and underutilized.

The main objective of this program is to provide employment for residents of the areas above described and transition as many as possible into permanent employment, and employment will be in accordance with CETA requirements including equal opportunity provisions of the city affirmative action plan.

The occupation titles are as follows:

City of Lincoln
- Account Clerk I 1
- Counselor 1
- Clerk Typist I 1
- Custodian I 1
- Clerk I 1

Lincoln Public Schools
- Teachers Aide 3
- Counselor 1
- Clerk I 1

The application may be examined at the office of Ralph D. Nelson, Room B429, County-City Building, 555 South 10th, Lincoln, Nebraska, telephone 473-6375. Comment may be made to the City of Lincoln, as the prime sponsor applicant, and to the Assistant Regional Director for Manpower, 911 Walnut Street, Kansas City, Missouri, 64106, within 30 days of this published notice.

Cattle Trade Remains Dull

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—The cattle trade on the Omaha livestock market remained dull Wednesday as sellers felt the pressure from the dressed trade.

Buyers were not interested in the volume beyond their immediate needs, and steer prices slid 25-cents to $1.00 lower than Tuesday's trade.

Heifers were called mostly 50-cents lower, but a few toppy lots traded steady. On the other hand, some consignments were 75-cents lower in instances as trading was very uneven.

Cows were steady.

Butcher hogs were steady to 25-cents higher, but sows trended steady to 50-cents lower.

Slaughter lambs were in short supply and trended about steady.

Insurance Firm Has Income Fall

Hartford, Conn. (AP) — Connecticut General Insurance Corp. reported a 16% decline in net income for the third quarter and a 24% drop in net income for the first nine months.

The company attributed the greater part of the decline to investment losses in Columbia, Md., the new town codeveloped by the insurance company.

Net income for the quarter ending Sept. 30 was $30 million or $1.10 per share compared with $38.6 million or $1.43 per share last year.

Farm Futures Trim, Erase Early Losses

Chicago (AP) — Farm commodity futures rallied in the closing minutes on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday and early losses were sharply trimmed or erased.

Before the late rally, which was accompanied by widespread short covering, soybeans had fallen the limit of 20 cents a bushel for the third straight day and soybean oil was down the limit of 100 points for the third day. Oats, wheat and corn were 6 to 12 cents lower before the buying began. The turnaround at the close produced a gain of $3 a ton in soybean meal and whittled the soybean oil loss from 100 points to 25.

Malone Center Salutes Retiree

By LINDA OLIG
Star Staff Writer

The Malone Community Center formally said farewell to an oftimes turmoil-ridden 1974 and saluted a retiring board member at its annual meeting Wednesday night.

"It has been a year of re-evaluation of the agency's goals and priorities, as well as the agency's thrust," said Asuquo P. Umoren, executive director, in the center's 43rd annual report.

As a result of the stiff challenges and productivity of the past year, "Malone has a greater potential in this community than ever before," said Gladys McField, board president.

Support Asked

Umoren challenged Malone members to lend the United Fund agency their moral and financial support, seek out more dedicated members, become involved in planning and see to it that adults participate in center activities during 1975.

Gerald Henderson, city human rights officer, who is retiring from the board after two consecutive three-year terms, received a special honors during the meeting attended by some 125 community persons.

He is a former employe of Malone and the Lincoln Action Program.

It was during Henderson's chairmanship of the building and grounds committee that Malone's facilities were renovated.

Special Award

Mrs. McField, who "worked through some hard times and trying times, especially in the past year," was presented a special award by the Rev. Clifton Bullock, second vice president.

Seven persons were elected to three-year terms on the board. They are Dr. Millicent Savery, Roger Rife, Kirk Naylor, Dorothy Porter, Dr. Leon Satterfield, Lawrence Meyers and Jim Arnot.

The slate of officers for the 1975 board was announced. Candidates include Lenora Letcher, president; Bullock, first vice president; Sanford Nelson, second vice president; Erma McMurry, secretary; and Roger T. Elliott, treasurer.

All board members and volunteers of the United Fund agency received special recognition from John Goessman, executive director, Lincoln Community Services.

Woman Injured In 3-Car Crash

A 22-year-old Lincoln woman was being held for observation at Lincoln General Hospital Wednesday after a three-car accident at 40th and Hwy. 2.

Police said Jane Holland, of 4438 Gertie, sustained a broken pelvis when the car in which she was riding was struck in the rear and pushed into the path of another car.

Holland was stopped in the eastbound lanes of Hwy. 2 waiting to make a left turn when her car was struck in the rear by a car driven by Richard DeBoer, 62, of Panama, according to police.

Damme and DeBoer received minor injuries.

Council Bluffs, Iowa (AP) — The Council Bluffs Zoning Board of Adjustment has voted 4-0 to approve a request by the Iowa Educational Broadcasting Network to erect a television transmitting tower here.

Paul Schorr III Named Member Of FEA Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Lincoln man has been named to a 24-member Federal Energy Administration advisory group.

Paul C. Schorr III, executive vice president of Commonwealth Electric Co., was named to the Construction Industry Advisory Committee.

The committee is made up of equal representation from unions and management and 12 persons representing interests outside the industry.

Its purpose is to advise the administrator of FEA in construction industry matters as they relate to the energy shortage.

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., recommended establishment of the group.

Slowdown Advocated

Albuquerque, N.M. (UPI) — The only way to slow inflation is to slow the economy, said Herbert Stein, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

It's yesterday... and tomorrow. And it's on television tonight.

The land of Israel was a witness to the past. Ruins of temples and city walls have weathered 2,000 years of history. Conquering armies have marched down the paths walked by Abraham and Isaac... the same paths where Christ touched lives with his compassionate miracles and profound teachings.

And, as incredible as it may seem, the rebirth of Israel as a nation twenty-five years ago, was predicted centuries before. In fact, several other Biblical predictions have become realities... one by one.

Our future... your future... is tied very closely to this land of Israel. Join Cliff Barrows and Cliff Richard on a colorful, vibrant tour of the land of the future.

HIS LAND—a musical journey into the soul of a nation. On your television tonight.

Malone Center Salutes Retiree

By LINDA OLIG
Star Staff Writer

The Malone Community Center formally said farewell to an oftimes turmoil-ridden 1974 and saluted a retiring board member at its annual meeting Wednesday night.

"It has been a year of re-evaluation of the agency's goals and priorities, as well as the agency's thrust," said Asuquo P. Umoren, executive director, in the center's 43rd annual report.

As a result of the stiff challenges and productivity of the past year, "Malone has a greater potential in this community than ever before," said Gladys McField, board president.

Support Asked

Umoren challenged Malone members to lend the United Fund agency their moral and financial support, seek out more dedicated members, become involved in planning and see to it that adults participate in center activities during 1975.

Gerald Henderson, city human rights officer, who is retiring from the board after two consecutive three-year terms, received a special honors during the meeting attended by some 125 community persons.

He is a former employe of Malone and the Lincoln Action Program.

It was during Henderson's chairmanship of the building and grounds committee that Malone's facilities were renovated.

Special Award

Mrs. McField, who "worked through some hard times and trying times, especially in the past year," was presented a special award by the Rev. Clifton Bullock, second vice president.

Seven persons were elected to three-year terms on the board. They are Dr. Millicent Savery, Roger Rife, Kirk Naylor, Dorothy Porter, Dr. Leon Satterfield, Lawrence Meyers and Jim Arnot.

The slate of officers for the 1975 board was announced. Candidates include Lenora Letcher, president; Bullock, first vice president; Sanford Nelson, second vice president; Erma McMurry, secretary; and Roger T. Elliott, treasurer.

All board members and volunteers of the United Fund agency received special recognition from John Goessman, executive director, Lincoln Community Services.

ACCIDENT VICTIM'S CAR ... wrecked in crash.

Woman Injured In 3-Car Crash

A 22-year-old Lincoln woman was being held for observation at Lincoln General Hospital Wednesday after a three-car accident at 40th and Hwy. 2.

Police said Jane Holland, of 4438 Gertie, sustained a broken pelvis when the car in which she was riding was struck in the rear and pushed into the path of another car.

Holland was stopped in the eastbound lanes of Hwy. 2 waiting to make a left turn when her car was struck in the rear by a car driven by Richard DeBoer, 62, of Panama, according to police.

Police said the collision pushed the Holland auto into the path of a westbound vehicle driven by Ruth E. Damme, 35, of 5311 S. 51st.

Damme and DeBoer received minor injuries.

Paul Schorr III Named Member Of FEA Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Lincoln man has been named to a 24-member Federal Energy Administration advisory group.

Paul C. Schorr III, executive vice president of Commonwealth Electric Co., was named to the Construction Industry Advisory Committee.

The committee is made up of equal representation from unions and management and 12 persons representing interests outside the industry.

Its purpose is to advise the administrator of FEA in construction industry matters as they relate to the energy shortage.

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., recommended establishment of the group.

Slowdown Advocated

Albuquerque, N.M. (UPI) — The only way to slow inflation is to slow the economy, said Herbert Stein, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

It's yesterday... and tomorrow. And it's on television tonight.

The land of Israel was a witness to the past. Ruins of temples and city walls have weathered 2,000 years of history. Conquering armies have marched down the paths walked by Abraham and Isaac... the same paths where Christ touched lives with his compassionate miracles and profound teachings.

And, as incredible as it may seem, the rebirth of Israel as a nation twenty-five years ago, was predicted centuries before. In fact, several other Biblical predictions have become realities... one by one.

Our future... your future... is tied very closely to this land of Israel. Join Cliff Barrows and Cliff Richard on a colorful, vibrant tour of the land of the future.

HIS LAND—a musical journey into the soul of a nation. On your television tonight.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 11-14

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 11-14
